Senate Will Limit Power Of President

Change To Be Made In Manner Of Expending Work-Relief Funds

REPORT CHANGE TO BE GIVEN APPROVAL

Would Reduce Unlimited Authority Sought By President In Spending

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. President Roosevelt faced a minor setback on his $4,880,000,000 Work Relief bill today as the senate prepared to sharply reduce his proposed unlimited authority to spend the huge fund.

As passed by the house, the bill would enable the president to spend the money "to protect and to promote the general welfare." This authorization was eliminated by the Senate Appropriations committee, which limited use of the fund "to provide relief and work relief."

To Get Senate Approval

The reduction in authority will be approved by the senate. It was reported to be acceptable to the president.

Two charges by Senator Long (D) of Louisiana, however, created havoc in senatorial ranks. First Long charged the administration with "calling in senators and offering them a slice of the appropriation for their states if they would vote against the McCarran Prevailing Wage Amendment." After that, he charged the president would use the $4,880,000,000 as a campaign fund to secure his re-election to the White House.

The first charge worried some senators, who voted against the McCarran amendment two weeks ago,

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:

I have been asked to answer through Pa Newc Observes how to place a bluebird box. The box should be placed from six to ten feet above ground. The opening should always face the south when possible. The box should be painted a natural brown or dark green so as to merge into the surroundings. Birds always hide their nests, not display them. Do you know that all birds feed their young insect food.

New Constitution Plan Faces Delay In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Governor George H. Earle's plan to give the state a new constitution by next January appeared destined for oblivion today as the Republican Senate constitutional changes committee drastically revised the Ruth administration bill.

The committee, headed by Senator Mason G. Owlett, Tioga, at a closed meeting voted to strike out provisions in the Ruth bill for a special election to choose delegates May 14 and for a constitutional convention meeting in June. They were replaced with provisions for a referendum in September on the question of a new constitution, to be followed by the election of delegates in November if the vote is favorable.

Agreement on further points in the machinery to draft a new basic law could not be reached at the committee meeting, however, and the session was adjourned until next Tuesday. The principal point of dispute was whether delegates should be elected by congressional or Senatorial districts. Owlett said some of the committee members voted against reporting out any revision bill.

George Fox, on trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand, in court room number one, on a charge of failing to stop and render assistance, in connection with the death of Charles Pattison, on February 12, went upon the witness stand in his own defense this morning.

Fox stated that he is employed as a milk truck driver for R. M. Wilson. He usually leaves his home with the truck at a quarter to 6 o'clock in the morning. On February 12th he had left at about that time. He had a large load of 96 empty milk cans on the truck.

When he got back home in the evening he was tired and laid down to take a nap, but could not sleep. Getting up he drove to the home of Mr. Wilson, his employer and told him what had happened. ## Self Defense Is Stinnett's Plea In Murder Case

Claims He Killed Clinton Jones At Crescentdale To Protect Himself

JONES ADVANCING AS GUN IS FIRED

William Stepps, An Eye Witness Of Shooting, Gives His Version

Defense in the case of Joe Stinnett, charged with the murder of Clinton Jones at Crescentdale, opened before Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning. The defendant claims that he fired the shot that killed Jones in self defense.

In outlining the defense his attorney stated that it would be shown that at time of the shooting, Stinnett was in great fear, believing that Jones intended to kill him. He said it would be shown that Stinnett, who has lived at Crescentdale for the past ten years, has been a law abiding citizen.

It would also be shown that there had been previous trouble between Stinnett and Jones and that Stinnett was afraid of Jones. On the day of the tragedy, it would be shown that Jones was the agressor.

Defense Witness

William Stepps, who was the first witness called by the defense, testified that he lives near the Stinnett home. On the day of the trouble his attention was attracted by loud voices, and on going out on his front porch he saw Stinnett on his front porch with a gun in his hands. There was a Mrs. Powell there and a man.

Witness did not see Jones at first but heard his voice. Pretty soon Jones came around an automobile which was standing in a drive and advanced toward Stinnett. Jones appeared to be very angry and witness heard him tell Stinnett that he did not have enough nerve to shoot. Witness also heard Jones

President Sends Strong Message

ROOSEVELT IRKED AT OPPOSITION

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. — In a strongly-worded message to congress today, President Roosevelt struck back at the big utility interests which have been flooding congress with propaganda against the administration's (Rayburn) bill to outlaw utility holding companies.

Apparently irked at the extent and weight of the utilities' drive against the administration measure, Mr. Roosevelt lashed out in vigorous language. He described the utility holding company as economically unnecessary and "a device which does not belong to our American traditions of law and business."

And, he asserted:

"The utility company with its present powers must go."

At another point, he described the utility holding company as "a corporate invention which can give a few corporate insiders unwarranted and intolerable powers over other people's money."

The same influences were directed against the securities and exchange legislation when it was pending, the president said, and the same "fears" then expressed proved as groundless as will the "fears" now being expressed where holding companies are concerned.

Pymatuning Still Rising

Water Level In Big Lake Is Steadily Reaching New Records

LINESVILLE, Pa., Mar. 12—One thousand two and two-tenths feet and still rising, was Monday's reading at the Pymatuning dam where the reservoir's level is daily breaking into new high territory.

The lake is now within 5.8 feet of the flow line, which is the goal of the $3,500,000 project. Current wet weather has been increasing the amount of water daily and a few inches rise now amounts to billions of gallons of water impounded.

Last year the rising tide continued until mid-May when a prematurely dry spell in early summer necessitated release of the water into the Shenango river outlet. With last year as an example, it is expected that the level will increase for possibility three months, making it possible for one to three more feet of water to accumulate.

Venizelos Disembarks From Cruiser At Island Of Cassos

(International News Service)

ATHENS, March 12.—Greece today recaptured her island territories from rebel hands.

Faced with almost certain defeat following collapse of the land revolt in Macedonia, ex-Premier Eleutherios Venizelos and his revolutionary lieutenants escaped from Crete aboard the cruiser Averoff, pride of the Greek navy.

Recover Vessels.

All other vessels, with the exception of one submarine, that the rebels had confiscated and used to extend their rule of ten days to the islands of Lesbos, Chios and Samos, were recovered by the government.

With the revolt claimed by the government to have been crushed on land and sea, authorities prepared today to mete out severe punishment for the vanquished.

VERDICT CRUSHES POISE OF LAUDERMILCH

Lebanon Man Found Guilty

Second Degree Murder Verdict Is Returned In Girl's Death Case

TRIAL DEMEANOR OF ACCUSED BREAKS

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., Mar. 12.—One word—"guilty"—spoken by the foreman of a jury, today had crushed the calm poise of Byron S. Laudermilch, elderly lingerie manufacturer.

He was found guilty of second degree murder in the slaying of Emma Miller, 26, a factory girl with whom he was alleged to have carried on a clandestine love affair for more than six years.

Stolid At Trial.

Throughout the trial, even with prosecutors demanding the death penalty, Laudermilch seemed disinterested in the outcome. He showed little emotion when his wife and children dramatically testified in his behalf. Defense counsel plans to appeal from the verdict which carries a sentence of 10 to 20 years imprisonment.

Emma Miller was found wounded in a ditch last December 5 after she had gone riding with the 60-year-old manufacturer. She died four days later. Laudermilch also was found wounded in a private sanatorium.

The state contended the manufacturer shot the girl and then attempted suicide because of anger and jealousy. The defense maintained the girl shot Laudermilch and then ended her life when he told her of his determination to end their friendship.

HOUSE SPEEDS GOVERNOR EARLE'S TAX MEASURES

suspension of rules at the request of Rep. Roy Furman, Greene, acting chairman. Second reading today will place them in position for final passage tomorrow.

The personal property tax bill, under which the state and the counties will share the return equally, was to be further amended with an increase to six or seven mills. The additional revenue will replace discarded features of the severance tax on oil, sand, gravel and other natural resources which the committee is reported prepared to relegate to the scrap heap.

Tax Municipal Plants

Another block of six bills, designed to raise about $35,000,000 by imposing additional taxes on insurance companies, bank stock, net incomes of corporations: Taxing electricity a half-mill per kilowatt hour and extending the gross receipts tax to municipal light and power plants were to be read for the first time today and then returned to the Ways and Means committee for further hearing tomorrow.

The bill increasing the gross receipts tax on utilities from eight mills to two per cent amended to include taxicabs and buses, also was on the calendar for first reading.

The house last night passed finally the five senate bills transferring $4,200,000 from the motor license and fire insurance tax fund to continue old age and blind pensions and pay hospital subsidies. The measures were sent to the governor for his signature.

Presents Income Tax Bill

Governor Earle sent to the legislature last night the Administration Income Tax bill designed to lighten the present school tax burden on real estate by $20,000,000 a year. He asked its speedy passage to effect a "fair shifting of some of the burden from real estate."

In addition to starting the major portion of the tax program on its way to the senate, the house acted on a long third reading calendar, passed several bills and placed others on the postponed calendar.

Hurrying through a long calendar of miscellaneous bills, mostly making appropriations to hospitals and state-aided institutions, the senate paused long enough to amend its rule 42 to require 26 votes instead of a simple majority to discharge a committee of a bill, Democrats voted solidly against the change, but the Republican majority carried the proposal.

The Zappala (house) bill exempting home manufactured wine from taxation was recommitted to committee for amendment when it was called up for final passage which, if favorable, would have sent it to the governor's desk. Only half a dozen bills were on today's calendar.

An administration bill amending the state banking code to permit state banks to include preferred stock in their capital was submitted to the senate. The measure, introduced by Senator G. Mason Owlett, Tioga, at the request of Secretary of Banking Luther A. Harr is designed to assist banks whose preferred stock is held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Venizelos Disambarks.

Athens, Mar. 12.—Former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the rebellion crushed by loyal Greek forces, disembarked from the armored cruiser Averoff today on the island of Cassos in the Dodecanese group.

Venizelos was accompanied by his wife and a number of rebel officers. All hoped to be granted asylum in the islands, which are owned by Italy.

The Averoff proceeded to the Salamis arsenal to surrender.

To Be Incarcerated.

Rome, Mar. 12.—Eleutherios Venizelos, former Greer premier who landed on the Italian island of Cassos in the Aegean sea today after collapse of the revolt he led, faces an indefinite incarceration, it was announced by the foreign office today.

The government had not been officially advised of Venizelos' arrival upon the island, but stated "if he does land" on Italian territory he "will be" interned.

The rebel chieftain is not extraditable, however, it was said.

next $5,000; 4 per cent for the next $40,000, and 6 per cent for incomes in excess of $50000.

Exemptions Provided

Exemptions provided are $1,000 for single taxpayers; $1500 for married taxpayers or those who are heads of families, and $400 for each dependent. Deductions may be made for taxes paid federal, state or local governments, exclusive of the gasoline tax, business expenses, interest, business losses and similar items. By donating 90 per cent of his entire income to charity, a taxpayer can escape the levy altogether.

The bills call for filing returns to the state department of revenue on or before March 15, beginning in 1936 and payment of the tax in full is required by that date. A fine of $1,000 or three years in jail can be imposed for failure to file or for making false returns.

State and local government officials, exempt under the federal income tax law, will be required to pay the state tax. In case of disputes hearings will be held before officers of the Department of Revenue assigned to the various counties. Appeals can be taken to local common pleas courts. As in the case of the federal income tax, employers will be required to report salaries paid their employes to the State Department of Revenue for collection purposes.

SELF DEFENSE IS STINNETT'S PLEA IN MURDER CASE

say to Stinnett if he loaded and calked the gun he would kill him. Stinnett replied that the gun was already loaded. Jones called him a liar and continued to advance toward Stinnett. Jones had one hand in his pocket.

Stepps said that Stinnett fired the gun, but not in the direction of Jones, but as Jones advanced, witness said that he saw Stinnett point the gun at him and fire. Jones he said was telling Stinnett what he was going to do to him at the time the shot was fired. According to Stepps, Jones was about thirty yards from Stinnett at the time the shot was fired. After the shooting witness said Stinnett went into the house, and he and some neighbors went to Jones' assistance.

Case Moves Rapidly

Moving along at an unusually rapid rate for a murder trial, the case against Joe Stinnett, charged with the murder of Clinton Jones on December 9, 1934, was almost half completed Monday evening at adjournment time in Court Room number two.

The jury was selected by noon, and at the opening of court in the afternoon District Attorney Mont L. Ailey presented the commonwealth's opening statement to the jury.

Albert Treser, a civil engineer was called and showed a map of the grounds where Jones was killed.

Constable Raymond Tally told of arresting Stinnett and placing him in the Wampum jail.

Dr. W. C. Burchfield told of being called to administer to Jones but found him beyond aid, with a gunshot wound in his chest and abdomen and State Policeman Knudson testified to being called to the scene of the shooting some time after it happened.

Eye Witness

Robert B. Robertson, colored, testified that he had been near the scene of the shooting and saw Jones walk towards Stinnett who had a gun in his hands. Robertson said he heard Jones threaten Stinnett and that Stinnett fired, Jones falling to the ground.

Amos Grimes, a friend of Jones testified that on December 9 he was in the home of M. J. Powell, eating a lunch Mrs. Powell had prepared. Jones walked out onto the porch and later called Stinnett out. Grimes said he walked out later and observed that the two men were angry. At the request of Mrs. Powell, Grimes took Jones away.

Mrs. Anna Powell corroborated Grimes' testimony and added that she had separated the two men as they were arguing on the porch of her home. This was sometime after four o'clock. Jones seemed the angrier of the two, Mrs. Powell said. Later she saw Stinnett standing on the porch with a gun in his hands. She saw Jones leave the home of Cal Richardson and come back towards the Stinnett home, which is the other side of a double house in which Powells live. She heard Jones cursing but didn't go out. An instant later she heard a shot. Mrs. Powell said she didn't go outside but locked the door of her home and stayed in. Upon cross examination she said she knew that Jones had been a fighter and had been in trouble before.

Other witnesses who testified were David Grooms, and Cal Richardson who were at or near the scene of the tragedy on December 9. Officer Knudson was recalled and testified to a statement taken from Stinnett at the time of his arrest.

Following the testimony District Attorney Ailey introduced a number of pieces of evidence and prepared to bring his case to a close.

when it was written into the bill by the margin of a single vote.

Seeking Proof

A prominent Republican senator said: "I am now seeking proof that Senator Long's charge is correct. If I get it, I'll blow the roof off the capitol."

The other charge, that the president would use the fund for campaign purposes, caused the Republicans to recall the huge allocation of relief funds just before last November's election and how local Republican leaders in every northern state blamed defeat on the relief funds.

FEDERAL JURY SERVICE FOR WOMEN

WHEN Federal Judge Robert S. Gibson issued the order permitting women to serve on juries in the United States district court of Western Pennsylvania he brushed aside one of the last restrictions placed upon the feminine sex.

Women may now justly maintain they enjoy all the privileges accorded the so-called sterner sex. And there is no reason why they should not serve on these juries. They are as well equipped mentally to render a just decision as are the men.

They pay taxes; they have the vote and they serve in public office. They are as much interested in seeing that the laws of the nation are obeyed, and the penalties for violation of them inflicted, as the opposite sex.

They make good jurors in the criminal and common pleas courts, and they will, likewise, in the Federal courts.

HOW MUCH IS A BILLION?

An esteemed subscriber sends us a clipping of an article by Lucia Ames Mead which appeared first in the Christian Century, giving some idea in these times of billion dollar expenditures of what a large sum of $1,000,000,000 really is. In part, Miss Mead said:

"I once asked a high school teacher how long she thought it would take to throw away $1,000,000,000 at the rate of a dollar a minute. She did not stop to think and guessed, 'Two days!' A high school student guessed, 'A week!' A business man, after doing some mental arithmetic, guessed, 'Twenty years.' The highest guess I ever had was from a professor of mathematics in a college and was 'Forty years.' The correct answer is 19 centuries."

THE UBIQUITOUS NEWSPAPER

A survey made by independent consumer interests in fifteen cities of the United States shows that newspapers are read regularly by 87 per cent of the families in these cities. In some, according to the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, the figure is well above 90 per cent. Thus they offer much greater advertising coverage than other media. It is asserted further that an "average" newspaper list reaches almost 100 per cent of the leading buying-power groups. The fifteen cities surveyed account for $2,000,000,000 annually in retail sales.

To those who have given it an adequate test the superior selling power of newspaper advertising is axiomatic. Surveys such as this serve to confirm the judgment of the advertiser and it may be assumed that they are not without interest to newspaper readers.

STRANGE ENDING FOR GANGSTERS

Since the government has instituted such relentless measures against organized crime, racketeers and gangsters have been tracked down and shot to death or sent to the electric chair with considerable success. It comes as a surprise to learn that one recently died peacefully (as far as we know) in his bed from natural causes.

Chicago's gangsters have done a great many surprising things in the last decade; but none of them ever did anything much more surprising than did Frankie Rio, former bodyguard to Al Capone, who confounded public expectations in the manner of his death. The removal from the current scene of any gangster is good news, regardless of the reason, and ordinary heart disease may be a civic instrument just as is the electric chair. But it is worth noticing that Rio was one of the very few Chicago hoodlums to depart from this life without co-operation of a machine gun or a revolver.

Things must be getting strangely peaceful in Chicago, when a Capone gangster can die in bed like any ordinary citizen.

THE KINGS DEPART

King Prajadhipok of Siam, "The Supreme Arbiter of the Ebb and Flow of Tides" and "The Possessor of the Twenty-Four Umbrellas," has announced his abdication, this interesting little monarch having failed to reconcile differences with his party concerning administration policies. He will live henceforth in a quiet retreat in Cranleigh, England. And thus another king bids farewell to a throne.

This latest development in the purple scene reserved for kings, emperors and princes gains in significance when considered in connection with recent events in Europe. Only the other day, Chancellor Hitler, who in the early days of his political career was looked upon as a precursor of a returning Kaiser, assailed the "fools who still dream of a restored regime." On the same day, Schuschnigg, Chancellor of Austria, closed the door against Otto's ascent to the throne by declaring that his country's political set-up would remain as it is.

Meanwhile, Alphonse, the last of the Bourbons, is in exile. The King of Italy is a vague figure obscured by the huge shadow of Mussolini. The trend is such as to create the possibility that our own day may witness the departure of the last king.

A phonograph blared a jazz tune as the King of Siam announced his abdication. Well, he can always say he was driven to it.

---

It must be understood, of course, that Methuselah never had to cross a street intersection in the midst of whirling motor traffic.

---

New York City, which characteristically takes a large view of things, would like the Federal government to help her out to the extent of a billion.

---

The HOLC is cracking down on deliquents, which comes as a great shock to those involved. They thought they were living under a paternalistic government.

---

The premier of France has received a vote of confidence, which would be helpful if it were not for the fact that nothing is more perishable than a vote of confidence.

---

Italy moves against the Ethiopians for no apparent reason but we will doubtless learn some day that some Ethiopian was so indiscreet as to discover oil in his own country.

---

If the La Follettes, et al, have their way, the neighbors' cordiality, or lack of it, after March 15 will depend on whether you are making more or less than they suspected.

---

From the eagerness with which our European friends go after the right to arm we gather that it is even more important than putting clothes on the back and food in the stomach.

"LET ME SHARE YOUR SORROW"

Oscar Wilde was a strange being. Some people snicker at the mention of his name, but I know a man who reads Oscar Wilde's fairy stories to children.

There was dark perversion in this man, there was lovely sanity in him, as well.

He was lightly vain; he was deeply humble.

He wrote frivolous bits of prose, gay comedies, but when he was sent to prison he wrote "The Ballad of Reading Gaol", and no other man could have written that understanding poem.

He posed and pretended, but was capable of true sincerity.

He was horrible and he was tender.

He was a genius.

He died miserably in disgrace, and the bones of his poor life have been picked over and over by all who knew him.

Many men know him now better than they know themselves, but Oscar Wilde knew himself. He knew his own fatal weakness, he knew his own enduring strength. A wise man. A pathetic man. A weak man. A strong man. A repulsive man. A rare man...Much like all other men, yet very different, too. Once he wrote these sentences:

"If a friend of mine gave a feast and did not invite me to it, I should not mind it a bit.

"But if a friend of mine had a sorrow and refused to allow me to share it, I should feel it most bitterly.

"If he thought me unworthy, unfit to weep with him, I should feel it as the most poignant humiliation, as the most terrific mode for which disgrace could be inflicted on me.

"He who can look on the loveliness of the world and share its sorrow, and realize something of the wonder of both, is in immediate contact wtih divine things, and has got as near the gods' secret as anyone can get."

And there, in those five sentences, poor Oscar Wilde crept into the heart of man and begged to be the Sharer of Sorrows.

An instant later he might have been the cynic who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing, but when he wrote those sentences he was strong and true—and he knew that the most bitter humiliation is to be denied a share in the grief of a friend.

PROSPERITY'S RETURN CAN BE HASTENED BY SPREADING WORK

How many people do you help by giving them work upon which they can depend and for which you feel a responsibility?

Many persons of good income pride themselves upon doing their own work.

The situation is altered when a person cannot live happily without performing his own tasks.

But too many who are well able to pay will not hire help.

This they consider a personal matter, and, in a way, it is.

Too frequently ignorant help does more damage than the help is wirth.

But every family with a decent income should try to spread prosperity as far as possible by having certain jobs around the home done by those who would apprecite the chance to work.

An honest worker will try to please and will endeavor to do his job as directed.

THE AFGHAN

An afghan is a thing of wool
That's made in pretty strips.
But all that makes it beautiful
Comes not from finger tips.

I watch the needle as it plies
So swiftly out and in
And something from her lovely eyes
The stitches seem to win.

And though they could not find it there
Who'd tear the thing apart,
In every stitch she makes I'll swear,
Goes something of her heart.

A pretty thing at last 'twill be
To toss upon a chair;
But I, alone, shall know and see
The beauty that is there.

Yes, I alone, have watched it grow
In lovely rosy folds,
And only I shall truly know
How much of her it holds.

Governors Eye Presidency.
Comment On Constitution.
Macauley Letter Circulated.

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—Future presidential possibilities among the governors are in side-by-side states. There is Gov. Philip La Follette, Progressive, of Wisconsin, whose reconstruction program for his state is likely to stand in high lights. Then there is Gov. Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota, whose broad liberal program of social reform appeals nationally.

Both men are young, energetic

These men are achieving in a quiet manner. They may be the generals on hand with the reserve forces when the forces of Coughlin-Long and Roosevelt-Johnson have spent themselves on the field of battle. Huey even may, in the end, turn to the support of one of them.

Philip La Follette lacks dramatics. Olson is thoroughly dramatic. Observe all the pictures of farmers marching on a somewhat recalcitrant state legislature at St. Paul—with Olson on hand, broadly smiling welcome.

WHO HANDS THIS OUT?

Workers are passing around typewritten copies of a letter denouncing the United States as a democracy. The letter was written in 1857 by Lord Macauley, English historian and statesman, to one H. S. Randall of New York.

(It must be recalled that Lord Macauley was a Whig party man, and the Whigs actually and sincerely disbelieved in democracy.)

The letter probably is such a severe attack on democratic institutions that any Fascist nation could incorporate it as a preamble to its dicta, once the constitution and all constitutional rights we e suspended.

Now where did the reproductions of this letter originate?

And who was so clever as to separate this particular writing from all the other writings of Lord Macauley?

For this letter prophesied a depression in this democracy of ours if it did not remain an industrial oligarchy.

Well, the United States did not remain a democracy, but did become an industrial oligarchy—and the depression came anyway.

Of course, there are scores of other writers of great rank, including such men as Henry George, who predicted that progress under an industrial oligarchy would bring untold poverty. (His greatest volume was entitled "Progress and Poverty.")

Those writers are not quoted by the men who are handing out to workers the reproduction of the Macauley letter.

If workers desire to forego a democracy in favor of a Fascist state they have that right. Perhaps first they would desire to obtain some information on the plight of people, especially workers, in such countries as Germany, Austria, Italy, etc. The words of Thomas Jefferson and other American forefathers of democracy then may be considered more worthy of commendation than defamation.

(This is written in response to many requests for a comment on the reproduction of the Macauley letter being handed around.)

READ THE CONSTITUTION

"It is evident," writes R. T. Withers of New Castle, Pa., "that you never read the U. S. constitution, or you would know we do not need an amendment to prohibit courts from invalidating legislative acts. We only need a president who will respect his oath to preserve, protect and defend the constitution. That constitution declares acts passed by congress and signed by the president shall be law....

"Today even a Republican could be elected president in 1936 if he would declare that if elected he would respect his oath and make others do the same. It is coming. You cannot fool all the people all the time."

(It is true, the constitution does not specifically give courts the right to nullify laws passed by congress. Courts have assumed that power.)

TUESDAY, MAR. 12

Today's Yesterdays, Mar. 12, 1712—Queene Anne advertised her intention to "touch" for the King's Evil, i. e., scrofula.

The ceremony she conducted in accordance with centuries-old belief that the royal touch had power to cure this condition of "indolent glandular tumors, frequently in the neck, suppurating slowly and healing with difficulty," is memorable because the last person "touched", the last for all time in England, was the great Samuel Johnson, then 30 months old.

Mar. 12, 1789—Government of the United States embarked on its first socialist enterprise. Congress voted establishment of a federal postal system, under supervision of the Treasury department.

In the beginning, federal postage on one sheet of notepaper for 300 to 500 miles was 20 cents. From the start it was a loser, the postoffice is the only business enterprise in the country that has been able to lose money for 146 years!

Mar. 12, 1888—The most famous "spell of weather" in American history, the Blizzard of '88, began suddenly on a warm springy Sunday. High winds whipped up 21 inches of snow into drifts from 10 to 40 feet in New York and other eastern seaboard cities. Train and telegraph services stopped; news went from Boston to New York by way of transatlantic cable. In Manhattan, sandwiches were $4 each, newspapers 25 cents a copy. Yet very few persons died of its effect.

Mar. 12, 1917—The Russian Revolution broke out. On Saturday, when traffic had become a hopeless mess and business was at a standstill, police had fired on the mobs. That had made it necessary for the troops to be called out, and on Sunday the troops had used their weapons. The troops had no stomach for the slaughter, and the Pavlovsky Regiment of Grenadier Guards went back to barracks in disorder. There men in the ranks spoke up and told officers they would not murder their brothers in the streets.

That was the turning point. On Monday, 18 years ago today, the military revolt broke loose, and the Russian Revolution was on.

The strikes, the bread riots which started it had been fomented by German agents to get Russia out of the war.

INSURANCE, NO END

The insurance house of Lloyd's, London, will gamble with any one at odds of 25 to 1 that Great Britain will not become involved in a war during 1935.

On payment of $10 the first of this year, a policy was issued guaranteeing $250 to the policy-holder in case Britain should get into a war within the year.

A policy based on the possibility of war between France and Germany in 1935 cost about $26 for each $500, which means odds of about 19 to 1.

Insurance covering the risk of war between any two European countries costs $10 to $15 per $100, and many business institutions are said to be buying war insurance of this kind.

Outcome the recent plebiscite in the Saar Basin, it is thought, will lower the rate of insurance against war between France and Germany.

Lloyds will insure against any contingency. They even insure ship owners against the loss of a ship already reported lost, for a price.

Answers Charges Made In Speech By Gen. Johnson Recently

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mar. 12.—Declaring that the defects of the New Deal are directly attributed to Bernard M. Baruch and his Wall street associates, Rev. Charles E. Coughlin lashed back at Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, whom he characterized as Baruch's puppet who "strutted upon the stage of this depression like a comic opera cream puff general," in a speech over a national radio network last night.

Father Coughlin referred sarcastically to Johnson's "underslung vocabulary" and asserted the former NRA chief "never faced an enemy nor successfully faced an issue," in a speech, the highlights of which were:

1. Denial of charges that he and Huey P. Long formed a political alliance, though Long's name was not mentioned.
2. Defended his citizenship.
3. Charged that Bernard M. Baruch was Johnson's "lord and master."
4. Declared he knew Johnson's attack on him was the beginning of a campaign to silence his voice in public affairs.
5. Answered the charge that he was a revolutionary by a declaration that "so were Washington and Jefferson in 1776."
6. Referred to Johnson as "a red herring, but a dead one, a cracked gramaphone, the New Deal's greatest casualty, a chocolate soldier and a political corpse whose ghost had returned to haunt."

Would Fingerprint All School Children

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Superintendent of State Police Lynn G. Adams today advocated a state-wide system of compulsory fingerprinting of school children, the prints to be filed with the Bureau of Vital Statistics to overcome objections to having them classified with records of criminals.

His recommendation came as the house studied the bill of Rep. John L. Powers, Allegheny, providing for fingerprinting of schcol children. Prints taken under provisions of the Powers bill would be filed with school authorities and withdrawn when pupils graduate.

Expresses Opinion

Expressing his opinion on the bill, Major Adams said:

"I have often advocated fingerprinting of school children. It should be compulsory throughout the state and all the records should be kept in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, completely divorced from criminal records or police files. Within a few years after such a system is started fingerprints of every one would be on file as a means of identification in cases of amnesia, kidnaping or to prove identity."

Seeing America First Minus $$ Easy, He Learns

(International News Service)

GREAT FALLS, Mont.,—If you wish to see America and are short of money, just strike out an keep traveling.

Chad Wallin, Great Falls, newspaperman, tried it and reported results highly satisfactory.

The transient relief camps, Wallin declared, would solve your problems.

"Yielding to an impulsse," Wallin said, "I donned heavy clothing, overalls, a jacket, carried two blankets, a pipe and a can of tobacco—and without a penny in my pockets—climbed to the roof of a boxcar just to find out what the fate of the penniless traveler is.

"It isn't the happiest nor most comfortable condition in the world, and a decent bed, warm baths, good clothing and regular food have it beaten. But it is informative, and, strangely, a lot of younger men seem to enjoy it."

After you get started, Wallin advised, keep going, east, west, south or north. A few minutes of floor-sweeping or wood-spliting is all the effort required at each camp to obtain lodging and meals.

"After you've made the loop you want, you can turn around and retrace your steps, because you will have been long enough from the other camps to rate another stay," Wallin concluded.

SANDALS BECOME FASHION FOR MEN

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Sandals for the male sex—that is the fashion decreed by the Middle Atlantic Shoe Retailers Association in convention here.

The models, however, will be "strongly masculine." They admit that the sock business ought to enjoy a prosperous year, too. No man will go bare-footed with his toe-nails decorated with the red polish that girls made popular last season at resorts.

GEN. JOHNSON MAKES REPLY

Assails Radio Speech By Father Coughlin Based On Falsehoods

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—Hugh S. Johnson offered to pledge himself today to "fostering a non-partisan, non-political, nationwide movement to exterminate the influence of this pair of political termites", The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit's radio priest, and Senator Huey Long (D) of Louisiana.

The former recovery administrator made this offer, and some of his intimates say this is his actual intention since he is due to be engaged as a radio broadcaster by a commercial concern, in a prepared statement issued here after he heard the priest's radio reply to Johnson's recent broadcast. He had described the priest and Long as preaching revolutionary policies.

"Any person who heard both of our speeches knows that he (Coughlin) made not one single major conclusion that was not based on absolute falsehood or distortion of what I said and I will make this clear. Not one single aspersion was made that did not equally rest on falsehood."

Johnson served notice on Father Coughlin that he intends to answer him on "three important particulars: first, his absolute distortion of falsification of my simple statements; second, his falsification of facts in general, and third, his falsifications of my record and other circumstances."

IRISH REVOLUTION RELICS COLLECTED

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, Mar. 6.—Irishmen in the United States are to be called on to supply materials for a section of the National Museum of Science and Art to be devoted to the Easter Rising of 1916 and the subsequent war of independence.

The ministry of education is making an appeal to the people to lend or give to the museum any souvenirs or relics of the period 1915-1922.

An official of the museum said that many of the young men who fought through all the wars later went to America, taking with them many letters, documents, and articles of clothing that would be of value to the present collection.

Indigestion may be aggravated by high heels as well as by tight shoes.

CLAIM REYNOLDS DESERTED ANNE

(International News Service)

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Mar. 12—Zachary Smith Reynolds, boy heir to a $25,000,000 tobacco fortune, whose life was snuffed out the summer of 1932 by a mysteriously fired bullet from his own pistol, was "under contract to marry Libby Holman" at the time Zachary's first wife, Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith, North Carolina heiress, was obtaining a divorce in Reno, it was charged today as the second day's battle for the vast fortune got underway.

L. T. Hartsell, Anne's attorney, made the assertion during the course of his plea as the Cannon family, raising the question of the validity of Anne's divorce and the legality of Libby's marriage to Zachary, sought to prevent Libby and her infant son, from sharing in the estate.

Only the Cannon family stands in the way of acceptance of a settlement proposed by the Reynolds family that would permit the child of Anne and Libby to share almost equally in the fortune.

Attorneys for Libby's son, the Cabarrus Bank and Trust Company, Concord co-guardian of Anne's child and the Safe-deposit and Trust Co. of Baltimore, trustees of the $100,000,000 fortune left by the late R. J. Reynolds, Sr., who carved the tobacco emprie out of the sandy soil of the Piedmont Platau today agreed to the settlement.

He charged Zachary with deserting Anne after they quarreled over "trivial matters." Anne, he said, did not want the divorce and was persuaded against her will to obtain it.

Anne and Zachary, he said, quarreled during the summer of 1931 and Zachary "deserted her and went on a tour of Europe."

"After Zachary returned attempts were made for a reconciliation, but Anne was told his decision to leave her was final," Hartsell stated. "Later Zachary persuaded her to come to his home for a few days and they were friendly, but then he began to urge her to get a divorce and she told him she did not want a divorce then.

"Later he persuaded Anne to go to Reno and took her there in his plane.

"She did not know that at that time Reynolds was under contract to marry Libby Holman and the day the divorce decree was final they secured a marriage license in Monroe, Mich., and were married several days later.

"Anne had no intention of giving up her home in Concord and went to Reno for the sole purpose of securing a divorce."

Twenty Armed Foreigners Under Arrest In Italy; Belief Mussolini Is Marked

(International News Service)

ROME, Mar. 12.—Despite repeated denials that twenty armed foreigners have been arrested in the past week on suspicion of plotting against the life of Premier Mussolini, revelation Il Duce's two-mile automobile route from home to office has been changed today gave definite indication that unusual precautions are being taken.

Government officials and police blamed "foreign troublemakers" for the persistent reports of numerous arrests, but police did acknowledge that a traveler carrying a pistol was taken into custody recently.

Whether this arrest had any political significance was problematical. General belief was it had none.

Has New Route

Plainclothesmen now frequently halt both foreigners and Italians in the streets and demand their identification papers. All questions regarding this unusual activity in well-informed quarters met with the reply:

"The police must be looking for someone."

Meanwhile, Premier Mussolini's new route from his home to his office lined each day with plainclothesmen. Pedestrians and occupants of automobiles are scrutnized with equal care.

Kansas Comes Through With Snake Story

LURAY, Kansas, Feb. 22.—The Russell County prairies have a monster to rival that of Loch Ness.

Like Scotland's misplaced sea serpent, the Kansas snake has been seen and described by honorable men and women whose testimony cannot be impeached.

James Reiss, a farmer who lives north of Luray, reported the monster more than 20 years ago. He was mowing hay when the sickle bar was lifted 18 inches by a large snake.

The horses ran away, but Reiss stayed around to get a good look at the reptile. The snake traveled across the field 'as fast as a horse could lope," was about 25 feet long and had a fan-shaped head with a growth that resembled a horn or a cock's comb.

It may be that Reiss' neighbors nudged one another when they heard his story. But about 10 years later Tom Bronson, a negro, saw the snake—it was crawling from one tree to another, much as tropical snakes crawl from branch to branch on the same tree. The trees were 18 feet apart.

Four years ago Omar Cochrun, another farmer, saw the snake in a wheat field. That year the wheat grew unusually rank, yet the snake's head was reared above the growing grain. The head was as Reiss had reported 16 years previously, Cochrun said.

One theory is that the snake escaped from some circus that toured Kansas.

Banishing Illiteracy

Miss Margaret E. Brennecke

Reading, writing and a background of practical education may be China's weapon for banishing war lords and bandit gangs, says Miss Margaret E. Brennecke, who has just returned to the United States after five years working as secretary for the Y. W. C. A. in Chefoo, China. "Great masses of the people who can neither read nor write are pushed this way and that by military leaders," says Miss Brennecke, "and forced to pay tribute because they are both helpless and know not what else to do. China is now looking at this weakness and doing something about it by establishing schools everywhere."

Shortly afterward a detective reported two men had been surprised in the house. Resisting arrest, one had been slain, the other captured.

NASSUA — Another dietary fad is goin converts among Americans at the resorts here.

It all started at fashionable Paradise Beach where one young miss who was worried about her figure took to a deit of sippin' cocoanut milk through a straw and nibbling bananas. That's all she ate, but didn't limit the amounts.

At the end of 10 days time she lost nearly eight pounds and as the word got around it put a crump in restaurant checks among the women.

The World War 20 Years Ago

By Clark Kinnaird, Author Of Today Is The Day

The Allies had been talking since Christmas of that happy hour when Kitchener's "Million" would arrive, by Easter at the latest, and the long German lines would be broken, the whole of France delivered, and the decision of the Marne enforced along the Rhine. They still did not realize the magnitude of German resources or effort; they did not appreciate how the heavy artillery, prepared to reduce fortresses and win battles, and the machine guns, which only in the German army had been provided by thousands to obtain victory in the decisive battle in the open field, had given Germany an advantage in trench warfare which would enable her to hold her lines, not for weeks or months, but for years.

Neither the Allies nor the world fully comprehended that when the German attack in Flanders ceased and the Germans began to send some of their main force eastward to aid Hindenburg in the attacks on Warsaw and prop up the crumbling Austrian armies, they left a field upon which they had missed victory by the narrowest margin. A little more pressure, and the Germans would not have missed arriving at the channel ports and crushing the whole western flank of the Allies. As Frank H. Simonds remarks:

"When the German flood at last subsided it left behind it a victorious but well-nigh-annihiliated foe in Flanders. To meet the storm the Allies had flung into the gap the most heterogeneous mass of men that Europe had known since the Mohammedan invasion. * * *

"And when at last the wave was spent, there stretched from Switzerland to the sea that long line of trenches which henceforth for more than two years would be the western front. Such an ending to a Franco-German campaign had been foreseen neither in Berlin nor in Paris. That such a condition would endure, not for months but for years, was a thing wholly hidden from German and French High Command."

The Germans believed that a few months of winter campaigning would dispose of the Russians, permit the capture of Warsaw, and that Spring would see the return to the west of the troops borrowed from Flanders. Then in one grand push, the Channel ports would be won.

The Allies were still ill-prepared to take the offensive but their commanders regarded it as imperative that they should deliver a decisive blow in the west or crack through the Dardanelles to provide Russia with aid, before Russia was beaten down by the whole weight of the German attack. Hence the offensive launched on the 11th of March, 20 years ago this week, at Neuve Chapelle, a few miles southwest of Lille, Lille, as the objective. The British, bolstered by the first Canadians to arrive in France, were the spearhead.

The attack was preceded by the first of those avalanches of artillery bombardment which were to become a regular procedure. Under this unexpected storm of fire, delivered from 300 guns concentrated in a narrow area, the German first-line trenches melted, the second line was shaken, and the British infantry made its first notable advance in the war with little opposition, finding the ground strewn with enemy dead and capturing hundreds of men overcome with the first shell-shock. There was a moment when it seemed the road to Lille was open. But beyond the first-line trenches, the British came under machine gun fire from scattered points in which the German second line had not been destroyed. Miscalculation of officers directing the curtain of artillery fire caused many to fall from their own guns.

The British army was being asked too much. It was fighting with rifle against machine guns, with shrapnel against high explosives, with jam-tin bombs against highly efficient products of prepared machinery. The British command had failed to provide reserves to follow the first waves of attack, and after the shock of surprise had passed, Germans were able to repulse all attacks with terrific slaughter. British losses surpassed that of the contingents who fought with Wellington at Waterloo. For a mile of territory and the ruins of Neuve Chapelle they had to pay with 13,000 lives. The German loss was 2,000 with 3,000 prisoners.

Coupled with this disheartening setback, was disaster at Gallipoli, which will be discussed here next week.

Crop Reduction Program Called Great Necessity

Must Restore Balance Between Production And Consumption Of Food Supply

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 12.—The administration's crop reduction program was "an absolute necessity to restore the balance between production and consumption," in the opinion of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Attacks Industry

Placing the trend toward an economy of scarcity at the door of industry, Wallace charged:

"Agriculture didn't start this economy of scarcity, which I view with abhorrence. Industry started it, when factories were literally plowed under. Agriculture would never do as industry did in 1930 and 1931. Curtailment of production will last only until the balance has been restored."

Responding to a question asked after his address last night at Temple University, Wallace denied foodstuffs are being destroyed and declared that in every agricultural staple there exists a large surplus despite efforts of the government, through the AAA, to bring about a decrease.

Pseudo-Nobility Find French Are Gullible, Also

(International News Service)

PARIS—Extradition from Italy of the self-styled Countess of San Germano, her mother and the so-called Russian Count Alexandre Alexandroff, to answer charges of blackmail and swindling case, is being sought by France.

More than 20 complaints were received against the trio in a single day by the French authorities.

The trio lived lives of luxury on the French Riveria and at Paris. They had two sources of income, police allege. First, their custom of purchasnig on credit in a big way, and secondly, J. Chanove, wealthy mining engineer, father of three children, who owns a large part of Le Tourquet, beach resort town popular with British and American high society.

It was revealed that Chanove had parted with $200,000 blackmail money to the false countess, in reality a convicted shoplifter.

The trio had their own yachts on the Riveria, and became popular with the "best people". They carefully abstained from bilking any of them, however, merely using these connections to persuade merchants and businessmen to let their bills hang over.

DIES NATURALLY AFTER 161 DUELS

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST—Geza Kanitz, Hungary's famous hero of 161 duels, lost a duel to death. He had passed at the age of 70 from natural causes.

"Gaza Bacsi," or "Uncle Geza," as he was popularly called by everybody, held up the old Hungarian tradition of equal honor for the civilians opposite the officers.

In 161 duels, 86 of which he fought with a sabre and 75 of which he fought with a pistol, he was only wounded once, seven years ago, when he was 63 years old.

'Man Who Will Not Die' In Another Narrow Escape

(International News Service)

SYDNEY, N. S. W.,—"I am well on the job and doing fine!"

The Man Who Will Not Die looked up cheerfully from the boat on which he was working.

"Look me over," he suggested. "You will find I'm in the pink!"

And so indeed he appeared to the reporter, who wanted to see whether Charles Patrick Thorne could really have come through all his shattering experiences.

Here they are in brief:

Wounded at Passchendage on the Western Front in 1917; invalided out of the army and sent back to Australia;

Almost died from pneumonic influenza;

Fell 32 feet from the top of a house;

Dangerously ill with peritonitis;

Bitten by a poisonous snake;

Fell 15 feet from a tree.

It was this last misadventure that nearly finished the Man Who Will Not Die.

He landed on his head. For hours he lay unconscious.

When he regained his senses, he found he could not move his hands, his body or his legs

Folding his arms across his chest, he managed to crawl on elbows and knees about a mile through the scrub and find help.

After weeks in plaster, Thorne was removed to a Sydney hospital. There it was discovered he had fractured his spine. The doctors told him he could choose one of three courses:

1. Stay in bed for the rest of his life—with weights suspended from his neck;

2. Walk out—and chance his spine "slipping" and instant death;

3. An operation—with equal chances of a cure or death.

Makes Incubator For Baby Himself

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH.—Four 100-watt electric light bulbs mounted under a doll crib, comprise the ingenious incubator devised by Arthur Weber for his infant son who tipped the scales at only four pounds at birth last Dec. 9.

In the cloth-covered "incubator" the lights maintained a temperature of 90 degrees until the infant, Roy Arthur Weber, had reached seven pounds. Recently, one light less has been used, reducing the temperature to 87 degrees. Weber constructed the crib home because he couldn't afford a regulation incubator.

Forty cheese and peanut-butter cracker sandwiches;
Six bags of potato chips;
A bag of salted peanuts;
A bag of pistachio nuts;
Nine raw eggs;
Eight bottles of beer;

$15 Bill Costs Them $100,000

(International News Service)

NICE—Haircuts and shaves worth $15 have cost a French family $100,000. This is how it happened:

In 1895 M. Louis Leroy owed his barber 76 francs for haircuts and shaves.

He was unable to pay, so the barber sued him.

M. Leroy was fined and, to raise the money, he was forced to sell some land he owned in Nice for 14,000 francs.

But, owing to a misunderstanding, the money was never handed over and the barber's bill remained unpaid.

Both M. Leroy and the barber have since died, but the land has become one of the most valuable plots in Nice, being today worth over $100,000.

His children recently appealed to have the sale of the land declared illegal, on the grounds that the money was never paid.

Now the Court of Appeals has directed that the 14,000 francs, the original price of sale of the land, be paid to the heirs of M. Leroy, but has diallowed them any further indemnification.

This sum today is worth less than $1,200.

Town Terrorized By Gang Of Boys

(International News Service)

WILDWOOD, N. J.,—Police and residents alike of this quiet little town breathed easier today with "Buccaneer Jim" and his pals safely behind bars.

They were captured in an old barn, from the walls of which leered, in proper piratical fashion, three human skeletons.

In a three-month reign, the band of five burned two summerhouses, two bath houses, wrecked considerable property, and looted the local high school.

Charges of arson, larceny, and unlawful entry were lodged against the five culprits.

Their ages range from 9 to 13 years.

Sons Of Legion To Have Election

Will Discuss Projects At Meeting Of Squadron On Friday Evening

Election of permanent officers and discussion of projects will feature the meeting of the Sons of the American Legion at their meeting to be held in the Legion Home, Friday evening, at 7:30.

At the meeting last Friday evening, there was an exhibition of model airplanes, held in conjunction with the talk by Pilot L. G. Theakstone. These had been constructed by the boys and won the praise of those who saw them.

Pilot Theakstone, in his talk, emphasized the necessity of this kind of work in order to become familiar with the principles of aero-dynamics. Because of this fact and the interest displayed by the boys, it has been decided to take up projects of this nature as a squadron activity, in addition to the regular work of the squadron.

The post is making arrangements to present the members of the squadron with membership buttons.

Plan Library For Hillsville

Residents To Meet Tonight To Consider Move To Secure Library

PATTERSON WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Hillsville district residents interested in establishing a new free public library in that town will assemble tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Hillsville consolidated school.

Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, treasurer of the New Castle free public library, is to deliver the principal address. Patterson will tell them of library operation. Presiding will be Lee McCombs, chairman of a temporary board which called the public meeting.

"It has been suggested that a library association," said Mr. McCombs' open letter to Hillsville citizens, "could be organized, donations of books, supplies and money solicited from those interested, and the library started in a modest way, but on a foundation that would assure its growth and development."

Auburn Models Reflect Trend

Designed In Manner Of Most Costly Cars, Offering Departure From Ordinary

Quality is the keynote of the new 1935 Auburn straight-eight and six-cylinder lines on exhibit at the automobile show.

These models, designed in the manner of America's most costly motor cars, offer a distinct departure from the commonplace. The body lines are distinctive without the loss of dignity. . . the same time they reflect the present trend toward streamlining without freakishness.

The 1935 Auburns are big, roomy automobiles, luxuriously finished, smartly designed. They should find acceptance among those people who want more than mere transportation.

In appearance these cars are long and low with fleet lines. The straight eight is powered with a 115 h. p. Lycoming engine, on a 127-inch wheelbase chassis. The engine of the six develops 85 h. p. while the wheelbase of this big, roomy car is 120 inches.

Throughout both the six and straight eight lines there is the decided stamp of the fine motor car. From the radiator emblem to the twin tail lights the new Auburns are thorobreds. Through the deft handling of the longitudinal lines the hoods of the cars appear unusually long and the distinctive radiator design and latticed louvres, augment this length.

The New Castle Auto Sales Co., 108 S. Mercer street street, are local Auburn dealers.

Two Miners Are Killed By Rocks

Fall Of Rocks In Mine Near Indiana Pa. Traps Two With Fatal Injuries

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., Mar. 12.—Trapped in two falls of rock at the Starford mine of the Nilbar Coal company near here, Frank Yaras, 20, and John Karfonto, 48, both of Starford, were dead today.

The first fall caught Yaras and held him entombed as his companion, Frank Russell, escaped unhurt. Russell summoned a rescue crew of four men, one of whom was Karfonto, who extricated Yaras. A second fall entombed Karfonto after Yaras had been pulled out of the mine.

Yaras died after being removed from the mine. Karfonto, rushed to a hospital, died several hours later.

New Hudson Line Will Be In Show

Castle Garage Showing Hudson And Terraplane Models For 1935 At Exhibit

The new Hudsons and Terraplanes for 1935 will be exhibited by the Castle garage, 40 S. Mercer street, at the New Castle auto show Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week. Featured by lower, longer lines with more power, even finer performance and two of the latest developments of the industry, the new cars are expected to create a tremendous amount of interest. The two developments which are entirely new to the industry are the steel-roofed body which incloses the passengers in a silent, solid steel compartment with perfect ventilation and the new electric gearshift which entirely clears the front compartment and gives real finger-tip control of the car.

From a performance standpoint the Hudson and Terraplane models all offer improvements for 1935 over 1934. Detailed advancement in engineering and construction in the engine has resulted in increased power without any change in the basic dimensions. As a result of these improvements the power-weight ratio of the new cars is considerably more advantageous than for 1934 with a resulting increase in acceleration, hill climbing ability and top speed.

From an appearance standpoint the cars are lower and longer. The radiator grills have been improved with a higher and narrower effect. On both the Terraplane and Hudson, streamline trunk models are available for any sedan or coach.

OUT OF PONTIAC'S GREAT MODERN PLANT comes A New Low Priced Six

COMPANION CAR TO A FINER, MORE LUXURIOUS, LOW-PRICED EIGHT

Scarcely had Pontiac dealers opened their showrooms on announcement morning when the news traveled over America—"Pontiac has done what builders of low-priced cars have tried to do for years. Pontiac has brought fine car quality and performance into the low-price field, and combined them with economy and dependability few cars at any price can approach." But no rumor, however flattering, can do justice to the new low-priced six from Pontiac. The public promptly christened it the most beautiful thing on wheels. The new bodies represent the greatest safety advance in a decade—solid steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher. Nor is that all. The Pontiac Six gives you the super-safety of big, triple-sealed hydraulic brakes—the extra long life of silver-alloy engine bearings—smoother, livelier six-cylinder performance, and numerous other advancements which make the price of the car phenomenal.

How can Pontiac give so generously of everything motorists want and need? The answer lies in its great plant. Only a plant so modern could build a low-priced car so fine.

Highlights of Pontiac Quality for 1935

1. Solid Steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher.
2. Triple-Sealed Hydraulic Brakes.

Chinese Women Strike Against Marriage Code

Object To Single Code Of Morals As Implied By The Statute

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Mar. 12—Shanghai is the scene of one of the most unusual strikes in the world—organized by beautiful Chinese girls as a protest against the exemption of married men from the penalties in the new Criminal Code against unfaithful spouses.

The code provides for imprisonment up to one year for married women found guilty of misconduct. No punishment is prescribed for male offenders.

A group of girls of good families of eligible age are "on strike" against entering into matrimony with the young men of Shanghai until the code is revised.

At present the strike is a local one, but unless the Government listens to their arguments, the fair strikers threaten to start a "national strike of women" against the disputed clause.

The Government's difficulty is that if men were not punished for misconduct, thousands of existing Chinese husbands would be technically liable to imprisonment because of the practice of taking concubines.

The agitation carried on by women throughout the country against the "misconduct" clause has already induced the Government to reconsider the matter, but they have not yet decided whether to make men liable to the same penalty as their wives or to cancel the clause altogether.

Briton Buries His Two U. S. Wives In Same Grave

(International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 12 —Two American women from the same New York universtiy town, wives of the same man, today occupy the same grave in England.

Twice Sir Charles Marston, noted Biblical archaeologist, went to the United States for his bride.

The first time, in 1895, he married Miss Louise Isabel Johnson, only daughter of William Gordon Johnson, of Ithaca, N. Y. She became the mother of two daughters, one of whom survives. She died in 1921.

In 1922 Sir Charles sought his second American bride—also at Ithaca. She was Miss Ruth Miller, daughter of W. H. Miller, of that city.

These Little Pigs Wouldn't Stay Home, Farmer Puzzled

(International News Service)

MANSON, Ia., Mar. 12 —George Christensen, Manson farmer, found himself in a predicament because of the AAA, Iowa law, and 21 pigs who wouldn't stay at home.

The 21 pigs cost him nothing, but he cannot sell them, give them away, or otherwise use them.

His trouble started when the porkers wandered onto his farm and made themselves at home in his pasture. Christensen advertised for the owner, but got no answer.

Iowa law permits stray animals to be sold or used, but not until they are six months old, and besides the 21 pigs would put Christensen way over his limit in the corn-hog reduction program.

He has tried driving the pigs away but nearby farmers won't have them.

Meanwhile, they've run up a big feed bill.

Rotary Supports Tin Mill Efforts

CASILLO HEARD AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON

New Castle's Rotary club, in a letter dispatched late Monday to officials of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company at Pittsburgh, asked that company to do everything within its power to again open the New Castle works of the company.

"The Rotary club of New Castle," the letter said in part, "wishes to assure you that it will cooperate with you to the fullest extent in doing anything that is necessary to be done to enable your company to grant the prayer of the workers in your New Castle works that work may be resumed in that plant."

The complete letter was read to the club at its weekly luncheon yesterday at The Castleton by Louis B. Round, member of Rotary's civic affairs committee. It received unanimous endorsement.

Casillo Day's Speaker.

Speaking before the club was Nicholas R. Casillo, senior high school science instructor. His interesting subject was "My Alaskan Experiences".

On Monday, March 25, the Rotarians will play host to a large group of rural residents at a Rural-Urban Day program at which M. S. The dinner-meeting will be the return treat of the Rotarians for a recent dinner the rural men staged for Rotary at Westfield grange. Thomas A. Gilkey of the club's rural-urban committee is in charge of arrangements.

At Miami, Fla., today, Fred J. Rentz, member of the club here, was to receive the Rotarians' heartiest birthday congratulations because the club passed such a motion yesterday.

Glenn Throop RWD engineer, is filling the place of Harry Hoskins, city engineer, who has been ill for a week. # Lower Prices On Studebaker Cars

Reductions Run As High As $48 On Some Models Is Announcement

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Mar. 12—Free from legal entanglements and fit for action, the new Studebaker Corporation, once more "The Great Independent" today unexpectedly hurled a challenge to the automobile industry by sharply reducing delivered prices of the 1935 miracle ride Studebaker cars. Reductions run as high as $48 on some models.

The price announcement was made by Paul G. Hoffman, president. In his statement to local newspaper men, Mr. Hoffman explained how the reductions which are being passed on to the public have been made possible.

"Studebaker is down to fighting trim" said Mr. Hoffman. "Wev'e shaken off many burdensome expenses. We have millions of dollars in new capital. We have no bank loans. We have no preferred stock. Our plants have been written down from $49,000,000 to $15,000,000. All of these things have reduced our manufacturing costs—and we're passing the reductions on to the public right away.

"The price reductions are made without reducing the quality of our cars in any way. They are the same well designed, well made 1935 Studebakers as the day before yesterday and yesterday. The savings have all come about as a result of our company coming out of receivership and getting on our own feet again. We feel that our new low prices, our remarkable automobiles, and the high spirit of our entire organization is going to make us a figure of increasing importance in the automotive picture."

FHA Lists From County Are Ready

Prospects For Home Remodelization In Rural District Are Now Ready

Work of compiling a list of prospects for home modernization and repair work in the rural districts of the county, has been completed at the local FHA office, and will be available to subscribers who have assisted in financing the better housing campaign of the FHA in the county.

The work of conducting the survey in the county has been greater than in the city as it has been necessary to furnish transportation for those employed on the survey.

AMERICA NEEDED THIS HIGH-SPEED SAFETY CAR

Auto Show Crowds To See the New 1935 Plymouth

"Look at All Three" at the Auto Show. Compare the new Plymouth—feature by feature.

This New Car Offers You:

New high-efficiency Engine... more power on 12% to 20% less gasoline and oil.

New Torpedo-type Body of Safety-Steel... the safest body construction known.

Improved Hydraulic Brakes stop quicker. Centrifuse Drums add life to brake linings.

New Syncro-Silent Transmission. New Clutch requires 30% less pedal pressure.

New Mola Steel Front Springs and New Weight Distribution give "Floating Ride."

Sidesway Eliminator gives safety on curves.

It's a completely New Car, Designed from the Ground up, to meet Today's Traffic Needs.

THE IMPORTANT THING to see at the Auto Show this year is Plymouth's new High-Speed Safety Car. It's an entirely new kind of automobile.

It's a beautiful car... smartly streamlined... and roomier than ever.

But the really vital news about this car lies in the great engineering story behind it... probably the greatest step forward in low-priced car design in the past 15 years.

driving faster than you did a few years ago. Everybody is.

With this greater speed has come an urgent demand for GREATER SAFETY. That's the engineering reason behind the new 1935 Plymouth.

First, Plymouth engineers improved the engine. Gave it more power, not alone for greater speed, but for lightning get-away and quick mobility.

Next, they did everything to make driving easier on the driver.

With new Syncro-Silent Transmission, all gears shift noiselessly. And the famous Plymouth Hydraulic Brakes have been made longer-lived... with more square inches of braking surface.

"Floating Ride"; What it Does

This year, you will hear a lot about Plymouth's "Floating Ride." This is something that you've got to experience for yourself.

Suffice it to say that through new, scientific weight distribution, the development of Mola Steel front springs and a new sway eliminator... you simply glide over the bumps. It does to riding what Floating Power did to engine vibration.

As we told you before, the new Plymouth is a beautiful automobile.

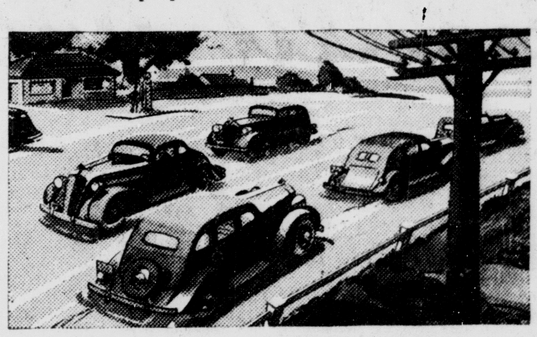
But the smart exterior is only a hint of the surprise you'll have when you look inside.

You'll be delighted with the extra room. You'll marvel at the comfort five full-sized people can now enjoy.

And you'll feel safe and secure in the knowledge that you're riding in a body of STEEL... reinforced with steel. A stronger Plymouth body than ever.

Plymouth has always urged the public to "Look at All Three." And if ever there were a time to compare the leading low-priced cars, this is it.

See the new Plymouth at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler showroom. Don't miss an opportunity to keep up with the latest automobile developments.



According to insurance company statistics, the average speed of automobiles on the road today is 20 miles an hour faster than it was in 1925.

County commissioners have let a contract to the William M. Clark Company for new boilers for the county home to cost $1,734. The only other bid was that of Frank Andrews and Son, which was $1,875. The present boilers have been in use since the building was erected. In connection with the installation of new boilers, some of the plumbing will have to be renewed. Minerals in the water at the home are hard on boilers and plumbing.

Petitions are being circulated to have the state take over a small section of road, leading west from the Perry highway north of Harlansburg, and connecting with the East Brook and Harlansburg road, near the residence of Thomas Cooper. The section is about three-fourths of a mile long. There is also being circulated a petition for the improvement of a road along Hettenbaugh run, near East Brook to a point near the Thomas Cooper residence. The petitioners want a Pinchot road built.

County Commissioners were at Covert's station today, looking over repairs which Bert Dinsmore is making to the Covert's station bridge. Planks on the bridge have become decayed and are being replaced. The Covert's station bridge was built before the days of heavy trucks, and the loads which are being hauled over it now is a severe strain.

Only three Home Owners Loan corporation mortgages were placed on record at the register and recorder's office last week. They totaled $7,322. The cases which were under consideration when the order came that no more new funds were to be loaned have now been pretty well cleaned up. Indications are that another appropriation will be made by congress soon when the work will again be taken up. Both the county and the city treasurers report a big falling off in delinquent tax collections since the activities of the Home Owners Loan have been curtailed. In all there were sixty-three instruments recorded at the register and recorder's office last week of which 19 were deeds.

Is public sentiment on the question of capital punishment changing, or was it merely a co-incidence, that twenty-one jurors out of forty called to serve on a murder case on trial at court, expressed themselves as opposed to capital punishment? There was probably never a panel of jurors called in the Lawrence county court, on which there were so many jurors opposed to capital punishment. Fifteen or twenty years ago, when murder cases were called, it was rarely that a juror could be found, who was opposed to capital punishment. The present panel with half the jurors opposed to it, was in vivid contrast. It must be admitted that every person has a right to his or her own views on this subject, but when many people say that despite the law and the evidence, they could not bring a verdict of guilty, knowing that the penalty would be death, it seems to indicate a decided change in public sentiment. Whether this change is for the public good is another matter. Formerly when a prisoner was found guilty of murder in the first degree, it meant death. Now the jury has the right to say whether the penalty shall be death or imprisonment for life. This is another indication of changing sentiment.

Commission as Notary Public, for John M. Bevan has been entered at the register and recorder's office, together with bond.

Frank Spiese, of 1202 West Washington street, has received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Spiese Johnson, of Auburn, New York.

Mrs. Johnson, who was 80 years old, was born and raised in New Castle. Her brother, who is 83, is the last member of the family.

SURGERY CURES 5 YEAR HICCOUGH

(International News Service)

NORTH SYDNEY, Nova Scotia—A 45-year-old woman, Mrs. Angus Dingwall of Port Aux Basques (Newfoundland), who hiccoughed daily for five years, has been cured by a remarkable nerve operation.

She was so weak when frail from constant hiccoughing when she arrived here for treatment that she had to be carried from the steamer on a stretcher.

Two local surgeons, Dr. L. R. Meoch and Dr. A. K. Roy, performed a blood-letting operation involving surgical treatment of the phrenic nerve on the neck.

Now Mrs. Dingwall is free from hiccoughs for the first time since 1930 and is gaining weight rapidly.

Once More East To West.
A Brave Business Man.
The Last Of Baby Doe Tabor.
Rocky Mountain Sky.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Mar. 12.—FINE WEATHER, beautiful climate, going through high Colorado toward the Pacific Coast, up to the mouth of the tunnel at Raton, N. M., more than seven thousand feet above sea level, and on into this high country, men are cheerful, in spite of depression. For instance, at Trinidad, a mile to the east, this conversation took place between two "business men," one the writer, the other a small boy offering lead pencils for sale:

"How old are you?"
"Eight."
"What is your name?"
"Paul."
"What is your last name?"
"Reid."
"How many pencils do you sell in a day?"
"None."

He sold one then, and his expression changed to a smile.

Denver, perched one mile high off to the north, sends the end of a romantic story of old days when men got rich in a hurry, and poor as quickly.

Far back in the early days when silver and gold were plentiful and money "easy," everybody knew H. A. W. Tabor, the silver king United States senator, friend of grand opera, poor at the end of his life, and everybody knew of his wife, whose interesting name was Baby Doe Tabor.

She saw her husband grow rich, quarrelled with him when they were rich, saw him grow poor, wept on his bier, never forgot his last words. "Don't let go of the Matchless mine."

For thirty-six years, since the "silver king's" death in 1899, Baby Doe Tabor watched near the mouth of the Matchless mine, growing poorer all the while, helped by heirs of other miners made rich by her husband, and fortunate enough to keep their money.

NOW BABY DOE has been found dead, her body frozen stiff, all alone on the floor of her little shack at the mine mouth.

Old, worn, perhaps hungry, she was a different "Baby Doe" from the one covered with furs and laces, who shone brilliantly in the reflected glory of her "silver king," sitting in the gorgeous box, always reserved for her in the Tabor Opera House.

The Denver Post says truly:

"The determination and courage of her later tragic years were a match for the beauty and sparkle of her carefree early womanhood."

THANKS to the Rev. Father Horgan, Catholic priest of Leadville, Mrs. Talbot's body will be moved to Denver, and there, friends co-operating, she will be buried beside the body of her husband.

His dust will be moved "from the old weed-grown Calvary cemetery, and put in a grave next that of his wife."

Father Horgan testfies that the "silver king's widow "was always devout and kept a rosary in her cabin."

The church that she attended, at Leadville, has the highest steeple in the world, its point two miles above sea-level.

PERHAPS SHE and her husband are side by side now in the spirit, far from the "Matchless mine."

Also, in the days of ardent prospecting, old miners may ask themselves:

"WHY did Tabor tell his wife never to give up the Matchless mine from which he took carloads of almost pure silver?"

Others may uncover and enjoy the wealth over which "Baby Doe" watched for so many years, gradually growing old. If he were alive Bret Harte could write a good poem about all that.

FARMERS back East will want to know that a trap has been invented that catches two or three hundred crows a day easily. It is a wire enclosure, left in an open field with bait that appeals to crows.

The crowds walk in, but cannot walk out. Such a trap extensively used, might exterminate the entire race of crows, and farmers might discover too late, that they were worth more to him than the corn they ate.

Crows eat field mice, grasshoppers and other farm nuisances. A western state once put a high bounty on coyotes because they killed lambs. After they had killed all the coyotes, field mice on which the coyotes lived principally, ate all the alfalfa. There was nothing for the lambs to eat.

Experimenting with "nature's balance" is dangerous.

OFFICIALS announce that in Colorado's national parks last year, "an extermination campaign" destroyed thirteen thousand one hundred porcupines, killed because they injured trees. In eastern forests, after porcupines had been killed extensively, many deer were found on the snow dead of starvation.

The porcupine climbs a tree, bites off the ends of small limbs with the succulent buds attached, and deer beneath the tree, eat the limbs and buds before the porcupine can climb down and eat them himself.

Thirteen thousand one hundred porcupines killed in Colorado's forests, many mean many hungry deer.

CHIEF ACOOSE, dead near Grenfell, Saskatchewan, deserves your admiration. The old chief, nearly 100 years old, is the Indian that once chased an elk, on foot, for seventy miles, killed the elk when it could run no longer.

Man, "fearfully and wonderfully made," can outrun any animal, in time.

WHEN ARBUCKLE, the coffee man, sent a wild horse to Rosa Bonheur, he hired men to follow the horse on foot, never letting it stop to rest, finally capturing it.

No horse living could run as far in six days as a man on Long Island can run. A famous Irish runner, afterward elected mayor, ran more than 600 miles in six days, in old Madison Square Garden.

DON'T FAIL to cross this continent and see your own country. The trip is easy, short, comfortable.

New Chevrolets Will Be Displayed

Master De Luxe Models Emphasize Beauty And Style, And Feature Economy

Chevrolet, Master De Luxe models, strongly emphasizing beauty and style, and new standard models, featuring high-powered performance with economy ,will be displayed at the New Castle Auto Show by the Shenango Motor Co., local Chevrolet dealers.

Master De Luxe body models include sedan, coach, business coupe, with luggage compartment, sport coupe, with rumble seat, sport sedan and town sedan. In addition to the coach, business coupe, phaeton and sport roadster, which comprised the Standard line last year, the 1935 new standard line includes a full-sized four-door sedan and a sedan delivery car for light commercial uses.

The 1935 New Standard has been given virtually the same performance ability as the Master De Luxe which, however, departs distinctly from previous Chevrolets in striking advances in design of body and trim. The engines incorporating many improvements over the 1934 Master motor, are of the same size and design in both models, while in the chassis the chief difference is the presence in the Master De Luxe of Chevrolet enclosed knee-action suspension, now entering its second year improved in construction and operation.

Mechanically, the two models have in common numerous important improvements in construction and design. Both engines have an original system of high pressure jets supplying oil to connecting rod bearings, and electro-plated pistons, heavier crankshafts, and other new features that contribute to better performance, smoothness, and economy. In both chassis, newly designed clutches, more effective braking systems, stiffer frames and other advances in design give greater ease of operation, increased durability, and a better ride.

Two Dealers Are Showing Plymouth

Six Body Types Embraced In New Streamlined Plymouths This Year

The J. R. Rick Motor Car Co., and The Chambers Motor Co., local Plymouth distributors, will exhibit 1935 Plymouth models at New Castle's Auto Show Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in the Cathedral.

Introduced in six beautiful body types the new Plymouths, streamlined in design, have added engineering developments which today more than ever before gives emphasis to its claim of being "America's best engineered low price car."

To quickly catalog the outstanding features of the new car, the 1935 Plymouth has an 82 hoursepower engine with a compression ratio of 6.7 to 1; a torpedo-type all-steel safety body; syncro-silent transmission; a new "ride" achieved by a redistribution of weight, plus a new front spring assembly, "Floating Power" engine mountings and hydraulic brakes.

Mr. Chrysler, in announcing the new Plymouth some weeks ago, said that it was created to satisfy a critical need in America at the present time for safer transportation.

"Every indication points to more automobiles on the streets and highways in 1935, than at any time since 1929," he said. "And, the automobiles of today are much faster than those of six years ago. They also must be safer."

The Plymouth is presented in six body types, all having a wheelbase of 113 inches.

To Seek Action On State Flood Control Plans

Thirteen Dams Are Proposed In Western Pennsylvania Project

ONE OF DAMS ON SHENANGO

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Congressional action will be sought this week by advocates of the projected $70,000,000 13-dam flood control program in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky, Senator William B. Rodgers, president of the tri-state authority said today.

Rodgers said bills would be introduced at Washington designed to insure inclusion of the program in the $4,880,000,000 federal works relief fund now before the Senate. The bills would make construction of the dams preferred projects.

Construction of the 13 dams, Rodgers said, would provide jobs for 57,000 men for a year in addition to indirect employment for thousands employed in concerns where materials are made. Nine of the dams would be in Western Pennsylvania, three in West Virginia and one in Kentucky. Application for funds with which to construct the Pennsylvania dams already has been made with the state planning board which has tentatively approved the project and forwarded it to Washington.

One of the West Virginia dams is under construction, that in the Tygard valley. This dam is in addition to the proposed project but if all were completed it would fit into the scheme of flood control. Senator Rodgers seeks to have the $17,725,000 dam above Warren, on the Allegheny river, started next. The other Pennsylvania dams proposed are:

Conemaugh river, above Saltsburg, $14,097,000; Crooked creek, below Tunnellsville, $2,298,000; Loyalhanna creek, above Saltsburg, $2,640,000; Mahoning creek, below Hamilton, $3,322,000; Redbank creek, above Mayport, $5,969,000; Shenango river, above Sharpsville, $2,033,000; Tionesta creek, at mouth, $3,488,000, and French creek, $3,867,000.

Six New Models In Chrysler Line

Airflow And Airstream Lines Are Featured In Models Designed This Year

Six models comprise the Chrysler line for 1935, many of which will be on display at the automobile show this week. Four of the 1935 models are an improved and refined version of the Airflow, which made its appearance in January 1934 and attained such popularity that in spite of the fact that full production was not accomplished until April, some 24,000 were placed in the hands of owners.

The other two cars, designated as the Airstream line, are a Six and an Eight which replace the conventional cars formerly built by Chrysler. As these cars are in a lower priced field than the Airflow, they do not embody all of the features of that line, some of which involve construction to expensive to be included. They do however bear a close family resemblance to the Airflow and they have been given the advantage of many of the things that Chrysler has learned in a year's experience with the revolutionary design that came out a year ago.

There has been a change in the appearance of the Airflow brought about by a new and pleasing treatment of the front end, affecting hood, radiator, headlights and louvers. Instead of the hood's having uniform width from cowl to front as in the 1934 cars, a new curved center-section terminating in a pointed radiator has been adopted. This gives the car an appearance of greater length.

The Chambers Motor Co., 825 Croton avenue, is the local "Chrysler" dealer.

Brandon Smith Says Divorce In Reno Was Valid

Second Husband Of Anne Cannon Reynolds Turns On Former Wife In Estate Fight

(International News Service)

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Mar. 12.—Brandon Smith, divorced second husband of Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith, towel heiress, today turned on his former wife and asserted the Reno divorce she obtained in 1931 from Zachary Smith Reynolds was valid.

Anne contends she was forced to divorce Reynolds, mysteriously slain young heir to tobacco millions, so he could marry Libby Holman. She is seeking the entire $25,000,000 estate to which young Reynolds would have fallen heir when he reached 28 as his part of the $100,000,000 fortune left by the late picturesque R. J. Reynolds, Sr., tobacco king.

New Buick Styles Appeal To Women

Attractive Exteriors And Roomy Interiors Add To Buick's Popularity

The brilliant styling of Buick cars for 1935, their pleasing appointments and luxurious comfort and their utter ease and simplicity of driving control, present a balanced ensemble that offers compelling appeal to women motorists.

The good taste in car design which Buick initiated in 1934 was no mere happy accident. It was based upon a solid foundation of careful, painstaking research into the trend of public preference. Thousands upon thousands of questionnaires revealed the course of that trend.

Buick's rising popularity and increasing sales during the year confirmed the accuracy of that preliminary research, as did a later survey conducted by the General Motors Customer Research staff in which Buick was voted "best looking car in its price class."

Many of the women questioned in this survey pointed out that the enduring appeal of the Buick design was well in accord with the car's reputation for dependability and long service.

Design experts also point out that Buick styling "fits Buick like a glove" encompassing the design elements of dignity as well as beauty and an endurance of style that will make the Buick of today a distinctive car four years from now.

In keeping with the attractive exteriors are roomy interiors luxuriously appointed and equipped with every convenience.

Balanced Economic System Forecast

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—A balanced economic system was forecast today by Senator Wagner (D) of New York, if his labor relations bill is enacted.

Appearing before the Senate labor committee, Senator Wagner explained the bill contains provisions for the clarification of section 7-A of the NRA and creation of a permanent national labor relations board.

Stabilize Business

"This bill," he said, "would stabilize and improve business by laying the foundations for the amity and fair dealings upon which permanent progress must rest."

Senator Wagner warned that if section 7-A is allowed to languish "we shall be confronted by intermittent periods of peace at the price of economic liberty, dangerous industrial warfare and dire depression."

Wagner recommended that section 7-A be applied to all industries affecting commerce, "rather than merely codified industries."

Reply Of Council To Library Board On Building Plan

Council's reply to the library board's proposal that the city purchase from the U. S. government the North Mercer street building formerly used as a postoffice and give it over for library purposes in exchange for the building the library now occupies in North Jefferson street has been delivered by Solicitor White to the board. The council has informed the directors they will not issue bonds for its purchase but points out ways the library board may be able to secure the building.

The letter is as follows:

Letter To Boa: '.

Board of Directors
Free Public Library
New Castle, Pa.
Gentlemen:—

The members of council of the city of New Castle have co:'idered fully your proposal that the city of New Castle purchase from the United States government the old postoffice building and turn it over to you for library purposes, taking back from you a relinquishment of the use of the building you now occupy, so that your present building might be used by the city to erect a new city building or for whatever other city purpose it might be suited.

To carry out the plan: you suggest would require that the city issue bonds to pay for the old postoffice building and the members of the council all believe that it is not for the best interests of the people of the city of New Castle at this time to issue any bonds for any purpose that is not absolutely necessary. It is the policy of the present council to get the city out of debt as soon as that can reasonably be done.

The members of council do recognize, however, that there is a pronounced public demand for better library facilities and every member of the council desires to do whatever can be done by him consistent with his official responsibility to aid in procuring the old postoffice for the use of your board.

Of course, there would probably be little difficulty in procuring the old postoffice building if money can be provided for its purchase and the members of council pledge themselves that if you will provide the money to pay for the building that the council will pass all necessary legislation to permit you to proceed to acquire the building, provided the credit of the city is in no way impaired.

The members of council do not make this offer of their official support simply for the purpose of ending the project or, as it might possibly and inelegantly be stated, "passing the buck" to your board. They have discussed every phase of the question and considered every possible means by which you might be enabled to raise the money you need and for your assistance they suggest to you some possible means that might be adopted and which have occurred to them as follows:

Suggest Plans.

First: The present library site cost $45,000 or $50,000 and was purchased entirely by the library board from the annual tax levies which were fixed by a vote of the people. The council believes that the library board can either sell that property for what it is worth in the market or mortgage it for a reasonable proportion of that market price and devote the proceeds of such sale or mortgage to a purchase of the postoffice building.

Second: There are accumulated back taxes assessed and levied for library purposes of a' :t $21,000. A large amount of this money will eventually be collected. It would be possible, if your board would by proper resolution devote those taxes to the purchase of a new building, for the city to provide for the issuance of certificates which would be a charge against those uncollected back taxes. If, therefore, you could get the local banks or some other financial institution to agree to take a reasonable amount of these certificates, that money could be made available for the purchase of the building.

Third: If the government would agree to sell you the building for a certain price, payable in yearly installments out of your tax income, the city would pass the necessary legislation to accomplish that purpose. It would be necessary, however, that such legislation provide absolutely that there would be no general obligation to the city for the payment of those installments but that the government should look only to the property for the payment of the money. This is because the Constitution does not permit the city to incur indebtedness in excess of its current revenues and the same thing would be true if the property were mortgaged to private individuals.

Fourth: If you can get some financial institution to agree to purchase the postoffice property for you and deed it to you, subject to a purchase price mortgage, payable in installments, the council will be glad to provide legislative authority for such action.

Other methods have been discussed but the ones I have cited appear to be the most feasible.

No City Building Project.

The members of council have requested me to communicate to you their decision in this matter as I have already stated it. They asked me to say to you further that they are unanimously of the opinion that although the present city building facilities are inadequate, they do not believe the city of New Castle can afford to buy or building a new city building at this time and it is their decided policy not to consider any such project. Some condition may arise that will change this judgment as, for instance, if some one would offer to purchase at a good price or to lease for a long term the present city building, but no such prospect is before us.

The members of council did, several years ago, pass a resolution by which they offered to purchase the old postoffice building for $50,000, payable in ten years, to be used as a city building, but conditions have changed since that time. We all believe that our first duty to the citizens is to reduce their debt and to avoid all expense that can possibly be avoided and for that reason we will not consider the purchase or building of a new city building and it would be folly for us to accept back from your board the use of your present library site, when we are of the opinion that the city cannot make any economical use of it.

We assure you that we will cooperate with you in every reasonable way to improve the services that you are so faithfully and efficiently rendering to the people of New Castle.

ROBERT WHITE,
City Solicitor.

Comfort Feature Of New Oldsmobile

Safety And Economy Feature Performance Of New Styles In Sixes And Eights

Offering many new comfort, safety, performance and economy features, the 1935 Oldsmobiles will be shown at the New Castle auto show this week by The Servicenter, "New Castle's only authorized Oldsmobile dealer".

The new Oldsmobile six and eight are built to conform to Oldsmobile's belief that the motorist is entitled to all that is new and better, according to C. L. McCuen, president and general manager of the Olds Motor Works.

Stressing the importance of safety, Oldsmobile introduces in both lines of cars what has been called by engineers the greatest contribution to motorists' safety in a decade, the solid steel "turret top" body by Fisher.

Built integral with the body unit is a roof constructed of one single sheet of seamless steel. This top not only provides added safety in itself, but lends great new strength and rigidity to the entire body, engineers say.

Paralleling the solid steel "turret top" body by Fisher in public approval is the streamline design of the new cars.

All of the advantaves of wind resistance reduction have been incorporated into the new cars and the beauty of symmetrical line retained.

Other new features listed in the announcement by Mr. McCuen include.

A complete system of sound-proofing of body, chassis and motor.

Longer wheelbase and roomier interiors.

Increased economy of operation by means of improved manifold and carburetion systems.

New Fords Reveal Many Improvements

Francis Motor Company Gives Some Details Of Cars Now Being Displayed

In addition to beautifying the lines of the car, the Ford Company has added many improvements to this year's model and vistors to the automobile show are promised an eyeful at the Ford display.

Entirely new brakes which provide more braking control, a new body enamel which gasoline and alcohol cannot damage, a new cast alloy iron cam shaft, cross steering, more spacious interiors, directed flow crankcase ventilation, these are just a few of the outstanding innovations in the new Ford.

Before the announcement of the new 1935 Ford. Mr. Ford set his 1935 sales schedule at one million cars or better, and devolopments since that statement was made indicate that he was not talking wildly.

The new Ford is worth your time at the automobile show. Bodies grille, hood, fenders and running boards have been newly designed using flowing curves to carry out the motif. This has been made possible by moving the body forward more than eight inches. The body is wider and set lower. All together the 1935 Ford is a trim, speedy looking job.

The Ford exhibit is in charge of William A. Francis, local dealer and his staff.

LOUISIANA FUR CROP DECLINES

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Louisiana's fur crop, the country's most important source of raw furs, will be 75 per cent short of its $6,000,000 normal, it is estimated by Armand P. Daspit, director of fur and wild life of the state department of conservation.

Shortage of the fur crop was attributed by Daspit to the drouths of recent years and to salt tides that destroyed thousands of young animals. Much of the coastal marsh land, the breeding ground of the state's supply of muskrats, was under salt water for several weeks last year.

The trapping season this year closed February 20, and officers of the department of conservation have received orders to be exceedingly strict in the enforcement of the game laws. Even small infractions of the game laws after the official closing would have lasting harmful effect on the fur crop of the state, it was said.

Second Jury Acquits Insull

Jury Deliberates For Two Hours And 45 Minutes On Finding

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Mar. 12.—For the second time in four months Samuel Insull today stood acquitted of criminal charges growing out of the collapse of his vast utilities empire.

After two hour and 45 minutes of heated deliberation a jury found the aged Insull not guilty of embezzlement.

Insull was charged with embezzling $66,000 from the Middle West Utilities company of which he was chairman, to bolster the private brokerage accounts of his brother, Martin, late in 1931 when the Insull structure began to crumble. Martin Insull was then president of Middle West, giant holding company.

The white-haired defendant, jubilant at the decision which was generally hailed as the end of the Insull prosecutions, smiled broadly and exclaimed:

"I am delighted with the verdict."

WARNS RESIDENTS THAT INCOME TAX DEADLINE IS NEAR

Deputy Collector McCandless Reminds That Friday Is Deadline

Because citizens here find it impossible to consult with Paul B. McCandless, deputy collector of internal revenue with offices in the new Federal building, is no excuse for not filing their income tax returns for the past pear on or before the deadline date, Friday, March 15.

McCandless made that plain today. He made it emphatically known that Uncle Sam accepts no such excuses.

"Returns are due by midnight of March 15," the deputy collector said. "If residents cannot see me because I'm busy with others they can call upon a notary or others for advice."

Into the two Federal building rooms a steady stream of callers flowed today and neither McCandless nor Walter H. Patterson, income tax field man, found any time to spare.

On Thursday, March 14, the office will remain open until 9 p. m. and on Friday until the midnight hour. The hours of 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. will be observed tomorrow.

Deputy Collector McCandless called attention to the new quarters of the income tax bureau here, declaring the new rooms "ample to handle crowds we're now getting."

Aerodynamic Models Shown By Hupmobile

Is Lowest Priced Car In Fully Streamlined Design On Market This Year

Hupmobile offers for 1935 three aerodynamic models—Series 518, lowest priced car of fully streamlined design; Series 521, and the eight-cylinder Series 527. All three cars follow the striking aerodynamic design introduced by this manufacturer a year ago, although the design has been even further developed over its original form.

The price of the new four-door Series 518 sedan is $795 as a standard model, and $835 for the deluxe type with a number of added features and appointments. The Series 521 sedan, Victoria and coupe, all list at $1095 as standard with an extra charge of $75 for deluxe equipment. The same three body types of the Series 527 sell at $1395 list, and the deluxe equipment charge in this case is $50 extra.

Commenting on Hupmobile's adoption of aerodynamic design in all models, Elrick Scarazzo of the State Auto Sales Co., local Hupp dealer, declared:

"The past year has brought a remarkable transformation in the appearance and efficiency of transportation...whether it be railroads, airplanes, boats or motor cars. Every form of transportation has adopted streamlining to obtain its greater benefits in appearance, performance, comfort, roominess and economy.

"As an indication of the superior value embodied in the 1935 Hupmobile line, the same six-cylinder engine, with minor changes, powers the lowest priced Hupmobile that is used in the Series 521."

BUCHAREST.—One hundred and one rabbis had to dissolve the marriage of Bernard Sperlinger, who wanted his divorce to be valid according to the religion of his forefathers.

Jewish law decrees that no marriage can be broken unless both parties give their consent. As Sperlinger's wife was suffering from an incurable mental disease, she could not comply with this regulation.

Sperlinger appealed to the council of rabbis and after long, Talmudic debates they agreed to separate him from his first wife, provided 101 rabbis endorsed the divorce.

After considerable expense, correspondence and learned arguments, 101 rabbis have at last approved Sperlinger's freedom.

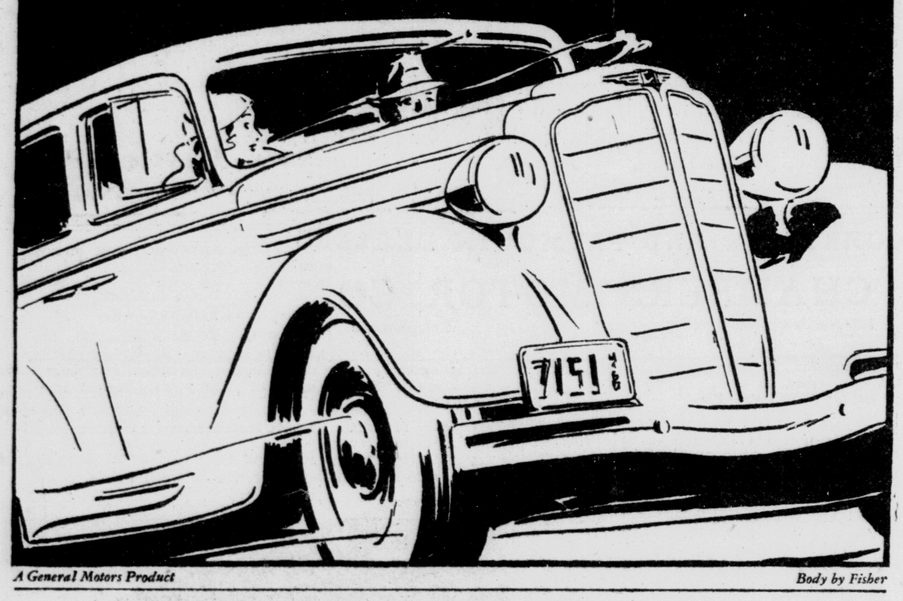
Measure them all by BUICK'S PERFORMANCE



A General Motors Product — Body by Fisher

● After you see the Buicks at the Automobile Show, take one out for a test. Note how solidly it holds the road at any speed, as well as its top of 85 miles an hour. Those are smooth, easy miles for Buick, without strain or distress to you or the car. Half a minute isn't a long time. But in nine seconds less, Buick swishes you from 10 to 60 miles an hour. Watch the speedometer needle during acceleration. The absence of waver or hitch tells you how skilfully 93 horsepower is engineered into Buick. You feel stability and safety under you in Buick—because you've really got them. You ride, too, with a delightful glide, day in and day out and all day long, without tiring—the result of Buick's own engineering of Knee-Action, balanced weight and springing. Finally, this car—with the weight to match its marvelous performance, and with eight cylinders—performs on the economy side, with owners reporting from 15 to 18 miles per gallon. Yes, you can well measure them all by Buick.

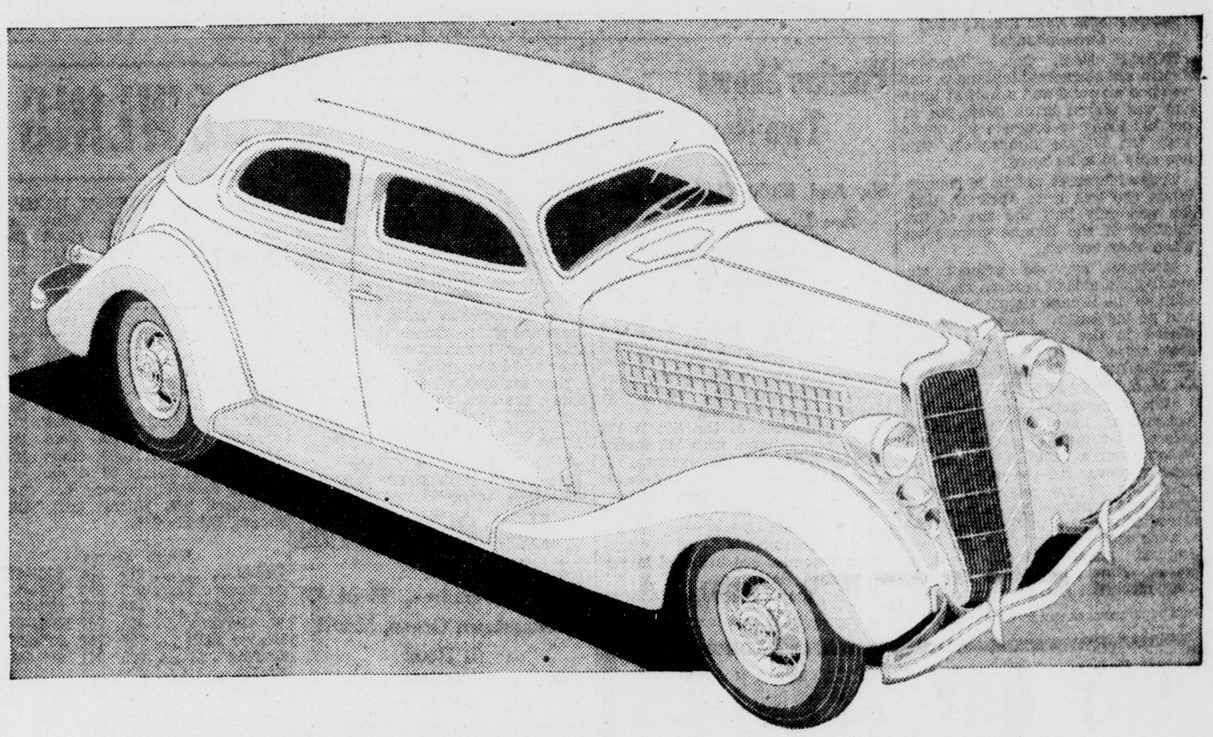
ANOTHER HISTORY-MAKING FORD IS AT THE AUTO SHOW



MATCHING THE LUXURY OF V-8 PERFORMANCE WITH AMAZING NEW RIDING COMFORT, NEW ROOMINESS AND BEAUTY!

Ford continues to make motor car history. Not since the introduction of the first V-8 have such notable improvements been presented in a Ford car.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 now gives you riding comfort, beauty and ease of handling to match V-8 performance!

It is the biggest Ford car ever built—and the most beautiful.

Supported on a much longer springbase, it is by long odds the easiest riding. Wider seats have been moved forward. Passengers are poised between the wheels on longer, more flexible springs—away from the axles and the bumps.

The New Ford handles as easily and smoothly as it rides. A new clutch applies a new principle to reduce pedal pressure at gear-shifting speeds.

New brakes make your mastery of V-8 power complete. They operate with astonishingly little pedal pressure—and how quickly and smoothly they act!

The first Ford V-8 set new performance standards in the low-price field. Now the modern Ford for 1935 provides a new measuring stick for beauty and comfort too. The most impressive Ford ever built will be on display at the Automobile Show. Be sure to see it!

Interesting new body styles and colors. New, richly appointed interiors. New low-price levels for Ford Cars beginning at $495.* Ask for details of Authorized Ford Finance Plans of the Universal Credit Company—or get them from your neighborhood Ford dealer.

Rivers Rise As Result Of Rain

TWENTY FEET AT PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—Floods threatened Monongahela river towns today when heavy rains, general throughout the southwestern section of Pennsylvania, swelled the river and forced suspension of navigation.

A fifteen-foot rise in the river was reported at Lock No. 7 near Brownsville. When water reached 24½ feet at lock No. 4 at 10 A. M. Navigation was suspended.

Merchants at Belle Vernon, fearful of the threatened flood, prepared to move merchandise from cellars.

At Pittsburgh a high water mark of 20 feet was reported where the flood stage is 25 feet. A steady increase was noticeable.

Points along the Allegheny river reported increase but the rainfall in those sections was not sufficient to create flood fears.

Dionne Neighbor One Lb. At Birth 'Sweet 16' Now

By GRACE TROY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NORTH BAY, Ont. — Twenty-month old Margaret Montanaro, who weighed a pound and a half at birth and was reared in an oven, put in her bid today to compete for notice with the Dionne quintuplets, who live only 10 miles away.

Today Margaret weighs 16 pounds. When she was born April 29, 1933, she was only half the size of the smallest of the Dionne quintuplets when they arrived.

Margaret survived without the mechanical aids of modern medicine such as the Dionne sisters had. She had no incubator. Instead, she was placed in the oven of the family cook stove, where she spent three months under the watchful eye of Dr. M. S. Butler he said:

"When Margaret was born she looked just like a little partridge before it gets it's feathers. She wasn't even a handful. I had no hope whatever for the child."

As soon as she was born, Margaret was wrapped in cotton and placed in a basket in the oven. For a week she was fed from an eye-dropper. After that she took a bottle. Now she sits at a table, loves macaroni and begs for cake.

During the latter part of President Roosevelt's administration the secret service kept an automobile at the mansion, but Roosevelt seldom rode in it. # Pontiac Shows Two New Models

Six And Eight Cylinder Cars Are Displayed At Show By Lawrence Auto Company

The new low-priced Pontiac and the improved Straight Eight Pontiac automobiles will be exhibited at the New Castle Auto Show by the Lawrence Automobile Co., corner S. Mercer and South street.

The wheelbase of the Six is 112 inches as compared with 117 inches for the Eight. In appearance, it duplicates closely the modern streamlining of the Eight.

A comparison of the Straight Eight with that of last year, reveals many improvements and refinements that also are included in the new Six.

Briefly, they are a marked change in appearance; new Fisher solid-steel "Turret-Top" bodies; built-in luggage space; concealed spare tires; "V" type windshield; greater width in both front and rear seats; new instrument panel; package shelf in all models; new lamps, hydraulic brakes with double and triple sealed drums; new action clutch; automatic choke in the Eight; air cool generator with voltage regulator; interchangeable main and connecting rod bearings; silver alloy connecting rod bearings; steel spoked wheels; increased steering gear ratio; knee-action units (except on Standard six mounted on rigid tubular cross member, and new radiator and hood grilles.

New features are intended to enhance the economical performance, durability, dependability, speed and riding qualities of the 1935 line.

McKechnie Thinks Ruth Will Help To Make Braves Hustle

Boston Braves Have Lacked Hitters; Discounts Ruth As Manager

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 12.—In spite of a series of denials, affirmations, confirmations and behind-the-hand sniggers, Babe Ruth is not going to manage the Boston Braves for 1936, said the manager of the Boston Braves for 1935 today, Mr. Bill McKechnie.

The latter was discussing his present ball club at the time but didn't hesitate to make the switch when the Ruth topic arose.

"It isn't my understanding that Ruth is to take charge next year," he answered instantly. "I don't think it is Ruth's understanding, either. I'm glad to have him with me, because he might make the difference between a fourth place club and the pennant.

"What he will do for me this year, nobody knows. As for next year, you can say that I'm already making my plans for that season as the field head of the club."

Count On Ruth.

That being indubitably that, what did he count on from Ruth in 1936?

"Nothing," said Mr. McKechnie, promptly. "I'm not even counting on anything this year. I'm hoping. If he can drive in as many as a hundred runs for us, or even a few less, we're made. Wally Berger has been our only hitter who can do that. The rest aren't even close.

"Our hitting isn't as bad as most people suppose. But they're the kind that have to get three hits to score one run. Ruth can alter all that and I sincerely hope he does.'

This, by the way, is the entire story of the 1935 Boston club of the National league...with one exception. The exception is Pitcher Ben Cantwell, who won 20 games two years ago and only five last year. His arm went bad until late in 1934 when he came back and won his five at the close of the year. The 15-game difference would have meant the pennant—on the "if" sheets, those imperishable documents concocted by hopeful gentlemen who usually spend most of their time on park benches.

Good Hurling Staff.

Otherwise, it is strictly an unchanged outfit and, except for the hope of Ruth, would figure to fall into the second division this time on sheer inertia.

It isn't a club that can buy ball players, so it has done the next best thing. It has compromised and kept those it had. The pitchers—Frankhouse, Brandt, Betts, Cantwell, Brown, Mangum, Rhem and Smith—are well worth keeping. They previously have been the only thing that stopped the Braves from finishing a strong 15th.

Ellwood Will Play At Union In Final Game

Union High Will Close 1935 Floor Season With Ellwood Game Tonight

Ellwood City High School basketball team, members of Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L., will play at Union High tonight in the closing game of the 1934-35 campaign, for the Union High quintet. The Ellwood City and Union High Reserves will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Davey Boyd has the Unionites all polished up for a tough tussle tonight. The Ellwoodians toppled the Blue and White at Ellwood City the other night and the Unions want revenge.

Union High looked better the last of the season than ever before and they may make it tough for the Benedictmen. Coach Boyd will more than likely try out various combinations tonight in looking ahead to next season.

This will be the final game for George Schaas one of the Union mainstays for the past three years. He is one of the best centers that Union High has ever had and is also a dependable football man, his graduation will leave a gaping hole in the Union High floor and football team.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

LISTEN TO THIS

Almost 23,000 spectators contributed a gross of $37,103 to witness the crowning of the Chicago Golden Gloves champions last Friday night. It was a tough evening for the defending champions with a single one of them surviving. Al Nettlow, featherweight, and Otis Thomas heavyweight, were beaten in the semi-finals, and Jess Levels, flyweight and Troy Bellini, bantamweight, went down to the finals. Mike Gamiere Cleveland lightweight who is considered by many to be the most promising fighter in the tournament chalked up an envious K. O. record for the tourney. The Johnny Brown-Troy Bellini bout drew the greatest ovation of any fight on the program....The spring training trip of the Pittsburgh Pirates will cost approximately $28,000.

It is estimated that the lighting plant for the ball field of the Cincinnati Reds will exceed $40,000.... The average weight for the men in the National hockey league is 165 pounds....Johnny Sisk, former Marquette university all around athlete and now a member of the Chicago Bears football team is a brother of Dick Sisk, the boxer, and acts as the pugilist's manager.... the baseball regulars of the Santa Clara nine this year will be such well known football players as Bomber Sobrero, the team's leading hitter: Bill Dutton, third base: Dick Bassi, catcher: Patches Thomas, second, Salty Salatino, center field, and flash Falaschi, pitcher....Five stars of the Penn State college soccer team, undefeated in 1934, were chosen on an all-Eastern selection.

Here's one on Max Baer, the king of the heavies who also ranks near the top in dishing out wise cracks. It seems that Aaron Rosenberg, the great Southern California lineman, was being introduced to Max and Baer, decided to put the gridder in his place. Says Max: "How do you do? Let me see, I think I've heard of you Aren't you a polo player?" The All-American football star doesn't bling an eye and comes right back: "No, I'm a swimmer. By the way, you look like a athlete yourself, what do you do?"....Four American league catchers batted .300 or better in 1934. Bill Dickey hit for .322: Mickey Cochrane .321: Glenn Myatt, .315 and Rollie Hemsley, .308 ....Hook Eckman, star forward of the Santa Clara basketball team, missed only 12 out of 53 free throws this season.

The only university to win four Big Ten tracks meets in a row was Michigan, which did it in 1901, 1902, 1903, and 1904....In 1934 Ralph Aquino, Newark lightweight, was awarded a technical knockout over Mickey Paul when the latter, stopping in the midst of a furious eight round barrage, said "Good night" and left the ring....."The best forwards in basketball are not necessarily the highest scorers," declares Coach William S. Chandler of the Marquette university basketball team. "Give me the boy" he says, "who is a good team player, who has coordination and finnesse, who can diagnose situations and can feed the ball and I'll be satisfied." Tom Ottey, intercollegiate track star of Michigan State, says he has competed in 70 or 80 six mile races.

ATHLETES REPORTED TO BE BEST DANCERS

(International News Service)

BOULDER, Colo.—Athletes are betters dancers than less active college men, according to Prof. Francis Wolle of the University of Colorado.

Professor Wolle in addition to coaching the university's cross-country team, directs campus plays and musical shows.

"When I selected a cast of male dancers for a musical comedy recently I found the best stage prospects were athletes," he said.

"It's not surprising, because athletics in almost any form is conductive to muscular control, one requisite of a rythmic dancer.

Max Schmeling Puts New Life In Fight Game

Beating Handed To Steve Hamas Will Indirectly Mean Million Dollars

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—That was a million dollar beating Max Schmeling handed Steve Hamas.

Here, according to Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker of Madison Square Garden, is what the German's sweeping right hand accomplished:

It belted Hamas out of the heavyweight picture for all time.

It injected new life into the moribund fight racket.

It assured a series of great heavyweight fights this summer.

It put Max himself back on the road to the heavyweight throne.

It assured a worthy contender for Max Baer's laurels.

And it started a million dollars rolling into the Garden coffers.

Not bad, you'll admit, for one right hand.

The Garden has every heavyweight contender sewed up. It holds Baer's contract for the next defense of his title and has Schmeling under option until 1937.

Elimination Tourney.

The heavyweight program, starting this week, calls for the following fights:

(A)—Carnera vs. Impellittiere.
(B)—Lasky vs. Braddock.
(C)—Winner of fights (A) and (B).
(D)—Winner of (C) vs. Schmeling
(E)—Winner of D) vs. Baer.

If the first two fights are floperoos the boys in them will automatically have eliminated themselves, and Schmeling will get the title shot without further ado.

Baer-Schmeling Bout Is Planned

Baer's Manager Says "That Schmeling Has Earned Right To Meet Maxie Baer"

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 12.—Max Baer and Ancil Hoffman, his manager, visioned another world boxing title bout today with Max Schmeling, dethroned German heavyweight champ.

Hoffman said he was informed that Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's pilot, had reported the New York bout was "absolutely set."

Belief also was expressed by Hoffman and Baer that disputes with the New York commission involving judges and referees for a second bout with the German will be adjusted. Madison Square Garden already has contracted Baer's services in a title defense, with specification for a "suitable opponent." The German's knockout of Steve Hamas earned him a return bout, Hoffman believes.

For some days they have been compelled to hurl in practice inside because of rain and snow.

Stock Market Is Steadier

Better Performance In Wheat And Cotton Causes Steadier Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—The stock market steadied today after yesterday's break, aided by a better performance in wheat and cotton.

The undertone was unsettled, however, reflecting the nervousness in speculative circles following yesterday's crack in principal markets, and rallying power was limited.

The list contained a liberal number of fractional gains after some irregularity at the opening. Trading started off active but turned quiet by the middle of the first hour.

DuPont and American Can were slightly higher, while the equipments improved. U. S. Steel ruled around the previous close and seemed to find difficulty in penetrating the 30-level.

Motor shares were little better than steady, and farm equipment and mail order issues somewhat higher; American Telephone continued a firm spot in the utilities, while Consolidated Gas hovered around the previous close. Mining shares were firm, with nickel higher on its earnings rise last year. Foods were unsettled.

Ellwood City Hi To Close Floor Season Tonight

Return Game With Union Township High To Be Last For Locals

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 12.—Ellwood City high school cagers will close their floor season tonight with a return game at Union Township high school.

Although their record has somewhat been spotted the locals made an impressive finish in Section 3 of of the W. P. I. A. L. and won all but one of their non-league games, and this they have avenged. They had things much their own way here with Union Township, but are overlooking no bets when they tackle the Boydmen on their home floor tonight. Union Township has always been a hard nut to crack on their own court, and are especially anxious to get another crack at the Benedictmen.

Since the Tubers are desirous of closing their season with a victory they will use every play and attack in their repertoire. This will be the final game for that stellar forward combination of Alex Robuck and Bill Cole, who have shared the captiancy this season and will be lost to the team by graduation. This pair would have received considerable attention had they been on a winning team. The former is one of the best floor men developed here and the latter has been a constant high scoring threat. Although on a losing team Cole was only beaten out by Maravich of Aliquippa, in the last game for scoring honors in Section 3. He has averaged 13 points a game.

The remainder of the team with all of the second string, reserves, and Marcus, who was ineligible the second semester due to studies, will be back next year.

Senate Will Limit Power Of President

Change To Be Made In Manner Of Expending Work-Relief Funds

REPORT CHANGE TO BE GIVEN APPROVAL

Would Reduce Unlimited Authority Sought By President In Spending

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. President Roosevelt faced a minor setback on his $4,880,000,000 Work Relief bill today as the senate prepared to sharply reduce his proposed unlimited authority to spend the huge fund.

As passed by the house, the bill would enable the president to spend the money "to protect and to promote the general welfare." This authorization was eliminated by the Senate Appropriations committee, which limited use of the fund "to provide relief and work relief."

To Get Senate Approval

The reduction in authority will be approved by the senate. It was reported to be acceptable to the president.

Two charges by Senator Long (D) of Louisiana, however, created havoc in senatorial ranks. First Long charged the administration with "calling in senators and offering them a slice of the appropriation for their states if they would vote against the McCarran Prevailing Wage Amendment." After that, he charged the president would use the $4,880,000,000 as a campaign fund to secure his re-election to the White House.

The first charge worried some senators, who voted against the McCarran amendment two weeks ago,

New Constitution Plan Faces Delay In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Governor George H. Earle's plan to give the state a new constitution by next January appeared destined for oblivion today as the Republican Senate constitutional changes committee drastically revised the Ruth administration bill.

The committee, headed by Senator Mason G. Owlett, Tioga, at a closed meeting voted to strike out provisions in the Ruth bill for a special election to choose delegates May 14 and for a constitutional convention meeting in June. They were replaced with provisions for a referendum in September on the question of a new constitution, to be followed by the election of delegates in November if the vote is favorable.

Agreement on further points in the machinery to draft a new basic law could not be reached at the committee meeting, however, and the session was adjourned until next Tuesday. The principal point of dispute was whether delegates should be elected by congressional or Senatorial districts. Owlett said some of the committee members voted against reporting out any revision bill.

George Fox, on trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand, in court room number one, on a charge of failing to stop and render assistance, in connection with the death of Charles Pattison, on February 12, went upon the witness stand in his own defense this morning.

Fox stated that he is employed as a milk truck driver for R. M. Wilson. He usually leaves his home with the truck at a quarter to 6 o'clock in the morning. On February 12th he had left at about that time. He had a large load of 96 empty milk cans on the truck.

Self Defense Is Stinnett's Plea In Murder Case

Claims He Killed Clinton Jones At Crescentdale To Protect Himself

William Stepps, An Eye Witness Of Shooting, Gives His Version

Defense in the case of Joe Stinnett, charged with the murder of Clinton Jones at Crescentdale, opened before Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning. The defendant claims that he fired the shot that killed Jones in self defense.

In outlining the defense his attorney stated that it would be shown that at time of the shooting, Stinnett was in great fear, believing that Jones intended to kill him. He said it would be shown that Stinnett, who has lived at Crescentdale for the past ten years, has been a law abiding citizen.

It would also be shown that there had been previous trouble between Stinnett and Jones and that Stinnett was afraid of Jones. On the day of the tragedy, it would be shown that Jones was the agressor.

Defense Witness

William Stepps, who was the first witness called by the defense, testified that he lives near the Stinnett home. On the day of the trouble his attention was attracted by loud voices, and on going out on his front porch he saw Stinnett on his front porch with a gun in his hands. There was a Mrs. Powell there and a man.

Witness did not see Jones at first but heard his voice. Pretty soon Jones came around an automobile which was standing in a drive and advanced toward Stinnett. Jones appeared to be very angry and witness heard him tell Stinnett that he did not have enough nerve to shoot. Witness also heard Jones

Officer Is Shot In Preventing Gang Execution

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 12.—Interrupting what police believe was to have been a gangland execution, Patrolman William Clapper, 39-year-old father of two children, was shot and critically wounded today by three gunmen in the lobby of a hotel.

The patrolman, shot in the breast, face and left arm, may not recover, doctors reported.

Unaware of what was taking place, the policeman walked into the hotel to find the thugs surrounding Harry Barrish, proprietor, and Joseph Carlisle, clerk, both of whom had been lined up against a wall. Addressing themselves to Barrish, the gunmen said:

"This is the guy we want. Back up against the wall and you'll get yours."

At this point, Clapper walked in. The gunmen immediately turned on the patrolman and shot him down.

They escaped in an automobile bearing license plates issued to a resident of Reading.

President Sends Strong Message

ROOSEVELT IRKED AT OPPOSITION

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. — In a strongly-worded message to congress today, President Roosevelt struck back at the big utility interests which have been flooding congress with propaganda against the administration's (Rayburn) bill to outlaw utility holding companies.

Apparently irked at the extent and weight of the utilities' drive against the administration measure, Mr. Roosevelt lashed out in vigorous language. He described the utility holding company as economically unnecessary and "a device which does not belong to our American traditions of law and business."

And, he asserted:

"The utility company with its present powers must go."

At another point, he described the utility holding company as "a corporate invention which can give a few corporate insiders unwarranted and intolerable powers over other people's money."

The same influences were directed against the securities and exchange legislation when it was pending, the president said, and the same "fears" then expressed proved as groundless as will the "fears" now being expressed where holding companies are concerned.

Pymatuning Still Rising

Water Level In Big Lake Is Steadily Reaching New Records

LINESVILLE, Pa., Mar. 12—One thousand two and two-tenths feet and still rising, was Monday's reading at the Pymatuning dam where the reservoir's level is daily breaking into new high territory.

The lake is now within 5.8 feet of the flow line, which is the goal of the $3,500,000 project. Current wet weather has been increasing the amount of water daily and a few inches rise now amounts to billions of gallons of water impounded.

Last year the rising tide continued until mid-May when a prematurely dry spell in early summer necessitated release of the water into the Shenango river outlet. With last year as an example, it is expected that the level will increase for possibility three months, making it possible for one to three more feet of water to accumulate.

First Deficiency Bill Is Reported

ATHENS, March 12.—Greece today recaptured her island territories from rebel hands.

Faced with almost certain defeat following collapse of the land revolt in Macedonia, ex-Premier Eleutherios Venizelos and his revolutionary lieutenants escaped from Crete aboard the cruiser Averoff, pride of the Greek navy.

Recover Vessels.

All other vessels, with the exception of one submarine, that the rebels had confiscated and used to extend their rule of ten days to the islands of Lesbos, Chios and Samos, were recovered by the government.

With the revolt claimed by the government to have been crushed on land and sea, authorities prepared today to mete out severe punishment for the vanquished.

Courts martial began functioning and scores of death sentences were expected to be imposed upon leaders of the several thousand rebels captured in the debacle in Macedonia.

LEBANON, Pa., Mar. 12.—One word—"guilty"—spoken by the foreman of a jury, today had crushed the calm poise of Byron S. Laudermilch, elderly lingerie manufacturer.

He was found guilty of second degree murder in the slaying of Emma Miller, 26, a factory girl with whom he was alleged to have carried on a clandestine love affair for more than six years.

Stolid At Trial.

Throughout the trial, even with prosecutors demanding the death penalty, Laudermilch seemed disinterested in the outcome. He showed little emotion when his wife and children dramatically testified in his behalf. Defense counsel plans to appeal from the verdict which carries a sentence of 10 to 20 years imprisonment.

Emma Miller was found wounded in a ditch last December 5 after she had gone riding with the 60-year-old manufacturer. She died four days later. Laudermilch also was found wounded in a private sanatorium.

The state contended the manufacturer shot the girl and then attempted suicide because of anger and jealousy. The defense maintained the girl shot Laudermilch and then ended her life when he told her of his determination to end their friendship.

HOUSE SPEEDS GOVERNOR EARLE'S TAX MEASURES

suspension of rules at the request of Rep. Roy Furman, Greene, acting chairman. Second reading today will place them in position for final passage tomorrow.

The personal property tax bill, under which the state and the counties will share the return equally, was to be further amended with an increase to six or seven mills. The additional revenue will replace discarded features of the severance tax on oil, sand, gravel and other natural resources which the committee is reported prepared to relegate to the scrap heap.

Tax Municipal Plants

Another block of six bills, designed to raise about $35,000,000 by imposing additional taxes on insurance companies, bank stock, net incomes of corporations. Taxing electricity a half-mill per kilowatt hour and extending the gross receipts tax to municipal light and power plants were to be read for the first time today and then returned to the Ways and Means committee for further hearing tomorrow.

The bill increasing the gross receipts tax on utilities from eight mills to two per cent amended to include taxicabs and buses, also was on the calendar for first reading.

The house last night passed finally the five senate bills transferring $4,200,000 from the motor license and fire insurance tax fund to continue old age and blind pensions and pay hospital subsidies. The measures were sent to the governor for his signature.

Presents Income Tax Bill

Governor Earle sent to the legislature last night the Administration Income Tax bill designed to lighten the present school tax burden on real estate by $20,000,000 a year. He asked its speedy passage to effect a "fair shifting of some of the burden from real estate."

In addition to starting the major portion of the tax program on its way to the senate, the house acted on a long third reading calendar, passed several bills and placed others on the postponed calendar.

Hurrying through a long calendar of miscellaneous bills, mostly making appropriations to hospitals and state-aided institutions, the senate paused long enough to amend its rule 42 to require 26 votes instead of a simple majority to discharge a committee of a bill, Democrats voted solidly against the change, but the Republican majority carried the proposal.

The Zappala (house) bill exempting home manufactured wine from taxation was recommitted to committee for amendment when it was called up for final passage which, if favorable, would have sent it to the governor's desk. Only half a dozen bills were on today's calendar.

An administration bill amending the state banking code to permit state banks to include preferred stock in their capital was submitted to the senate. The measure, introduced by Senator G. Mason Owlett, Tioga, at the request of Secretary of Banking Luther A. Harr is designed to assist banks whose preferred stock is held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Calls Mass Meeting.

The mayor of Athens called a giant mass meeting of thanksgiving this afternoon. War Minister Kondylis, returning like a conquering hero, and Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris were to be speakers.

Government casualties in the entire Macedonian fighting were put at only 11 killed and 28 wounded. Rebel losses ran into the hundreds, chiefly from disastrous airplane bombardments.

Venizelos Disambarks.

Athens, Mar. 12.—Former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the rebellion crushed by loyal Greek forces, disembarked from the armored cruiser Averoff today on the island of Cassos in the Dodecanese group.

Venizelos was accompanied by his wife and a number of rebel officers. All hoped to be granted asylum in the islands, which are owned by Italy.

The Averoff proceeded to the Salamis arsenal to surrender.

To Be Incarcerated.

Rome, Mar. 12.—Eleutherios Venizelos, former Greer premier who landed on the Italian island of Cassos in the Aegean sea today after collapse of the revolt he led, faces an indefinite incarceration, it was announced by the foreign office today.

The government had not been officially advised of Venizelos' arrival upon the island, but stated "if he does land" on Italian territory he "will be" interned.

The rebel chieftain is not extraditable, however, it was said.

him to examine the truck to see if there were any marks on it that might indicate that he had struck the man. There was a crack in one of the planks, but witness said that might have been made by a milk can. Witness had no knowledge of having struck a man, having first become aware of a man being struck when he went to get the can which had fallen off the truck.

The commonwealth side of the case closed Monday afternoon.

J. N. Speed, who found the body of Mr. Pattison testified to having noticed the body of Mr. Pattison along the highway as he was on his way to Sharon where he works. Mr. Speed, stopped, notified the authorities and then went on.

John W. Pattison and Miss Mary Pattison, relatives of the deceased testified to the time he had left home on the morning of February 12. George Morrow, an undertaker testified to having been called on the case. D. L. Holmes, W. E. Stoops and J. L. ### STATE INCOME TAX IS PLANNED next $5,000; 4 per cent for the next $40,000, and 6 per cent for incomes in excess of $50000.

Exemptions Provided

Exemptions provided are $1,000 for single taxpayers; $1500 for married taxpayers or those who are heads of families, and $400 for each dependent. Deductions may be made for taxes paid federal, state or local governments, exclusive of the gasoline tax, business expenses, interest, business losses and similar items. By donating 90 per cent of his entire income to charity, a taxpayer can escape the levy altogether.

The bills call for filing returns to the state department of revenue on or before March 15, beginning in 1936 and payment of the tax in full is required by that date. A fine of $1,000 or three years in jail can be imposed for failure to file or for making false returns.

State and local government officials, exempt under the federal income tax law, will be required to pay the state tax. In case of disputes hearings will be held before officers of the Department of Revenue assigned to the various counties. Appeals can be taken to local common pleas courts. As in the case of the federal income tax, employers will be required to report salaries paid their employes to the State Department of Revenue for collection purposes.

CUBAN GOVERNMENT ISSUES DRASTIC ORDERS OF STRIKE

sitting, while outside in the black, almost deserted streets rifles crackled intermittently as stragglers were challenged.

Two more were killed, bringing the confirmed death list to twelve, and eight were wounded when a bomb exploded in a bus, one of the few running, in the suburb of Almendares.

Guard Vital Utilities

Armed members of the military forces guarded street cars, buses, the water works, and electric light and power plants, and efforts were being made to force workers to man these public services. Employes of the Cuban Electric Company walked out, but skeleton staffs were kept under guard to provide the Capital with light.

All unions participating in the strike were ordered dissolved by cabinet decree. Following this action, Dr. Rafael Lorie, secretary of sanitation in the cabinet, resigned in expression of loyalty to the medical association, whose members, employed in government hospital, are on strike.

Miguel Riva, secretary of the interior, and nominal head of the army, resigned in protest against the government's measures. He was succeeded by Maximiliano Gomez, former judge in the court of urgency.

Public Hearings For Tax Bills

Senate Committee Will Give Hearings To Any One Who Asks For Them

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12. — The Senate finance committee will hold public hearings on the administration's tax bills when they reach the upper chamber, Senator John J. McClure, Delaware, chairman, announced today.

"I'll give hearings to anyone who asks for them on every bill before the finance committee, irrespective of whether the House has done so," said McClure, who will handle tax bills embodied in the governor's $203,000,000 program.

All of the governor's tax bills will have been given hearings by the House ways and means committee by tomorrow. Opposition has developed to all measures and opponents are planning to ask the Senate for additional hearings.

SELF DEFENSE IS STINNETT'S PLEA IN MURDER CASE

say to Stinnett if he loaded and calked the gun he would kill him. Stinnett replied that the gun was already loaded. Jones called him a liar and continued to advance toward Stinnett. Jones had one hand in his pocket.

Stepps said that Stinnett fired the gun, but not in the direction of Jones, but as Jones advanced, witness said that he saw Stinnett point the gun at him and fire. Jones he said was telling Stinnett what he was going to do to him at the time the shot was fired. According to Stepps, Jones was about thirty yards from Stinnett at the time the shot was fired. After the shooting witness said Stinnett went into the house, and he and some neighbors went to Jones' assistance.

Case Moves Rapidly

Moving along at an unusually rapid rate for a murder trial, the case against Joe Stinnett, charged with the murder of Clinton Jones on December 9, 1934, was almost half completed Monday evening at adjournment time in Court Room number two.

The jury was selected by noon, and at the opening of court in the afternoon District Attorney Mont L. Ailey presented the commonwealth's opening statement to the jury.

Albert Treser, a civil engineer was called and showed a map of the grounds where Jones was killed.

Constable Raymond Tally told of arresting Stinnett and placing him in the Wampum jail.

Dr. W. C. Burchfield told of being called to administer to Jones but found him beyond aid, with a gunshot wound in his chest and abdomen and State Policeman Knudson testified to being called to the scene of the shooting some time after it happened.

Eye Witness

Robert B. Robertson, colored, testified that he had been near the scene of the shooting and saw Jones walk towards Stinnett who had a gun in his hands. Robertson said he heard Jones threaten Stinnett and that Stinnett fired, Jones falling to the ground.

Amos Grimes, a friend of Jones testified that on December 9 he was in the home of M. J. Powell, eating a lunch Mrs. Powell had prepared. Jones walked out onto the porch and later called Stinnett out. Grimes said he walked out later and observed that the two men were angry. At the request of Mrs. Powell, Grimes took Jones away.

Mrs. Anna Powell corroborated Grimes' testimony and added that she had separated the two men as they were arguing on the porch of her home. This was sometime after four o'clock. Jones seemed the angrier of the two, Mrs. Powell said. Later she saw Stinnett standing on the porch with a gun in his hands. She saw Jones leave the home of Cal Richardson and come back towards the Stinnett home, which is the other side of a double house in which Powells live. She heard Jones cursing but didn't go out. An instant later she heard a shot. Mrs. Powell said she didn't go outside but locked the door of her home and stayed in. Upon cross examination she said she knew that Jones had been a fighter and had been in trouble before.

Other witnesses who testified were David Grooms, and Cal Richardson who were at or near the scene of the tragedy on December 9. Officer Knudson was recalled and testified to a statement taken from Stinnett at the time of his arrest.

Following the testimony District Attorney Ailey introduced a number of pieces of evidence and prepared to bring his case to a close.

Seeking Proof

A prominent Republican senator said: "I am now seeking proof that Senator Long's charge is correct. If I get it, I'll blow the roof off the capitol."

The other charge, that the president would use the fund for campaign purposes, caused the Republicans to recall the huge allocation of relief funds just before last November's election and how local Republican leaders in every northern state blamed defeat on the relief funds.

MORNING WEDDING AT TRINITY CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd N. Jones, of West Washington street extension, announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie Adair, to Frederick F. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Arch Foster, of State street.

The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock this morning in Trinity Episcopal church with the Rev. Phillip Pearson reading the service in the presence of the parents of the young couple.

The bride wore a becoming spring outfit of delicate blue crepe, with gray accessories and a small matching hat. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Foster departed on a short trip through western Ohio, and when they return they will make their home, temporarily, with the groom's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Union High school, class of 1931 and of Jameson Memorial hospital 1934. She has been employed, until recently, at the hospital on general duty.

The first meeting of this council will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City on March 19. As the week of the 19th is also the week of the international flower show, Mrs. Howley will leave next Sunday for New York to represent the local club at these meetings.

C., she has been national treasurer, vice president of the Third Corps area, and national legislative chairman.

Miss Dennis' war service began with 12 months of work with the Red Cross before she went overseas in 1918. ### FEDERAL JURY SERVICE FOR WOMEN

WHEN Federal Judge Robert S. Gibson issued the order permitting women to serve on juries in the United States district court of Western Pennsylvania he brushed aside one of the last restrictions placed upon the feminine sex.

Women may now justly maintain they enjoy all the privileges accorded the so-called sterner sex. And there is no reason why they should not serve on these juries. They are as well equipped mentally to render a just decision as are the men.

They pay taxes; they have the vote and they serve in public office. They are as much interested in seeing that the laws of the nation are obeyed, and the penalties for violation of them inflicted, as the opposite sex.

They make good jurors in the criminal and common pleas courts, and they will, likewise, in the Federal courts.

HOW MUCH IS A BILLION?

An esteemed subscriber sends us a clipping of an article by Lucia Ames Mead which appeared first in the Christian Century, giving some idea in these times of billion dollar expenditures of what a large sum of $1,000,000,000 reaily is. In part, Miss Mead said:

"I once asked a high school teacher how long she thought it would take to throw away $1,000,000,000 at the rate of a dollar a minute. She did not stop to think and guessed, 'Two days!' A high school student guessed, 'A week!' A business man, after doing some mental arithmetic, guessed, 'Twenty years.' The highest guess I ever had was from a professor of mathematics in a college and was 'Forty years.' The correct answer is 19 centuries."

THE UBIQUITOUS NEWSPAPER

A survey made by independent consumer interests in fifteen cities of the United States shows that newspapers are read regularly by 87 per cent of the families in these cities. In some, according to the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, the figure is well above 90 per cent. Thus they offer much greater advertising coverage than other media. It is asserted further that an "average" newspaper list reaches almost 100 per cent of the leading buying-power groups. The fifteen cities surveyed account for $2,000,000,000 annually in retail sales.

To those who have given it an adequate test the superior selling power of newspaper advertising is axiomatic. Surveys such as this serve to confirm the judgment of the advertiser and it may be assumed that they are not without interest to newspaper readers.

STRANGE ENDING FOR GANGSTERS

Since the government has instituted such relentless measures against organized crime, racketeers and gangsters have been tracked down and shot to death or sent to the electric chair with considerable success. It comes as a surprise to learn that one recently died peacefully (as far as we know) in his bed from natural causes.

Chicago's gangsters have done a great many surprising things in the last decade; but none of them ever did anything much more surprising than did Frankie Rio, former bodyguard to Al Capone, who confounded public expectations in the manner of his death. The removal from the current scene of any gangster is good news, regardless of the reason, and ordinary heart disease may be a civic instrument just as is the electric chair. But it is worth noticing that Rio was one of the very few Chicago hoodlums to depart from this life without co-operation of a machine gun or a revolver.

Things must be getting strangely peaceful in Chicago, when a Capone gangster can die in bed like any ordinary citizen.

THE KINGS DEPART

King Prajadhipok of Siam, "The Supreme Arbiter of the Ebb and Flow of Tides" and "The Possessor of the Twenty-Four Umbrellas," has announced his abdication, this interesting little monarch having failed to reconcile differences with his party concerning administration policies. He will live henceforth in a quiet retreat in Cranleigh, England. And thus another king bids farewell to a throne.

This latest development in the purple scene reserved for kings, emperors and princes gains in significance when considered in connection with recent events in Europe. Only the other day, Chancellor Hitler, who in the early days of his political career was looked upon as a precursor of a returning Kaiser, assailed the "fools who still dream of a restored regime." On the same day, Schuschnigg, Chancellor of Austria, closed the door against Otto's ascent to the throne by declaring that his country's political set-up would remain as it is.

Meanwhile, Alphonse, the last of the Bourbons, is in exile. The King of Italy is a vague figure obscured by the huge shadow of Mussolini. The trend is such as to create the possibility that our own day may witness the departure of the last king.

A phonograph blared a jazz tune as the King of Siam announced his abdication. Well, he can always say he was driven to it.

It must be understood, of course, that Methuselah never had to cross a street intersection in the midst of whirling motor traffic.

From the eagerness with which our European friends go after the right to arm we gather that it is even more important than putting clothes on the back and food in the stomach.

"LET ME SHARE YOUR SORROW"

Oscar Wilde was a strange being. Some people snicker at the mention of his name, but I know a man who reads Oscar Wilde's fairy stories to children.

There was dark perversion in this man, there was lovely sanity in him, as well.

He was lightly vain; he was deeply humble.

He wrote frivolous bits of prose, gay comedies, but when he was sent to prison he wrote "The Ballad of Reading Gaol", and no other man could have written that understanding poem.

He posed and pretended, but was capable of true sincerity.

He was horrible and he was tender.

He was a genius.

He died miserably in disgrace, and the bones of his poor life have been picked over and over by all who knew him.

Many men know him now better than they know themselves, but Oscar Wilde knew himself. He knew his own fatal weakness, he knew his own enduring strength. A wise man. A pathetic man. A weak man. A strong man. A repulsive man. A rare man...Much like all other men, yet very different, too. Once he wrote these sentences:

"If a friend of mine gave a feast and did not invite me to it, I should not mind it a bit.

"But if a friend of mine had a sorrow and refused to allow me to share it, I should feel it most bitterly.

"If he thought me unworthy, unfit to weep with him, I should feel it as the most poignant humiliation, as the most terrific mode for which disgrace could be inflicted on me.

"He who can look on the loveliness of the world and share its sorrow, and realize something of the wonder of both, is in immediate contact wtih divine things, and has got as near the gods' secret as anyone can get."

And there, in those five sentences, poor Oscar Wilde crept into the heart of man and begged to be the Sharer of Sorrows.

An instant later he might have been the cynic who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing, but when he wrote those sentences he was strong and true—and he knew that the most bitter humiliation is to be denied a share in the grief of a friend.

PROSPERITY'S RETURN CAN BE HASTENED BY SPREADING WORK

How many people do you help by giving them work upon which they can depend and for which you feel a responsibility?

Many persons of good income pride themselves upon doing their own work.

The situation is altered when a person cannot live happily without performing his own tasks.

But too many who are well able to pay will not hire help.

This they consider a personal matter, and, in a way, it is.

Too frequently ignorant help does more damage than the help is wirth.

But every family with a decent income should try to spread prosperity as far as possible by having certain jobs around the home done by those who would apprecite the chance to work.

An honest worker will try to please and will endeavor to do his job as directed.

THE AFGHAN

An afghan is a thing of wool
That's made in pretty strips.
But all that makes it beautiful
Comes not from finger tips.

I watch the needle as it plies
So swiftly out and in
And something from her lovely eyes
The stitches seem to win.

And though they could not find it there
Who'd tear the thing apart,
In every stitch she makes I'll swear,
Goes something of her heart.

A pretty thing at last 'twill be
To toss upon a chair;
But I, alone, shall know and see
The beauty that is there.

Yes, I alone, have watched it grow
In lovely rosy folds,
And only I shall truly know
How much of her it holds.

Governors Eye Presidency.

Macauley Letter Circulated.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—Future presidential possibilities among the governors are in side-by-side states. There is Gov. Philip La Follette, Progressive, of Wisconsin, whose reconstruction program for his state is likely to stand in high lights. Then there is Gov. Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota, whose broad liberal program of social reform appeals nationally.

Both men are young, energetic

These men are achieving in a quiet manner. They may be the generals on hand with the reserve forces when the forces of Coughlin-Long and Roosevelt-Johnson have spent themselves on the field of battle. Huey even may, in the end, turn to the support of one of them.

Philip La Follette lacks dramatics. Olson is thoroughly dramatic. Observe all the pictures of farmers marching on a somewhat recalcitrant state legislature at St. Paul—with Olson on hand, broadly smiling welcome.

WHO HANDS THIS OUT?

Workers are passing around typewritten copies of a letter denouncing the United States as a democracy. The letter was written in 1857 by Lord Macauley, English historian and statesman, to one H. S. Randall of New York.

(It must be recalled that Lord Macauley was a Whig party man, and the Whigs actually and sincerely disbelieved in democracy.)

The letter probably is such a severe attack on democratic institutions that any Fascist nation could incorporate it as a preamble to its dicta, once the constitution and all constitutional rights we e suspended.

Now where did the reproductions of this letter originate?

And who was so clever as to separate this particular writing from all the other writings of Lord Macauley?

For this letter prophesied a depression in this democracy of ours if it did not remain an industrial oligarchy.

Well, the United States did not remain a democracy, but did become an industrial oligarchy—and the depression came anyway.

Of course, there are scores of other writers of great rank, including such men as Henry George, who predicted that progress under an industrial oligarchy would bring untold poverty. (His greatest volume was entitled "Progress and Poverty.")

Those writers are not quoted by the men who are handing out to workers the reproduction of the Macauley letter.

If workers desire to forego a democracy in favor of a Fascist state, they have that right. Perhaps first they would desire to obtain some information on the plight of people, especially workers, in such countries as Germany, Austria, Italy, etc. The words of Thomas Jefferson and other American forefathers of democracy then may be considered more worthy of commendation than defamation.

(This is written in response to many requests for a comment on the reproduction of the Macauley letter being handed around.)

READ THE CONSTITUTION

"It is evident," writes R. T. Withers of New Castle, Pa., "that you never read the U. S. constitution, or you would know we do not need an amendment to prohibit courts from invalidating legislative acts. We only need a president who will respect his oath to preserve, protect and defend the constitution. That constitution declares acts passed by congress and signed by the president shall be law....

"Today even a Republican could be elected president in 1936 if he would declare that if elected he would respect his oath and make others do the same. It is coming. You cannot fool all the people all the time."

(It is true, the constitution does not specifically give courts the right to nullify laws passed by congress. Courts have assumed that power.)

TUESDAY, MAR. 12

Today's Yesterdays, Mar. 12, 1712—Queene Anne advertised her intention to "touch" for the King's Evil, i. e., scrofula.

The ceremony she conducted in accordance with centuries-old belief that the royal touch had power to cure this condition of "indolent glandular tumors, frequently in the neck, suppurating slowly and healing with difficulty," is memorable because the last person "touched", the last for all time in England, was the great Samuel Johnson, then 30 months old.

Mar. 12, 1789—Government of the United States embarked on its first socialist enterprise. Congress voted establishment of a federal postal system, under supervision of the Treasury department.

In the beginning, federal postage on one sheet of notepaper for 300 to 500 miles was 20 cents. From the start it was a loser, the postoffice is the only business enterprise in the country that has been able to lose money for 146 years!

Mar. 12, 1888—The most famous "spell of weather" in American history, the Blizzard of '88, began suddenly on a warm springy Sunday. High winds whipped up 21 inches of snow into drifts from 10 to 40 feet in New York and other eastern seaboard cities. Train and telegraph services stopped; news went from Boston to New York by way of transatlantic cable. In Manhattan, sandwiches were $4 each, newspapers 25 cents a copy. Yet very few persons died of its effect.

Mar. 12, 1917—The Russian Revolution broke out. On Saturday, when traffic had become a hopeless mess and business was at a standstill, police had fired on the mobs. That had made it necessary for the troops to be called out, and on Sunday the troops had used heir weapons. The troops had no stomach for the slaughter, and the Pavlovsky Regiment of Grenadier Guards went back to barracks in disorder. There men in the ranks spoke up and told officers they would not murder their brothers in the streets.

That was the turning point. On Monday, 18 years ago today, the military revolt broke loose, and the Russian Revolution was on.

The strikes, the bread riots which started it had been fomented by German agents to get Russia out of the war.

INSURANCE, NO END

The insurance house of Lloyd's, London, will gamble with any one at odds of 25 to 1 that Great Britain will not become involved in a war during 1935.

On payment of $10 the first of this year, a policy was issued guaranteeing $250 to the policy-holder in case Britain should get into a war within the year.

A policy based on the possibility of war between France and Germany in 1935 cost about $26 for each $500, which means odds of about 19 to 1.

Insurance covering the risk of war between any two European countries costs $10 to $15 per $100, and many business institutions are said to be buying war insurance of this kind.

Outcome the recent plebiscite in the Saar Basin, it is thought, will lower the rate of insurance against war between France and Germany.

Lloyds will insure against any contingency. They even insure ship owners against the loss of a ship already reported lost, for a price.

Answers Charges Made In Speech By Gen. Johnson Recently

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mar. 12.—Declaring that the defects of the New Deal are directly attributed to Bernard M. Baruch and his Wall street associates, Rev. Charles E. Coughlin lashed back at Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, whom he characterized as Baruch's puppet who "strutted upon the stage of this depression like a comic opera cream puff general," in a speech over a national radio network last night.

Father Coughlin referred sarcastically to Johnson's "underslung vocabulary" and asserted the former NRA chief "never faced an enemy nor successfully faced an issue," in a speech, the highlights of which were:

1. Denial of charges that he and Huey P. Long formed a political alliance, though Long's name was not mentioned.
2. Defended his citizenship.
3. Charged that Bernard M. Baruch was Johnson's "lord and master."
4. Declared he knew Johnson's attack on him was the beginning of a campaign to silence his voice in public affairs.
5. Answered the charge that he was a revolutionary by a declaration that "so were Washington and Jefferson in 1776."
6. Referred to Johnson as "a red herring, but a dead one, a cracked gramaphone, the New Deal's greatest casualty, a chocolate soldier and a political corpse whose ghost had returned to haunt."

Would Fingerprint All School Children

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Superintendent of State Police Lynn G. Adams today advocated a state-wide system of compulsory fingerprinting of school children, the prints to be filed with the Bureau of Vital Statistics to overcome objections to having them classified with records of criminals.

His recommendation came as the house studied the bill of Rep. John L. Powers, Allegheny, providing for fingerprinting of school children. Prints taken under provisions of the Powers bill would be filed with school authorities and withdrawn when pupils graduate.

Expresses Opinion

Expressing his opinion on the bill, Major Adams said:

"I have often advocated fingerprinting of school children. It should be compulsory throughout the state and all the records should be kept in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, completely divorced from criminal records or police files. Within a few years after such a system is started fingerprints of every one would be on file as a means of identification in cases of amnesia, kidnaping or to prove identity."

Seeing America First Minus $$ Easy, He Learns

(International News Service)

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—If you wish to see America and are short of money, just strike out an keep traveling.

Chad Wallin, Great Falls, newspaperman, tried it and reported results highly satisfactory.

The transient relief camps, Wallin declared, would solve your problems.

"Yielding to an impulsse," Wallin said, "I donned heavy clothing, overalls, a jacket, carried two blankets, a pipe and a can of tobacco—and without a penny in my pockets—climbed to the roof of a boxcar just to find out what the fate of the penniless traveler is.

"It isn't the happiest nor most comfortable condition in the world, and a decent bed, warm baths, good clothing and regular food have it beaten. But it is informative, and, strangely, a lot of younger men seem to enjoy it."

After you get started, Wallin advised, keep going, east, west, south or north. A few minutes of floor-sweeping or wood-spliting is all the effort required at each camp to obtain lodging and meals.

"After you've made the loop you want, you can turn around and retrace your steps, because you will have been long enough from the other camps to rate another stay," Wallin concluded.

Culture pearls are a Japanese specialty.

One should be composed in body and mind at mealtimes.

SANDALS BECOME FASHION FOR MEN

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Sandals for the male sex—that is the fashion decreed by the Middle Atlantic Shoe Retailers Association in convention here.

The models, however, will be "strongly masculine." They admit that the sock business ought to enjoy a prosperous year, too. No man will go bare-footed with his toe-nails decorated with the red polish that girls made popular last season at resorts.

GEN. JOHNSON MAKES REPLY

Assails Radio Speech By Father Coughlin Based On Falsehoods

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—Hugh S Johnson offered to pledge himself today to "fostering a non-partisan, non-political, nationwide movement to exterminate the influence of this pair of political termites", The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit's radio priest, and Senator Huey Long (D) of Louisiana.

The former recovery administrator made this offer, and some of his intimates say this is his actual intention since he is due to be engaged as a radio broadcaster by a commercial concern, in a prepared statement issued here after he heard the priest's radio reply to Johnson's recent broadcast. He had described the priest and Long as preaching revolutionary policies.

"Any person who heard both of our speeches knows that he (Coughlin) made not one single major conclusion that was not based on absolute falsehood or distortion of what I said and I will make this clear. Not one single aspersion was made that did not equally rest on falsehood."

Johnson served notice on Father Coughlin that he intends to answer him on "three important particulars: first, his absolute distortion of falsification of my simple statements; second, his falsification of facts in general, and third, his falsifications of my record and other circumstances."

DUBLIN, Mar. 6.—Irishmen in the United States are to be called on to supply materials for a section of the National Museum of Science and Art to be devoted to the Easter Rising of 1916 and the subsequent war of independence.

An official of the museum said that many of the young men who fought through all the wars later went to America, taking with them many letters, documents, and articles of clothing that would be of value to the present collection.

Indigestion may be aggravated by high heels as well as by tight shoes.

When the X-Ray Was Discovered, Giving Medicine Valuable Device

MEDICAL SCIENCE received one of its most valuable mechanical devices with the discovery in 1895 of the X-ray by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist. The X-ray, now widely used for treatment of various ailments, is regarded as one of the really important developments in the entire history of medical science. Roentgen called his new ray X-ray because he did not understand its nature, the X referring to the mathematical designation for an unknown quantity. In some quarters it is known as Roentgen ray.

CLAIM REYNOLDS DESERTED ANNE

(International News Service)

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Mar. 12—Zachary Smith Reynolds, boy heir to a $25,000,000 tobacco fortune, whose life was snuffed out the summer of 1932 by a mysteriously fired bullet from his own pistol, was "under contract to marry Libby Holman" at the time Zachary's first wife, Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith, North Carolina heiress, was obtaining a divorce in Reno, it was charged today as the second day's battle for the vast fortune got underway.

L. T. Hartsell, Anne's attorney, made the assertion during the course of his plea as the Cannon family, raising the question of the validity of Anne's divorce and the legality of Libby's marriage to Zachary, sought to prevent Libby and her infant son, from sharing in the estate.

Only the Cannon family stands in the way of acceptance of a settlement proposed by the Reynolds family that would permit the child of Anne and Libby to share almost equally in the fortune.

Attorneys for Libby's son, the Cabarrus Bank and Trust Company, Concord co-guardian of Anne's child and the Safe-deposit and Trust Co. of Baltimore, trustees of the $100,000,000 fortune left by the late R. J. Reynolds, Sr., who carved the tobacco emprie out of the sandy soil of the Piedmont Platau today agreed to the settlement.

He charged Zachary with deserting Anne after they quarreled over "trivial matters." Anne, he said, did not want the divorce and was persuaded against her will to obtain it.

Anne and Zachary, he said, quarreled during the summer of 1931 and Zachary "deserted her and went on a tour of Europe."

"After Zachary returned attempts were made for a reconciliation, but Anne was told his decision to leave her was final," Hartsell stated. "Later Zachary persuaded her to come to his home for a few days and they were friendly, but then he began to urge her to get a divorce and she told him she did not want a divorce then.

"Later he persuaded Anne to go to Reno and took her there in his plane.

"She did not know that at that time Reynolds was under contract to marry Libby Holman and the day the divorce decree was final they secured a marriage license in Monroe, Mich., and were married several days later.

"Anne had no intention of giving up her home in Concord and went to Reno for the sole purpose of securing a divorce."

Twenty Armed Foreigners Under Arrest In Italy; Belief Mussolini Is Marked

(International News Service)

ROME, Mar. 12.—Despite repeated denials that twenty armed foreigners have been arrested in the past week on suspicion of plotting against the life of Premier Mussolini, revelation Il Duce's two-mile automobile route from home to office has been changed today gave definite indication that unusual precautions are being taken.

Government officials and police blamed "foreign troublemakers" for the persistent reports of numerous arrests, but police did acknowledge that a traveler carrying a pistol was taken into custody recently.

Whether this arrest had any political significance was problematical. General belief was it had none.

Has New Route

Plainclothesmen now frequently halt both foreigners and Italians in the streets and demand their identification papers. All questions regarding this unusual activity in well-informed quarters met with the reply:

"The police must be looking for someone."

Meanwhile, Premier Mussolini's new route from his home to his office lined each day with plainclothesmen. Pedestrians and occupants of automobiles are scrutnized with equal care.

Kansas Comes Through With Snake Story

LURAY, Kansas, Feb. 22.—The Russell County prairies have a monster to rival that of Loch Ness.

Like Scotland's misplaced sea serpent, the Kansas snake has been seen and described by honorable men and women whose testimony cannot be impeached.

James Reiss, a farmer who lives north of Luray, reported the monster more than 20 years ago. He was mowing hay when the sickle bar was lifted 18 inches by a large snake.

The horses ran away, but Reiss stayed around to get a good look at the reptile. The snake traveled across the field 'as fast as a horse could lope," was about 25 feet long and had a fan-shaped head with a growth that resembled a horn or a cock's comb.

It may be that Reiss' neighbors nudged one another when they heard his story. But about 10 years later Tom Bronson, a negro, saw the snake—it was crawling from one tree to another, much as tropical snakes crawl from branch to branch on the same tree. The trees were 18 feet apart.

Four years ago Omar Cochrun, another farmer, saw the snake in a wheat field. That year the wheat grew unusually rank, yet the snake's head was reared above the growing grain. The head was as Reiss had reported 16 years previously, Cochrun said.

One theory is that the snake escaped from some circus that toured Kansas.

Banishing Illiteracy

Miss Margaret E. Brennecke

Reading, writing and a background of practical education may be China's weapon for banishing war lords and bandit gangs, says Miss Margaret E. Brennecke, who has just returned to the United States after five years working as secretary for the Y. W. C. A. in Chefoo, China. "Great masses of the people who can neither read nor write are pushed this way and that by military leaders," says Miss Brennecke, "and forced to pay tribute because they are both helpless and know not what else to do. China is now looking at this weakness and doing something about it by establishing schools everywhere."

The World War 20 Years Ago

By Clark Kinnaird, Author Of Today Is The Day

The Allies had been talking since Christmas of that happy hour when Kitchener's "Million" would arrive, by Easter at the latest, and the long German lines would be broken, the whole of France delivered, and the decision of the Marne enforced along the Rhine. They still did not realize the magnitude of German resources or effort; they did not appreciate how the heavy artillery, prepared to reduce fortresses and win battles, and the machine guns, which only in the German army had been provided by thousands to obtain victory in the decisive battle in the open field, had given Germany an advantage in trench warfare which would enable her to hold her lines, not for weeks or months, but for years.

Neither the Allies nor the world fully comprehended that when the German attack in Flanders ceased and the Germans began to send some of their main force eastward to aid Hindenburg in the attacks on Warsaw and prop up the crumbling Austrian armies, they left a field upon which they had missed victory by the narrowest margin. A little more pressure, and the Germans would not have missed arriving at the channel ports and crushing the whole western flank of the Allies. As Frank H. Simonds remarks:

"When the German flood at last subsided it left behind it a victorious but well-nigh-annihiliated foe in Flanders. To meet the storm the Allies had flung into the gap the most heterogeneous mass of men that Europe had known since the Mohammedan invasion. * * *

"And when at last the wave was spent, there stretched from Switzerland to the sea that long line of trenches which henceforth for more than two years would be the western front. Such an ending to a Franco-German campaign had been foreseen neither in Berlin nor in Paris. That such a condition would endure, not for months but for years, was a thing wholly hidden from German and French High Command."

The Germans believed that a few months of winter campaigning would dispose of the Russians, permit the capture of Warsaw, and that Spring would see the return to the west of the troops borrowed from Flanders. Then in one grand push, the Channel ports would be won.

The Allies were still ill-prepared to take the offensive but their commanders regarded it as imperative that they should deliver a decisive blow in the west or crack through the Dardanelles to provide Russia with aid, before Russia was beaten down by the whole weight of the German attack. Hence the offensive launched on the 11th of March, 20 years ago this week, at Neuve Chapelle, a few miles southwest of Lille. Lille, as the objective. The British, bolstered by the first Canadians to arrive in France, were the spearhead.

The attack was preceded by the first of those avalanches of artillery bombardment which were to become a regular procedure. Under this unexpected storm of fire, delivered from 300 guns concentrated in a narrow area, the German first-line trenches melted, the second line was shaken, and the British infantry made its first notable advance in the war with little opposition, finding the ground strewn with enemy dead and capturing hundreds of men overcome with the first shell-shock. There was a moment when it seemed the road to Lille was open. But beyond the first-line trenches, the British came under machine gun fire from scattered points in which the German second line had not been destroyed. Miscalculation of officers directing the curtain of artillery fire caused many to fall from their own guns.

The British army was being asked too much. It was fighting with rifle against machine guns, with shrapnel against high explosives, with jam-tin bombs against highly efficient products of prepared machinery. The British command had failed to provide reserves to follow the first waves of attack, and after the shock of surprise had passed, Germans were able to repulse all attacks with terrific slaughter. British losses surpassed that of the contingents who fought with Wellington at Waterloo. For a mile of territory and the ruins of Neuve Chapelle they had to pay with 13,000 lives. The German loss was 2,000 with 3,000 prisoners.

Coupled with this disheartening setback, was disaster at Gallipoli, which will be discussed here next week.

Crop Reduction Program Called Great Necessity

Must Restore Balance Between Production And Consumption Of Food Supply

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 12.—The administration's crop reduction program was "an absolute necessity to restore the balance between production and consumption," in the opinion of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Attacks Industry

Placing the trend toward an economy of scarcity at the door of industry, Wallace charged:

"Agriculture didn't start this economy of scarcity, which I view with abhorrence. Industry started it, when factories were literally plowed under. Agriculture would never do as industry did in 1930 and 1931. Curtailment of production will last only until the balance has been restored."

Responding to a question asked after his address last night at Temple University, Wallace denied foodstuffs are being destroyed and declared that in every agricultural staple there exists a large surplus despite efforts of the government, through the AAA, to bring about a decrease.

Pseudo-Nobility Find French Are Gullible, Also

(International News Service)

PARIS—Extradition from Italy of the self-styled Countess of San Germano, her mother and the so-called Russian Count Alexandre Alexandroff, to answer charges of blackmail and swindling case, is being sought by France.

More than 20 complaints were received against the trio in a single day by the French authorities.

The trio lived lives of luxury on the French Riveria and at Paris. They had two sources of income, police allege. First, their custom of purchasnig on credit in a big way, and secondly, J. Chanove, wealthy mining engineer, father of three children, who owns a large part of Le Tourquet, beach resort town popular with British and American high society.

It was revealed that Chanove had parted with $200,000 blackmail money to the false countess, in reality a convicted shoplifter.

The trio had their own yachts on the Riveria, and became popular with the "best people". They carefully abstained from bilking any of them, however, merely using these connections to persuade merchants and businessmen to let their bills hang over.

DIES NATURALLY AFTER 161 DUELS

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST—Geza Kanitz, Hungary's famous hero of 161 duels, lost a duel to death. He had passed at the age of 70 from natural causes.

"Gaza Bacsi," or "Uncle Geza," as he was popularly called by everybody, held up the old Hungarian tradition of equal honor for the civilians opposite the officers.

In 161 duels, 86 of which he fought with a sabre and 75 of which he fought with a pistol, he was only wounded once, seven years ago, when he was 63 years old.

'Man Who Will Not Die' In Another Narrow Escape

(International News Service)

SYDNEY, N. S. W.,—"I am well on the job and doing fine!"

The Man Who Will Not Die looked up cheerfully from the boat on which he was working.

"Look me over," he suggested. "You will find I'm in the pink!"

And so indeed he appeared to the reporter, who wanted to see whether Charles Patrick Thorne could really have come through all his shattering experiences.

Here they are in brief:

Wounded at Passchendage on the Western Front in 1917; invalided out of the army and sent back to Australia;

Almost died from pneumonic influenza;

Fell 32 feet from the top of a house;

Dangerously ill with peritonitis;

Bitten by a poisonous snake;

Fell 15 feet from a tree.

It was this last misadventure that nearly finished the Man Who Will Not Die.

He landed on his head. For hours he lay unconscious.

When he regained his senses, he found he could not move his hands, his body or his legs.

Folding his arms across his chest, he managed to crawl on elbows and knees about a mile through the scrub and find help.

After weeks in plaster, Thorne was removed to a Sydney hospital. There it was discovered he had fractured his spine. The doctors told him he could choose one of three courses:

1. Stay in bed for the rest of his life—with weights suspended from his neck;

2. Walk out—and chance his spine "slipping" and instant death;

3. An operation—with equal chances of a cure or death.

Makes Incubator For Baby Himself

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH.—Four 100-watt electric light bulbs mounted under a doll crib, comprise the ingenious incubator devised by Arthur Weber for his infant son who tipped the scales at only four pounds at birth last Dec. 9.

In the cloth-covered "incubator" the lights maintained a temperature of 90 degrees until the infant, Roy Arthur Weber, had reached seven pounds. Recently, one light less has been used, reducing the temperature to 87 degrees. Weber constructed the crib home because he couldn't afford a regulation incubator.

$15 Bill Costs Them $100,000

(International News Service)

NICE—Haircuts and shaves worth $15 have cost a French family $100,000. This is how it happened:

In 1895 M. Louis Leroy owed his barber 76 francs for haircuts and shaves.

He was unable to pay, so the barber sued him.

M. Leroy was fined and, to raise the money, he was forced to sell some land he owned in Nice for 14,000 francs.

But, owing to a misunderstanding, the money was never handed over and the barber's bill remained unpaid.

Both M. Leroy and the barber have since died, but the land has become one of the most valuable plots in Nice, being today worth over $100,000.

His children recently appealed to have the sale of the land declared illegal, on the grounds that the money was never paid.

Now the Court of Appeals has directed that the 14,000 francs, the original price of sale of the land, be paid to the heirs of M. Leroy, but has disallowed them any further indemnification.

This sum today is worth less than $1,200.

Town Terrorized By Gang Of Boys

(International News Service)

WILDWOOD, N. J.,—Police and residents alike of this quiet little town breathed easier today with "Buccaneer Jim" and his pals safely behind bars.

They were captured in an old barn, from the walls of which leered, in proper piratical fashion, three human skeletons.

In a three-month reign, the band of five burned two summerhouses, two bath houses, wrecked considerable property, and looted the local high school.

Charges of arson, larceny, and unlawful entry were lodged against the five culprits.

Sons Of Legion To Have Election

Will Discuss Projects At Meeting Of Squadron On Friday Evening

Election of permanent officers and discussion of projects will feature the meeting of the Sons of the American Legion at their meeting to be held in the Legion Home, Friday evening, at 7:30.

At the meeting last Friday evening, there was an exhibition of model airplanes, held in conjunction with the talk by Pilot L. G. Theakstone. These had been constructed by the boys and won the praise of those who saw them.

Pilot Theakstone, in his talk, emphasized the necessity of this kind of work in order to become familiar with the principles of aero-dynamics. Because of this fact and the interest displayed by the boys, it has been decided to take up projects of this nature as a squadron activity, in addition to the regular work of the squadron.

The post is making arrangements to present the members of the squadron with membership buttons.

Plan Library For Hillsville

Residents To Meet Tonight To Consider Move To Secure Library

PATTERSON WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, treasurer of the New Castle free public library, is to deliver the principal address. Patterson will tell them of library operation. Presiding will be Lee McCombs, chairman of a temporary board which called the public meeting.

Auburn Models Reflect Trend

Designed In Manner Of Most Costly Cars, Offering Departure From Ordinary

Quality is the keynote of the new 1935 Auburn straight-eight and six-cylinder lines on exhibit at the automobile show.

These models, designed in the manner of America's most costly motor cars, offer a distinct departure from the commonplace. The body lines are distinctive without the loss of dignity. At the same time they reflect the present trend toward streamlining without freakishness.

The 1935 Auburns are big, roomy automobiles, luxuriously finished, smartly designed. They should find acceptance among those people who want more than mere transportation.

In appearance these cars are long and low with fleet lines. The straight eight is powered with a 115 h. p. Lycoming engine, on a 127-inch wheelbase chassis. The engine of the six develops 85 h. p. while the wheelbase of this big, roomy car is 120 inches.

Throughout both the six and straight eight lines there is the decided stamp of the fine motor car. From the radiator emblem to the twin tail lights the new Auburns are thorobreds. Through the deft handling of the longitudinal lines the hoods of the cars appear unusually long and the distinctive radiator design and latticed louvres, augment this length.

The New Castle Auto Sales Co., 108 S. Mercer street street, are local Auburn dealers.

Two Miners Are Killed By Rocks

Fall Of Rocks In Mine Near Indiana Pa. Traps Two With Fatal Injuries

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., Mar. 12.—Trapped in two falls of rock at the Starford mine of the Nilbar Coal company near here, Frank Yaras, 20, and John Karfonto, 48, both of Starford, were dead today.

The first fall caught Yaras and held him entombed as his companion, Frank Russell, escaped unhurt. Russell summoned a rescue crew of four men, one of whom was Karfonto, who extricated Yaras. A second fall entombed Karfonto after Yaras had been pulled out of the mine.

Yaras died after being removed from the mine. Karfonto, rushed to a hospital, died several hours later.

New Hudson Line Will Be In Show

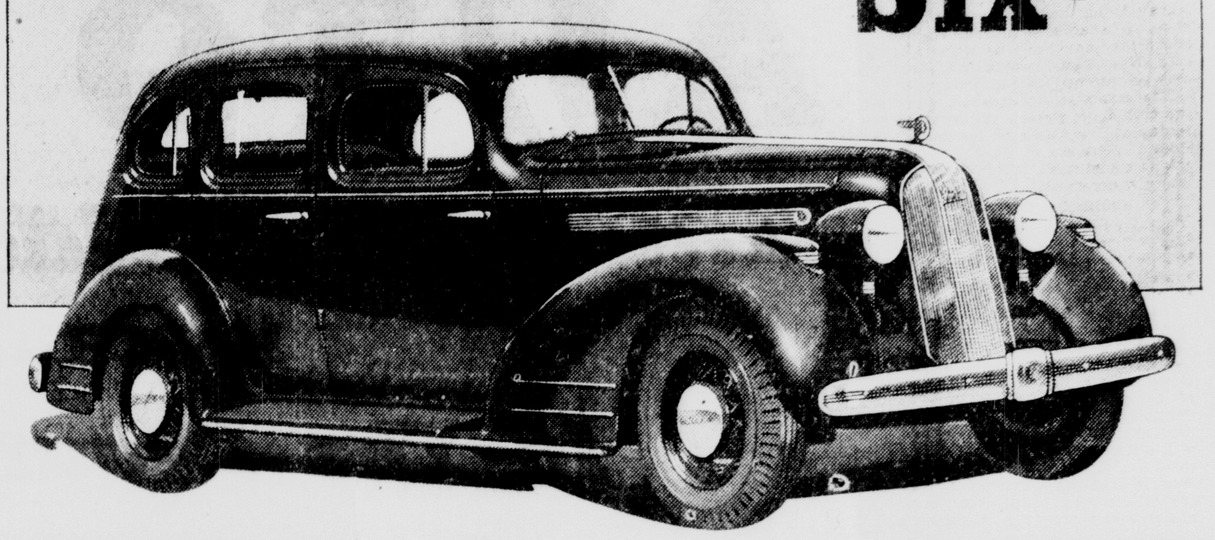
Castle Garage Showing Hudson And Terraplane Models For 1935 At Exhibit

The new Hudsons and Terraplanes for 1935 will be exhibited by the Castle garage, 40 S. Mercer street, at the New Castle auto show Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week. Featured by lower, longer lines with more power, even finer performance and two of the latest developments of the industry, the new cars are expected to create a tremendous amount of interest. The two developments which are entirely new to the industry are the steel-roofed body which incloses the passengers in a silent, solid steel compartment with perfect ventilation and the new electric gearshift which entirely clears the front compartment and gives real finger-tip control of the car.

From a performance standpoint the Hudson and Terraplane models all offer improvements for 1935 over 1934. Detailed advancement in engineering and construction in the engine has resulted in increased power without any change in the basic dimensions. As a result of these improvements the power-weight ratio of the new cars is considerably more advantageous than for 1934 with a resulting increase in acceleration, hill climbing ability and top speed.

From an appearance standpoint the cars are lower and longer. The radiator grills have been improved with a higher and narrower effect. On both the Terraplane and Hudson, streamline trunk models are available for any sedan or coach.

OUT OF PONTIAC'S GREAT MODERN PLANT comes A New Low Priced Six



COMPANION CAR TO A FINER, MORE LUXURIOUS, LOW-PRICED EIGHT

Scarcely had Pontiac dealers opened their showrooms on announcement morning when the news traveled over America—"Pontiac has done what builders of low-priced cars have tried to do for years. Pontiac has brought fine car quality and performance into the low-price field, and combined them with economy and dependability few cars at any price can approach." But no rumor, however flattering, can do justice to the new low-priced six from Pontiac. The public promptly christened it the most beautiful thing on wheels. The new bodies represent the greatest safety advance in a decade—solid steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher. Nor is that all. The Pontiac Six gives you the super-safety of big, triple-sealed hydraulic brakes—the extra long life of silver-alloy engine bearings—smoother, livelier six-cylinder performance, and numerous other advancements which make the price of the car phenomenal.

How can Pontiac give so generously of everything motorists want and need? The answer lies in its great plant. Only a plant so modern could build a low-priced car so fine.

Chinese Women Strike Against Marriage Code

Object To Single Code Of Morals As Implied By The Statute

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Mar. 12—Shanghai is the scene of one of the most unusual strikes in the world—organized by beautiful Chinese girls as a protest against the exemption of married men from the penalties in the new Criminal Code against unfaithful spouses.

The code provides for imprisonment up to one year for married women found guilty of misconduct. No punishment is prescribed for male offenders.

A group of girls of good families of eligible age are "on strike" against entering into matrimony with the young men of Shanghai until the code is revised.

At present the strike is a local one, but unless the Government listens to their arguments, the fair strikers threaten to start a "national strike of women" against the disputed clause.

The Government's difficulty is that if men were not punished for misconduct, thousands of existing Chinese husbands would be technically liable to imprisonment because of the practice of taking concubines.

The agitation carried on by women throughout the country against the "misconduct" clause has already induced the Government to reconsider the matter, but they have not yet decided whether to make men liable to the same penalty as their wives or to cancel the clause altogether.

Briton Buries His Two U. S. Wives In Same Grave

(International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 12 —Two American women from the same New York universtiy town, wives of the same man, today occupy the same grave in England.

Twice Sir Charles Marston, noted Biblical archaeologist, went to the United States for his bride.

The first time, in 1895, he married Miss Louise Isabel Johnson, only daughter of William Gordon Johnson, of Ithaca, N. Y. She became the mother of two daughters, one of whom survives. She died in 1921.

In 1922 Sir Charles sought his second American bride—also at Ithaca. She was Miss Ruth Miller, daughter of W. H. Miller, of that city.

These Little Pigs Wouldn't Stay Home, Farmer Puzzled

(International News Service)

MANSON, Ia., Mar. 12 —George Christensen, Manson farmer, found himself in a predicament because of the AAA, Iowa law, and 21 pigs who wouldn't stay at home.

The 21 pigs cost him nothing, but he cannot sell them, give them away, or otherwise use them.

His trouble started when the porkers wandered onto his farm and made themselves at home in his pasture. Christensen advertised for the owner, but got no answer.

Iowa law permits stray animals to be sold or used, but not until they are six months old, and besides the 21 pigs would put Christensen way over his limit in the corn-hog reduction program.

He has tried driving the pigs away but nearby farmers won't have them.

Meanwhile, they've run up a big feed bill.

End Severe Cough Quickly, At One Fourth the Cost

Mix This At Home In 2 Minutes. No Cooking!

You'll never know how quickly you can conquer a bad cough, in young or old, until you try this famous recipe. You not only make your money go four times as far, but you will also have a much better remedy than any you can buy ready-made.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup, and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a stubborn cough. For real results, you've never seen its equal. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals inflamed membranes and quickly eases chest soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you.

Rotary Supports Tin Mill Efforts

CASILLO HEARD AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON

New Castle's Rotary club, in a letter dispatched late Monday to officials of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company at Pittsburgh, asked that company to do everything within its power to again open the New Castle works of the company.

"The Rotary club of New Castle," the letter said in part, "wishes to assure you that it will cooperate with you to the fullest extent in doing anything that is necessary to be done to enable your company to grant the prayer of the workers in your New Castle works that work may be resumed in that plant."

The complete letter was read to the club at its weekly luncheon yesterday at The Castleton by Louis B. Round, member of Rotary's civic affairs committee. It received unanimous endorsement.

Casillo Day's Speaker.

Speaking before the club was Nicholas R. Casillo, senior high school science instructor. His interesting subject was "My Alaskan Experiences".

On Monday, March 25, the Rotarians will play host to a large group of rural residents at a Rural-Urban Day program at which M. S. McDowell, State College, Pa., director of agricultural extension work in Pennsylvania, will speak. The dinner-meeting will be the return treat of the Rotarians for a recent dinner the rural men staged for Rotary at Westfield grange. Thomas A. Gilkey of the club's rural-urban committee is in charge of arrangements.

At Miami, Fla., today, Fred L. Rentz, member of the club here, was to receive the Rotarians' heartiest birthday congratulations because the club passed such a motion yesterday.

Vice President Harold R. McCulloch presided Monday in the absence of President Robert A. Eckles, who is ill.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., March 11, three arrests on charges as follows: Drunkenness 2 and drunkenness and begging 1.

City police late yesterday took into custody a 19-year-old boy, last name, Musser, giving his address as Indiana, Pa., on a charge of being a runaway. Police of Indiana were communicated with so that his parents could be apprised of his whereabouts.

Council has referred to the civil service board for a report and recommendation on information secured by a registration board when W. E. Howard registered to vote. It was intimated by councilmen that someone has questioned his eligibility to a position in the fire department. As yet council has not stated who is behind the move.

Glenn Throop RWD engineer, is filling the place of Harry Hoskins, city engineer, who has been ill for a week. He is carrying on along the same lines as did Mr. Hoskins, whom Solicitor White has characterized "as a man who tried in every conceivable way to create jobs for the unemployed by providing projects."

Streets in various parts of the city are in a very bad condition due to the recent warm spell. The city streets department attaches claim that it is a difficult problem to secure ashes. In years gone by the city got the ashes free. The city now pays 25 cents per load.

Council has agreed to pay a Mansfield, O., garage-owner $4 for storage of the city car stolen here and located at Mansfield, O. The thief, it is reported, put the car there and had some repairs made to the car. The city will not pay this charge. The four new tires which were on the car, however, were removed by someone, it is charged.

Lower Prices On Studebaker Cars

Reductions Run As High As $48 On Some Models Is Announcement

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Mar. 12—Free from legal entanglements and fit for action, the new Studebaker Corporation, once more "The Great Independent" today unexpectedly hurled a challenge to the automobile industry by sharply reducing delivered prices of the 1935 miracle ride Studebaker cars. Reductions run as high as $48 on some models.

The price announcement was made by Paul G. Hoffman, president. In his statement to local newspaper men, Mr. Hoffman explained how the reductions which are being passed on to the public have been made possible.

"Studebaker is down to fighting trim" said Mr. Hoffman. "Wev'e shaken off many burdensome expenses. We have millions of dollars in new capital. We have no bank loans. We have no preferred stock. Our plants have been written down from $49,000,000 to $15,000,000. All of these things have reduced our manufacturing costs—and we're passing the reductions on to the public right away.

"The price reductions are made without reducing the quality of our cars in any way. They are the same well designed, well made 1935 Studebakers as the day before yesterday and yesterday. The savings have all come about as a result of our company coming out of receivership and getting on our own feet again. We feel that our new low prices, our remarkable automobiles, and the high spirit of our entire organization is going to make us a figure of increasing importance in the automotive picture."

Prospects For Home Remodelization In Rural District Are Now Ready

Work of compiling a list of prospects for home modernization and repair work in the rural districts of the county, has been completed at the local FHA office, and will be available to subscribers who have assisted in financing the better housing campaign of the FHA in the county.

The work of conducting the survey in the county has been greater than in the city as it has been necessary to furnish transportation for those employed on the survey.

AMERICA NEEDED THIS HIGH-SPEED SAFETY CAR

Auto Show Crowds To See the New 1935 Plymouth

This New Car Offers You:

New high-efficiency Engine . . . more power on 12% to 20% less gasoline and oil.

New Torpedo-type Body of Safety-Steel . . . the safest body construction known.

Improved Hydraulic Brakes stop quicker. Centrifuse Drums add life to brake linings.

New Syncro-Silent Transmission. New Clutch requires 30% less pedal pressure.

New Mola Steel Front Springs and New Weight Distribution give "Floating Ride."

Sidesway Eliminator gives safety on curves.

"Look at All Three" at the Auto Show. Compare the new Plymouth—feature by feature.

It's a completely New Car, Designed from the Ground up, to meet Today's Traffic Needs.

THE IMPORTANT THING to see at the Auto Show this year is Plymouth's new High-Speed Safety Car. It's an entirely new kind of automobile.

It's a beautiful car . . . smartly streamlined . . . and roomier than ever.

But the really vital news about this car lies in the great engineering story behind it . . . probably the greatest step forward in low-priced car design in the past 15 years.

Be honest with yourself! You're driving faster than you did a few years ago. Everybody is.

With this greater speed has come an urgent demand for GREATER SAFETY. That's the engineering reason behind the new 1935 Plymouth.

First, Plymouth engineers improved the engine. Gave it more power, not alone for greater speed, but for lightning get-away and quick mobility.

Next, they did everything to make driving easier on the driver.

With new Syncro-Silent Transmission, all gears shift noiselessly. And the famous Plymouth Hydraulic Brakes have been made longer-lived . . . with more square inches of braking surface.

"Floating Ride"; What it Does

This year, you will hear a lot about Plymouth's "Floating Ride." This is something that you've got to experience for yourself.

Suffice it to say that through new, scientific weight distribution, the development of Mola Steel front springs and a new sway eliminator . . . you simply glide over the bumps. It does to riding what Floating Power did to engine vibration.

As we told you before, the new Plymouth is a beautiful automobile.

But the smart exterior is only a hint of the surprise you'll have when you look inside.

You'll be delighted with the extra room. You'll marvel at the comfort five full-sized people can now enjoy.

And you'll feel safe and secure in the knowledge that you're riding in a body of STEEL . . . reinforced with steel. A stronger Plymouth body than ever.

Plymouth has always urged the public to "Look at All Three." And if ever there were a time to compare the leading low-priced cars, this is it.

See the new Plymouth at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler showroom. Don't miss an opportunity to keep up with the latest automobile developments.

According to insurance company statistics, the average speed of automobiles on the road today is 20 miles an hour faster than it was in 1925.

County commissioners have let a contract to the William M. Clark Company for new boilers for the county home to cost $1,734. The only other bid was that of Frank Andrews and Son, which was $1,875. The present boilers have been in use since the building was erected. In connection with the installation of new boilers, some of the plumbing will have to be renewed. Minerals in the water at the home are hard on boilers and plumbing.

Petitions are being circulated to have the state take over a small section of road, leading west from the Perry highway north of Harlansburg, and connecting with the East Brook and Harlansburg road, near the residence of Thomas Cooper. The section is about three-fourths of a mile long. There is also being circulated a petition for the improvement of a road along Hettenbaugh run, near East Brook to a point near the Thomas Cooper residence. The petitioners want a Pinchot road built.

County Commissioners were at Covert's station today, looking over repairs which Bert Dinsmore is making to the Covert's station bridge. Planks on the bridge have become decayed and are being replaced. The Covert's station bridge was built before the days of heavy trucks, and the loads which are being hauled over it now is a severe strain.

Only three Home Owners Loan corporation mortgages were placed on record at the register and recorder's office last week. They totaled $7,322. The cases which were under consideration when the order came that no more new funds were to be loaned have now been pretty well cleaned up. Indications are that another appropriation will be made by congress soon when the work will again be taken up. Both the county and the city treasurers report a big falling off in delinquent tax collections since the activities of the Home Owners Loan have been curtailed. In all there were sixty-three instruments recorded at the register and recorder's office last week of which 19 were deeds.

Is public sentiment on the question of capital punishment changing, or was it merely a co-incidence, that twenty-one jurors out of forty called to serve on a murder case on trial at court, expressed themselves as opposed to capital punishment? There was probably never a panel of jurors called in the Lawrence county court, on which there were so many jurors opposed to capital punishment. Fifteen or twenty years ago, when murder cases were called, it was rarely that a juror could be found, who was opposed to capital punishment. The present panel with half the jurors opposed to it, was in vivid contrast. It must be admitted that every person has a right to his or her own views on this subject, but when many people say that despite the law and the evidence, they could not bring a verdict of guilty, knowing that the penalty would be death, it seems to indicate a decided change in public sentiment. Whether this change is for the public good is another matter. Formerly when a prisoner was found guilty of murder in the first degree, it meant death. Now the jury has the right to say whether the penalty shall be death or imprisonment for life. This is another indication of changing sentiment.

Commission as Notary Public, for John M. Bevan has been entered at the register and recorder's office, together with bond.

Once More East To West.
A Brave Business Man.
The Last Of Baby Doe Tabor.
Rocky Mountain Sky.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Mar. 12.—FINE WEATHER, beautiful climate, going through high Colorado toward the Pacific Coast, up to the mouth of the tunnel at Raton, N. M., more than seven thousand feet above sea level, and on into this high country, men are cheerful, in spite of depression. For instance, at Trinidad, a mile to the east, this conversation took place between two "business men," one the writer, the other a small boy offering lead pencils for sale:

"How old are you?"
"Eight."
"What is your name?"
"Paul."
"What is your last name?"
"Reid."
"How many pencils do you sell in a day?"
"None."

He sold one then, and his expression changed to a smile.

Denver, perched one mile high off to the north, sends the end of a romantic story of old days when men got rich in a hurry, and poor as quickly.

Far back in the early days when silver and gold were plentiful and money "easy," everybody knew H. A. W. Tabor, the silver king United States senator, friend of grand opera, poor at the end of his life, and everybody knew of his wife, whose interesting name was Baby Doe Tabor.

She saw her husband grow rich, quarrelled with him when they were rich, saw him grow poor, wept on his bier, never forgot his last words. "Don't let go of the Matchless mine."

For thirty-six years, since the "silver king's" death in 1899, Baby Doe Tabor watched near the mouth of the Matchless mine, growing poorer all the while, helped by heirs of other miners made rich by her husband, and fortunate enough to keep their money.

NOW BABY DOE has been found dead, her body frozen stiff, all alone on the floor of her little shack at the mine mouth.

Old, worn, perhaps hungry, she was a different "Baby Doe" from the one covered with furs and laces, who shone brilliantly in the reflected glory of her "silver king," sitting in the gorgeous box, always reserved for her in the Tabor Opera House. The Denver Post says truly:

"The determination and courage of her later tragic years were a match for the beauty and sparkle of her carefree early womanhood."

THANKS to the Rev. Father Horgan, Catholic priest of Leadville, Mrs. Talbot's body will be moved to Denver, and there, friends co-operating, she will be buried beside the body of her husband.

His dust will be moved "from the old weed-grown Calvary cemetery, and put in a grave next that of his wife."

Father Horgan testifies that the "silver king's widow "was always devout and kept a rosary in her cabin."

The church that she attended, at Leadville, has the highest steeple in the world, its point two miles above sea-level.

PERHAPS SHE and her husband are side by side now in the spirit, far from the "Matchless mine."

Also, in the days of ardent prospecting, old miners may ask themselves:

"WHY did Tabor tell his wife never to give up the Matchless mine from which he took carloads of almost pure silver?"

Others may uncover and enjoy the wealth over which "Baby Doe" watched for so many years, gradually growing old. If he were alive Bret Harte could write a good poem about all that.

FARMERS back East will want to know that a trap has been invented that catches two or three hundred crows a day easily. It is a wire enclosure, left in an open field with bait that appeals to crows.

The crowds walk in, but cannot walk out. Such a trap extensively used, might exterminate the entire race of crows, and farmers might discover too late, that they were worth more to him than the corn they ate.

Crows eat field mice, grasshoppers and other farm nuisances. A western state once put a high bounty on coyotes because they killed lambs. After they had killed all the coyotes, field mice on which the coyotes lived principally, ate all the alfalfa. There was nothing for the lambs to eat.

Experimenting with "nature's balance" is dangerous.

OFFICIALS announce that in Colorado's national parks last year, "an extermination campaign" destroyed thirteen thousand one hundred porcupines, killed because they injured trees. In eastern forests, after porcupines had been killed extensively, many deer were found on the snow dead of starvation.

The porcupine climbs a tree, bites off the ends of small limbs with the succulent buds attached, and deer beneath the tree, eat the limbs and buds before the porcupine can climb down and eat them himself.

Thirteen thousand one hundred porcupines killed in Colorado's forests, many mean many hungry deer.

CHIEF ACOOSE, dead near Grenfell, Saskatchewan, deserves your admiration. The old chief, nearly 100 years old, is the Indian that once chased an elk, on foot, for seventy miles, killed the elk when it could run no longer.

Man, "fearfully and wonderfully made," can outrun any animal, in time.

WHEN ARBUCKLE, the coffee man, sent a wild horse to Rosa Bonheur, he hired men to follow the horse on foot, never letting it stop to rest, finally capturing it.

No horse living could run as far in six days as a man on Long Island can run. A famous Irish runner, afterward elected mayor, ran more than 600 miles in six days, in old Madison Square Garden.

DON'T FAIL to cross this continent and see your own country. The trip is easy, short, comfortable.

CARBON WOMAN IS OUT OF HOSPITAL

Mrs. Rosie Catale of Carbon, who was injured in an automobile accident on the New Castle-Ellwood City highway Sunday afternoon, has returned to her home from the New Castle hospital. Some improvement was reported today in the condition of Dominic Maturo of Hillsville, who was also hurt in the accident. Mr. Maturo is confined to the New Castle hospital.

New Chevrolets Will Be Displayed

Master De Luxe Models Emphasize Beauty And Style, And Feature Economy

Chevrolet, Master De Luxe models, strongly emphasizing beauty and style, and new standard models, featuring high-powered performance with economy ,will be displayed at the New Castle Auto Show by the Shenango Motor Co., local Chevrolet dealers.

Master De Luxe body models include sedan, coach, business coupe, with luggage compartment, sport coupe, with rumble seat, sport sedan and town sedan. In addition to the coach, business coupe, phaeton and sport roadster, which comprised the Standard line last year, the 1935 new standard line includes a full-sized four-door sedan and a sedan delivery car for light commercial uses.

The 1935 New Standard has been given virtually the same performance ability as the Master De Luxe which, however, departs distinctly from previous Chevrolets in striking advances in design of body and trim. The engines incorporating many improvements over the 1934 Master motor, are of the same size and design in both models, while in the chassis the chief difference is the presence in the Master De Luxe of Chevrolet enclosed knee-action suspension, now entering its second year improved in construction and operation.

Mechanically, the two models have in common numerous important improvements in construction and design. Both engines have an original system of high pressure jets supplying oil to connecting rod bearings, and electro-plated pistons, heavier crankshafts, and other new features that contribute to better performance, smoothness, and economy. In both chassis, newly designed clutches, more effective braking systems, stiffer frames and other advances in design give greater ease of operation, increased durability, and a better ride.

Two Dealers Are Showing Plymouth

The J. R. Rick Motor Car Co., and The Chambers Motor Co., local Plymouth distributors, will exhibit 1935 Plymouth models at New Castle's Auto Show Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in the Cathedral.

Introduced in six beautiful body types the new Plymouths, streamlined in design, have added engineering developments which today more than ever before gives emphasis to its claim of being "America's best engineered low price car."

To quickly catalog the outstanding features of the new car, the 1935 Plymouth has an 82 hoursepower engine with a compression ratio of 6.7 to 1; a torpedo-type all-steel safety body; syncro-silent transmission; a new "ride" achieved by a redistribution of weight, plus a new front spring assembly, "Floating Power" engine mountings and hydraulic brakes.

Mr. Chrysler, in announcing the new Plymouth some weeks ago, said that it was created to satisfy a critical need in America at the present time for safer transportation.

"Every indication points to more automobiles on the streets and highways in 1935, than at any time since 1929," he said. "And, the automobiles of today are much faster than those of six years ago. They also must be safer."

The Plymouth is presented in six body types, all having a wheelbase of 113 inches.

It was no joke for Jan Wagner, 49, who for weeks had been practising his small but important part in a play given by local amateurs. He rushed off the stage, and out of the theatre, before anyone could stop him, and hanged himself.

To Seek Action On State Flood Control Plans

Thirteen Dams Are Proposed In Western Pennsylvania Project

ONE OF DAMS ON SHENANGO

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Congressional action will be sought this week by advocates of the projected $70,000,000 13-dam flood control program in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky, Senator William B. Rodgers, president of the tri-state authority said today.

Rodgers said bills would be introduced at Washington designed to insure inclusion of the program in the $4,880,000,000 federal works relief fund now before the Senate. The bills would make construction of the dams preferred projects.

Construction of the 13 dams, Rodgers said, would provide jobs for 57,000 men for a year in addition to indirect employment for thousands employed in concerns where materials are made. Nine of the dams would be in Western Pennsylvania, three in West Virginia and one in Kentucky. Application for funds with which to construct the Pennsylvania dams already has been made with the state planning board which has tentatively approved the project and forwarded it to Washington.

One of the West Virginia dams is under construction, that in the Tygard valley. This dam is in addition to the proposed project but if al were completed it would fit into the scheme of flood control. Senator Rodgers seeks to have the $17,725,000 dam above Warren, on the Allegheny river, started next. The other Pennsylvania dams proposed are:

Conemaugh river, above Saltsburg, $14,097,000; Crooked creek, below Tunnelsville, $2,298,000; Loyalhanna creek, above Saltsburg, $2,640,000; Mahoning creek, below Hamilton, $3,322,000; Redbank creek, above Mayport, $5,969,000; Shenango river, above Sharpsville, $2,033,000; Tionesta creek, at mouth, $3,488,000, and French creek, $3,867,000.

Six New Models In Chrysler Line

Airflow And Airstream Lines Are Featured In Models Designed This Year

Six models comprise the Chrysler line for 1935, many of which will be on display at the automobile show this week. Four of the 1935 models are an improved and refined version of the Airflow, which made its appearance in January 1934 and attained such popularity that in spite of the fact that full production was not accomplished until April, some 24,000 were placed in the hands of owners.

The other two cars, designated as the Airstream line, are a Six and an Eight which replace the conventional cars formerly built by Chrysler. As these cars are in a lower priced field than the Airflow, they do not embody all of the features of that line, some of which involve construction to expensive to be included. They do however bear a close family resemblance to the Airflow and they have been given the advantage of many of the things that Chrysler has learned in a year's experience with the revolutionary design that came out a year ago.

There has been a change in the appearance of the Airflow brought about by a new and pleasing treatment of the front end, affecting hood, radiator, headlights and louvers. Instead of the hood's having uniform width from cowl to front as in the 1934 cars, a new curved center-section terminating in a pointed radiator has been adopted. This gives the car an appearance of greater length.

Defense Counsel Will Pay Appeal

Defense Counsel For Hauptmann Will Stand Cost Of Appeal To Higher Court

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 12.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's appeal will be paid for by the defense and not by the state of New Jersey, it was learned today.

The surprising announcement was made by Defense Attorney Frederick A. Pope, who said, "There never was any thought that the state would pay for the printing of the trial record." Asked why Hauptmann had signed a pauper's oath, Pope said, "We would have had to reimburse the state anyway."

Brandon Smith Says Divorce In Reno Was Valid

Second Husband Of Anne Cannon Reynolds Turns On Former Wife In Estate Fight

(International News Service)

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Mar. 12.—Brandon Smith, divorced second husband of Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith, towel heiress, today turned on his former wife and asserted the Reno divorce she obtained in 1931 from Zachary Smith Reynolds was valid.

Anne contends she was forced to divorce Reynolds, mysteriously slain young heir to tobacco millions, so he could marry Libby Holman. She is seeking the entire $25,000,000 estate to which young Reynolds would have fallen heir when he reached 28 as his part of the $100,000,000 fortune left by the late picturesque R. J. Reynolds, Sr., tobacco king.

New Buick Styles Appeal To Women

Attractive Exteriors And Roomy Interiors Add To Buick's Popularity

The brilliant styling of Buick cars for 1935, their pleasing appointments and luxurious comfort and their utter ease and simplicity of driving control, present a balanced ensemble that offers compelling appeal to women motorists.

The good taste in car design which Buick initiated in 1934 was no mere happy accident. It was based upon a solid foundation of careful, painstaking research into the trend of public preference. Thousands upon thousands of questionnaires revealed the course of that trend.

Buick's rising popularity and increasing sales during the year confirmed the accuracy of that preliminary research, as did a later survey conducted by the General Motors Customer Research staff in which Buick was voted "best looking car in its price class."

Many of the women questioned in this survey pointed out that the enduring appeal of the Buick design was well in accord with the car's reputation for dependability and long service.

Design experts also point out that Buick styling "fits Buick like a glove" encompassing the design elements of dignity as well as beauty and an endurance of style that will make the Buick of today a distinctive car four years from now.

In keeping with the attractive exteriors are roomy interiors luxuriously appointed and equipped with every convenience.

Balanced Economic System Forecast

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—A balanced economic system was forecast today by Senator Wagner (D) of New York, if his labor relations bill is enacted.

Appearing before the Senate labor committee, Senator Wagner explained the bill contains provisions for the clarification of section 7-A of the NRA and creation of a permanent national labor relations board.

Stabilize Business

"This bill," he said, "would stabilize and improve business by laying the foundations for the amity and fair dealings upon which permanent progress must rest."

Senator Wagner warned that if section 7-A is allowed to languish "we shall be confronted by intermittent periods of peace at the price of economic liberty, dangerous industrial warfare and dire depression."

Wagner recommended that section 7-A be applied to all industries affecting commerce, "rather than merely codified industries."

Reply Of Council To Library Board On Building Plan

Council's reply to the library board's proposal that the city purchase from the U. S. government the North Mercer street building formerly used as a postoffice and give it over for library purposes in exchange for the building the library now occupies in North Jefferson street has been delivered by Solicitor White to the board. The council has informed the directors they will not issue bonds for its purchase but points out ways the library board may be able to secure the building.

The letter is as follows:

Letter To Boa: '.

Board of Directors
Free Public Library
New Castle, Pa.
Gentlemen:—

The members of council of the city of New Castle have considered fully your proposal that the city of New Castle purchase from the United States government the old postoffice building and turn it over to you for library purposes, taking back from you a relinquishment of the use of the building you now occupy, so that your present building might be used by the city to erect a new city building or for whatever other city purpose it might be suited.

To carry out the plans you suggest would require that the city issue bonds to pay for the old postoffice building and the members of the council all believe that it is not for the best interests of the people of the city of New Castle at this time to issue any bonds for any purpose that is not absolutely necessary. It is the policy of the present council to get the city out of debt as soon as that can reasonably be done.

The members of council do recognize, however, that there is a pronounced public demand for better library facilities and every member of the council desires to do whatever can be done by him consistent with his official responsibility to aid in procuring the old postoffice for the use of your board.

Of course, there would probably be little difficulty in procuring the old postoffice building if money can be provided for its purchase and the members of council pledge themselves that if you will provide the money to pay for the building that the council will pass all necessary legislation to permit you to proceed to acquire the building, provided the credit of the city is in no way impaired.

The members of council do not make this offer of their official support simply for the purpose of ending the project or, as it might possibly and inelegantly be stated, "passing the buck" to your board. They have discussed every phase of the question and considered every possible means by which you might be enabled to raise the money you need and for your assistance they suggest to you some possible means that might be adopted and which have occurred to them as follows:

Suggest Plans.

First: The present library site cost $45,000 or $50,000 and was purchased entirely by the library board from the annual tax levies which were fixed by a vote of the people. The council believes that the library board can either sell that property for what it is worth in the market or mortgage it for a reasonable proportion of that market price and devote the proceeds of such sale or mortgage to a purchase of the postoffice building.

Second: There are accumulated back taxes assessed and levied for library purposes of a' ut $21,000. A large amount of this money will eventually be collected. It would be possible, if your board would by proper resolution devote those taxes to the purchase of a new building, for the city to provide for the issuance of certificates which would be a charge against those uncollected back taxes. If, therefore, you could get the local banks or some other financial institution to agree to take a reasonable amount of these certificates, that money could be made available for the purchase of the building.

Third: If the government would agree to sell you the building for a certain price, payable in yearly installments out of your tax income, the city would pass the necessary legislation to accomplish that purpose. It would be necessary, however, that such legislation provide absolutely that there would be no general obligation to the city for the payment of those installments but that the government should look only to the property for the payment of the money. This is because the Constitution does not permit the city to incur indebtedness in excess of its current revenues and the same thing would be true if the property were mortgaged to private individuals.

Fourth: If you can get some financial institution to agree to purchase the postoffice property for you and deed it to you, subject to a purchase price mortgage, payable in installments, the council will be glad to provide legislative authority for such action.

Other methods have been discussed but the ones I have cited appear to be the most feasible.

No City Building Project.

The members of council have requested me to communicate to you their decision in this matter as I have already stated it. They asked me to say to you further that they are unanimously of the opinion that although the present city building facilities are inadequate, they do not believe the city of New Castle can afford to buy or building a new city building at this time and it is their decided policy not to consider any such project. Some condition may arise that will change this judgment as, for instance, if some one would offer to purchase at a good price or to lease for a long term the present city building, but no such prospect is before us.

The members of council did, several years ago, pass a resolution by which they offered to purchase the old postoffice building for $50,000, payable in ten years, to be used as a city building, but conditions have changed since that time. We all believe that our first duty to the citizens is to reduce their debt and to avoid all expense that can possibly be avoided and for that reason we will not consider the purchase or building of a new city building and it would be folly for us to accept back from your board the use of your present library site, when we are of the opinion that the city cannot make any economical use of it.

We assure you that we will cooperate with you in every reasonable way to improve the services that you are so faithfully and efficiently rendering to the people of New Castle.

ROBERT WHITE,
City Solicitor.

Comfort Feature Of New Oldsmobile

Safety And Economy Feature Performance Of New Styles In Sixes And Eights

Offering many new comfort, safety, performance and economy features, the 1935 Oldsmobiles will be shown at the New Castle auto show this week by The Servicenter, "New Castle's only authorized Oldsmobile dealer".

The new Oldsmobile six and eight are built to conform to Oldsmobile's belief that the motorist is entitled to all that is new and better, according to C. L. McCuen, president and general manager of the Olds Motor Works.

Stressing the importance of safety, Oldsmobile introduces in both lines of cars what has been called by engineers the greatest contribution to motorists' safety in a decade, the solid steel "turret top" body by Fisher.

Built integral with the body unit is a roof constructed of one single sheet of seamless steel. This top not only provides added safety in itself, but lends great new strength and rigidity to the entire body, engineers say.

Paralleling the solid steel "turret top" body by Fisher in public approval is the streamline design of the new cars.

All of the advantaves of wind resistance reduction have been incorporated into the new cars and the beauty of symmetrical line retained.

Other new features listed in the announcement by Mr. McCuen include.

A complete system of sound-proofing of body, chassis and motor.

Longer wheelbase and roomier interiors.

Increased economy of operation by means of improved manifold and carburetion systems.

New Fords Reveal Many Improvements

Francis Motor Company Gives Some Details Of Cars Now Being Displayed

In addition to beautifying the lines of the car, the Ford Company has added many improvements to this year's model and vistors to the automobile show are promised an eyeful at the Ford display.

Entirely new brakes which provide more braking control, a new body enamel which gasoline and alcohol cannot damage, a new cast alloy iron cam shaft, cross steering, more spacious interiors, directed flow crankcase ventilation, these are just a few of the outstanding innovations in the new Ford.

Before the announcement of the new 1935 Ford. Mr. Ford set his 1935 sales schedule at one million cars or better, and devolopments since that statement was made indicate that he was not talking wildly.

The new Ford is worth your time at the automobile show. Bodies grille, hood, fenders and running boards have been newly designed using flowing curves to carry out the motif. This has been made possible by moving the body forward more than eight inches. The body is wider and set lower. All together the 1935 Ford is a trim, speedy looking job.

The Ford exhibit is in charge of William A. Francis, local dealer and his staff.

The character of the shoes worn by a woman often gauges her efficiency.

LOUISIANA FUR CROP DECLINES

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Louisiana's fur crop, the country's most important source of raw furs, will be 75 per cent short of its $6,000,000 normal, it is estimated by Armand P. Daspit, director of fur and wild life of the state department of conservation.

Shortage of the fur crop was attributed by Daspit to the drouths of recent years and to salt tides that destroyed thousands of young animals. Much of the coastal marsh land, the breeding ground of the state's supply of muskrats, was under salt water for several weeks last year.

The trapping season this year closed February 20, and officers of the department of conservation have received orders to be exceedingly strict in the enforcement of the game laws. Even small infractions of the game laws after the official closing would have lasting harmful effect on the fur crop of the state, it was said.

NARROW ESCAPE

BOSTON—Peter Farina, 30, fell into the subway. He lay across the wood-encased electrically charged third rail while a train roared past, unhurt.

HERE is a new low-priced car, the first to combine the efficiency of modern air-line design with true dignity and beauty.

However, despite its price, not everyone can own this Hupmobile. The care and skill that go into its construction forbid haste, and limit the number that can be built.*

It has always been Hupp's policy to pioneer principles . . . and let others sponsor fads and fancies. That explains why so often, when Hupp announces a new car, it proves to be a sensation.

May we suggest, if you are to be the "one" of the "one in a thousand," that you lose no time in telephoning us for a demonstration.

*The maximum production for 1935 of this Hupmobile is 25,000. Statistics show 25,000,000 persons can easily afford this car. That means that only one in a thousand will be fortunate enough to own it.

ONLY ONE IN A THOUSAND will be privileged to own this car

Second Jury Acquits Insull

Jury Deliberates For Two Hours And 45 Minutes On Finding

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Mar. 12.—For the second time in four months Samuel Insull today stood acquitted of criminal charges growing out of the collapse of his vast utilities empire.

After two hour and 45 minutes of heated deliberation a jury found the aged Insull not guilty of embezzlement.

Insull was charged with embezzling $66,000 from the Middle West Utilities company of which he was chairman, to bolster the private brokerage accounts of his brother, Martin, late in 1931 when the Insull structure began to crumble. Martin Insull was then president of Middle West, giant holding company.

The white-haired defendant, jubilant at the decision which was generally hailed as the end of the Insull prosecutions, smiled broadly and exclaimed:

"I am delighted with the verdict."

Deputy Collector McCandless Reminds That Friday Is Deadline

Because citizens here find it impossible to consult with Paul B. McCandless, deputy collector of internal revenue with offices in the new Federal building, is no excuse for not filing their income tax returns for the past pear on or before the deadline date, Friday, March 15.

McCandless made that plain today. He made it emphatically known that Uncle Sam accepts no such excuses.

"Returns are due by midnight of March 15," the deputy collector said. "If residents cannot see me because I'm busy with others they can call upon a notary or others for advice."

Into the two Federal building rooms a steady stream of callers flowed today and neither McCandless nor Walter H. Patterson, income tax field man, found any time to spare.

On Thursday, March 14, the office will remain open until 9 p. m. and on Friday until the midnight hour. The hours of 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. will be observed tomorrow.

Deputy Collector McCandless called attention to the new quarters of the income tax bureau here, declaring the new rooms "ample to handle crowds we're now getting."

Aerodynamic Models Shown By Hupmobile

Is Lowest Priced Car In Fully Streamlined Design On Market This Year

Hupmobile offers for 1935 three aerodynamic models—Series 518, lowest priced car of fully streamlined design; Series 521, and the eight-cylinder Series 527. All three cars follow the striking aerodynamic design introduced by this manufacturer a year ago, although the design has been even further developed over its original form.

The price of the new four-door Series 518 sedan is $795 as a standard model, and $835 for the deluxe type with a number of added features and appointments. The Series 521 sedan, Victoria and coupe, all list at $1095 as standard with an extra charge of $75 for deluxe equipment. The same three body types of the Series 527 sell at $1395 list, and the deluxe equipment charge in this case is $50 extra.

Commenting on Hupmobile's adoption of aerodynamic design in all models, Elrick Scarazzo of the State Auto Sales Co., local Hupp dealer, declared:

"The past year has brought a remarkable transformation in the appearance and efficiency of transportation...whether it be railroads, airplanes, boats or motor cars. Every form of transportation has adopted streamlining to obtain its greater benefits in appearance, performance, comfort, roominess and economy.

"As an indication of the superior value embodied in the 1935 Hupmobile line, the same six-cylinder engine, with minor changes, powers the lowest priced Hupmobile that is used in the Series 521."

101 RABBIS NEEDED TO WIN DIVORCE

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST.—One hundred and one rabbis had to dissolve the marriage of Bernard Sperlinger, who wanted his divorce to be valid according to the religion of his forefathers.

Jewish law decrees that no marriage can be broken unless both parties give their consent. As Sperlinger's wife was suffering from an incurable mental disease, she could not comply with this regulation.

Sperlinger appealed to the council of rabbis and after long, Talmudic debates they agreed to separate him from his first wife, provided 101 rabbis endorsed the divorce.

After considerable expense, correspondence and learned arguments, 101 rabbis have at last approved Sperlinger's freedom.

TWENTY FEET AT PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—Floods threatened Monongahela river towns today when heavy rains, general throughout the southwestern section of Pennsylvania, swelled the river and forced suspension of navigation.

A fifteen-foot rise in the river was reported at Lock No. 7 near Brownsville. When water reached 24½ feet at lock No. 4 at 10 A. M. Navigation was suspended.

Merchants at Belle Vernon, fearful of the threatened flood, prepared to move merchandise from cellars.

At Pittsburgh a high water mark of 20 feet was reported where the flood stage is 25 feet. A steady increase was noticeable.

Points along the Allegheny river reported increase but the rainfall in those sections was not sufficient to create flood fears.

Dionne Neighbor One Lb. At Birth 'Sweet 16' Now

By GRACE TROY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NORTH BAY, Ont. — Twenty-month old Margaret Montanaro, who weighed a pound and a half at birth and was reared in an oven, put in her bid today to compete for notice with the Dionne quintuplets, who live only 10 miles away.

Today Margaret weighs 16 pounds. When she was born April 29, 1933, she was only half the size of the smallest of the Dionne quintuplets when they arrived.

Margaret survived without the mechanical aids of modern medicine such as the Dionne sisters had. She had no incubator. Instead, she was placed in the oven of the family cook stove, where she spent three months under the watchful eye of Dr. M. S. Butler he said:

"When Margaret was born she looked just like a little partridge before it gets it's feathers. She wasn't even a handful. I had no hope whatever for the child."

As soon as she was born, Margaret was wrapped in cotton and placed in a basket in the oven. For a week she was fed from an eye-dropper. After that she took a bottle. Now she sits at a table, loves macaroni and begs for cake.

McKechnie Thinks Ruth Will Help To Make Braves Hustle

Boston Braves Have Lacked Hitters; Discounts Ruth As Manager

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 12.—In spite of a series of denials, affirmations, confirmations and behind-the-hand sniggers, Babe Ruth is not going to manage the Boston Braves for 1936, said the manager of the Boston Braves for 1935 today, Mr. Bill McKechnie.

The latter was discussing his present ball club at the time but didn't hesitate to make the switch when the Ruth topic arose.

"It isn't my understanding that Ruth is to take charge next year," he answered instantly. "I don't think it is Ruth's understanding, either. I'm glad to have him with me, because he might make the difference between a fourth place club and the pennant.

"What he will do for me this year, nobody knows. As for next year, you can say that I'm already making my plans for that season as the field head of the club."

Count On Ruth.

That being indubitably that, what did he count on from Ruth in 1936?

"Nothing," said Mr. McKechnie, promptly. "I'm not even counting on anything this year. I'm hoping. If he can drive in as many as a hundred runs for us, or even a few less, we're made. Wally Berger has been our only hitter who can do that. The rest aren't even close.

"Our hitting isn't as bad as most people suppose. But they're the kind that have to get three hits to score one run. Ruth can alter all that and I sincerely hope he does.'

This, by the way, is the entire story of the 1935 Boston club of the National league...with one exception. The exception is Pitcher Ben Cantwell, who won 20 games two years ago and only five last year. His arm went bad until late in 1934 when he came back and won his five at the close of the year. The 15-game difference could have meant the pennant—on the "if" sheets, those imperishable documents concocted by hopeful gentlemen who usually spend most of their time on park benches.

Good Hurling Staff.

Otherwise, it is strictly an unchanged outfit and, except for the hope of Ruth, would figure to fall into the second division this time on sheer inertia.

It isn't a club that can buy ball players, so it has done the next best thing. It has compromised and kept those it had. The pitchers—Frankhouse, Brandt, Betts, Cantwell, Brown, Mangum, Rhem and Smith—are well worth keeping. They previously have been the only thing that stopped the Braves from finishing a strong 15th.

Almost 23,000 spectators contributed a gross of $37,103 to witness the crowning of the Chicago Golden Gloves champions last Friday night. It was a tough evening for the defending champions with a single one of them surviving. Al Nettlow, featherweight, and Otis Thomas heavyweight, were beaten in the semi-finals, and Jess Levels, flyweight and Troy Bellini, bantamweight, went down to the finals. Mike Gamiere Cleveland lightweight who is considered by many to be the most promising fighter in the tournament chalked up an envious K. O. record for the tourney. The Johnny Brown-Troy Bellini bout drew the greatest ovation of any fight on the program....The spring training trip of the Pittsburgh Pirates will cost approximately $28,000.

It is estimated that the lighting plant for the ball field of the Cincinnati Reds will exceed $40,000....The average weight for the men in the National hockey league is 165 pounds....Johnny Sisk, former Marquette university all around athlete and now a member of the Chicago Bears football team is a brother of Dick Sisk, the boxer, and acts as the pugilist's manager....the baseball regulars of the Santa Clara nine this year will be such well known football players as Bomber Sobrero, the team's leading hitter: Bill Dutton, third base: Dick Bassi, catcher: Patches Thomas, second, Salty Salatino, center field, and flash Falaschi, pitcher....Five stars of the Penn State college soccer team, undefeated in 1934, were chosen on an all-Eastern selection.

Here's one on Max Baer, the king of the heavies who also ranks near the top in dishing out wise cracks. It seems that Aaron Rosenberg, the great Southern California lineman, was being introduced to Max and Baer, decided to put the gridder in his place. Says Max: "How do you do? Let me see, I think I've heard of you Aren't you a polo player?" The All-American football star doesn't bling an eye and comes right back: "No, I'm a swimmer. By the way, you look like a athlete yourself, what do you do?"....Four American league catchers batted .300 or better in 1934. Bill Dickey hit for .322: Mickey Cochrane .321: Glenn Myatt, .315 and Rollie Hemsley, .308....Hook Eckman, star forward of the Santa Clara basketball team, missed only 12 out of 53 free throws this season.

The only university to win four Big Ten tracks meets in a row was Michigan, which did it in 1901, 1902, 1903, and 1904....In 1934 Ralph Aquino, Newark lightweight, was awarded a technical knockout over Mickey Paul when the latter, stopping in the midst of a furious eight round barrage, said "Good night" and left the ring....The best forwards in basketball are not necessarily the highest scorers," declares Coach William S. Chandler of the Marquette university basketball team. "Give me the boy" he says, "who is a good team player, who has coordination and finnesse, who can diagnose situations and can feed the ball and I'll be satisfied." Tom Ottey, intercollegiate track star of Michigan State, says he has competed in 70 or 80 six mile races.

ATHLETES REPORTED TO BE BEST DANCERS

(International News Service)

BOULDER, Colo.—Athletes are betters dancers than less active college men, according to Prof. Francis Wolle of the University of Colorado.

Professor Wolle in addition to coaching the university's cross-country team, directs campus plays and musical shows.

"When I selected a cast of male dancers for a musical comedy recently I found the best stage prospects were athletes," he said.

Max Schmeling Puts New Life In Fight Game

Beating Handed To Steve Hamas Will Indirectly Mean Million Dollars

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—That was a million dollar beating Max Schmeling handed Steve Hamas.

Here, according to Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker of Madison Square Garden, is what the German's sweeping right hand accomplished:

It belted Hamas out of the heavyweight picture for all time.

It injected new life into the moribund fight racket.

It assured a series of great heavyweight fights this summer.

It put Max himself back on the road to the heavyweight throne.

It assured a worthy contender for Max Baer's laurels.

And it started a million dollars rolling into the Garden coffers.

Not bad, you'll admit, for one right hand.

The Garden has every heavyweight contender sewed up. It holds Baer's contract for the next defense of his title and has Schmeling under option until 1937.

Elimination Tourney.

The heavyweight program, starting this week, calls for the following fights:

(A)—Carnera vs. Impellittiere.
(B)—Lasky vs. Braddock.
(C)—Winner of fights (A) and (B).
(D)—Winner of (C) vs. Schmeling
(E)—Winner of D) vs. Baer.

If the first two fights are floperoos the boys in them will automatically have eliminated themselves, and Schmeling will get the title shot without further ado.

Baer-Schmeling Bout Is Planned

Baer's Manager Says "That Schmeling Has Earned Right To Meet Maxie Baer"

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 12.—Max Baer and Ancil Hoffman, his manager, visioned another world boxing title bout today with Max Schmeling, dethroned German heavyweight champ.

Hoffman said he was informed that Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's pilot, had reported the New York bout was "absolutely set."

Belief also was expressed by Hoffman and Baer that disputes with the New York commission involving judges and referees for a second bout with the German will be adjusted. Madison Square Garden already has contracted Baer's services in a title defense, with specification for a "suitable opponent." The German's knockout of Steve Hamas earned him a return bout, Hoffman believes.

Stock Market Is Steadier

Better Performance In Wheat And Cotton Causes Steadier Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—The stock market steadied today after yesterday's break, aided by a better performance in wheat and cotton.

The undertone was unsettled, however, reflecting the nervousness in speculative circles following yesterday's crack in principal markets, and rallying power was limited.

The list contained a liberal number of fractional gains after some irregularity at the opening. Trading started off active but turned quiet by the middle of the first hour.

DuPont and American Can were slightly higher, while the equipments improved. U. S. Steel ruled around the previous close and seemed to find difficulty in penetrating the 30-level.

Motor shares were little better than steady, and farm equipment and mail order issues somewhat higher; American Telephone continued a firm spot in the utilities, while Consolidated Gas hovered around the previous close. Mining shares were firm, with nickel higher on its earnings rise last year. Foods were unsettled.

Ellwood City Hi To Close Floor Season Tonight

Return Game With Union Township High To Be Last For Locals

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 12.—Ellwood City high school cagers will close their floor season tonight with a return game at Union Township high school.

Although their record has somewhat been spotted the locals made an impressive finish in Section 3 of the W. P. I. A. L. and won all but one of their non-league games, and this they have avenged. They had things much their own way here with Union Township, but are overlooking no bets when they tackle the Boydmen on their home floor tonight. Union Township has always been a hard nut to crack on their own court, and are especially anxious to get another crack at the Benedictmen.

Since the Tubers are desirous of closing their season with a victory they will use every play and attack in their repertoire. This will be the final game for that stellar forward combination of Alex Robuck and Bill Cole, who have shared the captaincy this season and will be lost to the team by graduation. This pair would have received considerable attention had they been on a winning team. The former is one of the best floor men developed here and the latter has been a constant high scoring threat. Although on a losing team Cole was only beaten out by Maravich of Aliquippa, in the last game for scoring honors in Section 3. He has averaged 13 points a game.

The remainder of the team with all of the second string, reserves, and Marcus, who was ineligible the second semester due to studies, will be back next year.

The Reserves of both schools will play in the preliminary game at 7 p. m. The varsity game will immediately follow.

New Move Starts For World Peace

Europe Launched Anew On Pre-War Policy Of Peace Through Military Security

(International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 12.—With disarmament in the discard, Europe was launched anew today on the pre-war policy of peace through military security.

Little more than 12 hours after the House of Commons sanctioned the British government's plan to build up this nation's armed forces to a point commensurate with national security, France followed England's lead and decided to ask the Chamber of Deputies to approve an increase in the term of military service.

At the same time, the cloak of secrecy thinly masking revival of Germany's military air force in contravention of the Versailles treaty was dropped, with airmen appearing armed and in uniform on the streets and bombing planes roaring overhead.
